Basement Excavation At Church Is Completed

Work on improvements to the 100-year-old St. Benedict's Catholic Church continues to progress. The basement excavation is almost complete. The new concrete floor is finished except for the top coat, and a new retaining wall around the outside of the building is nearly completed.

Also included in the project will be installation of new heating and lighting systems.

The church was closed early in the summer when architects found that the joists and beams supporting the floor of the large structure were rotted. The supports were so badly deteriorated that there was danger of the floor caving in.

In the meantime, services are being held in a temporary chapel at St. Benedict's Parochial School. Rev. Father Flavian Yelinko, O. S. B., pastor, is personally directing the repair work.

Mr. Adrian A. Buck, of Bakerton, has purchased the residence property of Albert Feighner on St. Mary's Street. Mr. Buck plans to remodel the property.

The bazaar and supper held on the Parochial School premises last Sunday afternoon and evening for the benefit of St. Benedict's Church, proved both a social and financial success.

The Parochial School football team will play their first game with the Nicktown Catholics next Sunday afternoon at the Carrolltown High School Stadium. The game will start at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Valine of Altoona, were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Thomas.

Miss Rosella Himmel and James Campbell, both of this place, were united in marriage last Saturday morning at a nuptial high mass in St. Joseph's Church, Hart's Sleeping Plant, by Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Wm. Zadal and daughter, of Norfolk, Va., spent several days the past week at the home of the lady's parents Mr. and Mrs. Gregory E. Buck. Sgt. Zadal serves with the U. S. Marines.

Misses Lorraine and Mary Gray left last week for Chicago, Ill., where they have secured employment. The young ladies are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gray.

Siphoning of gasoline from parked cars has been reported by local citizens. Needless to say, prosecutions will be made if the culprits are discovered.

The store room and work shop, large and commodious, of the Bender Electric Co., at the south end of Main Street, is now under roof and nearing completion, and will afford this firm much needed expansion space.

Rev. Father Valerian, O. S. B., formerly assistant pastor at St. Benedict's Catholic Church here, now located at Salsburg, Pa., was visiting with local friends on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Stevens and daughter, of Youngstown, Ohio, who had been visiting with local relatives for a number of days, returned to their home on Monday.

Another Carrolltown street was blacktopped during the past week—that leading from the Ed Strittmatter home opposite the cemetery to the rear of the Carrolltown High School Stadium. Carrolltown Council has improved a number of largely traveled thoroughfares during the past summer.

The new store room of the Mohler Implement and Feed Store on North Main Street, is nearing completion. Second story of the structure will be utilized as apartments.

Clem A. Farabaugh has broken ground for an addition to his Jewelry Store adjacent to the First National Bank Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim McCracken of Mahaffey, were Sunday guests of the lady's mother, Mrs. Rose Arble.

Mrs. Alma Byrne Strub and daughter, Marie, of Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Schindhammer and son, Fred of Duncansville, were Sunday visitors at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Blum and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Farabaugh. Mrs. Strub is a former local resident.

with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hunt. Charles and Miss Mary Kane, of Altoona, visited their mother, Mrs. Frances Kane here over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Stoltz were visitors for several days in Akron, with Mrs. Stoltz's brothers, Thomas and Joseph Wharton. Mr. and Mrs. George Semelberger of Hastings, visited at the Bearer Hotel on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Yeckley have moved to a residence on the St. Benedict and Spangler road in West Carroll Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Thomas and son, of Chambersburg, visited over the week end with the lady's mother, Mrs. Rose Bearer and other relatives here.

Sister Anna Augusta of the Mercy Order, of Altoona, spent the week end at the home of her brother, Edgar Schroth, and aunt, Mrs. Theodore Vogel, at the Lawrence Inn. Mrs. Vogel has been quite ill for some time.

Mrs. Dominic Kozlowski of Carrolltown, Mrs. Ben Kozlowski and son, Stanley, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Charles Kass of Bakerton, motored to Sayreville on Monday, where they visited relatives.

A. J. Lantzy, son, Mark, and M. D. Connell spent several days this week fishing in the vicinity of Kane, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwanger of Detroit, Mich., are visiting for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Kelly.

Miss Mary Schlatzer is visiting in Detroit, Mich., for two weeks with Mrs. Ella Elivanger.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Bagley, of Northeast, Pa., are guests of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Meekins, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Meekins and family, of Akron, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Ridgway, recently visited at the E. O. Meekins home.

Mr. and Mrs. Connors of Harrisburg are visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Ray E. Stolz.

Smoking in Mines Carries Stiff Fine Pennsylvania miners who work in gaseous atmosphere and persist in smoking on the job face heavy penalties under an 1891 law which prohibits carrying matches, tobacco pipes, lighters or anything that may remotely cause an explosion in gaseous mines.

State Mine Secretary Richard Maize says he intends to see to it that this law is strictly enforced, commenting: "You can't imagine what some miners will do to deliberately violate a law."

He cited the recent sentencing of a Luzerne Co. miner who was fined $50 and sent to jail for three months upon being convicted of carrying eight matches and eight cigarettes in his lunch. They were wrapped in wax paper, inserted between two slices of bread, which was again wrapped in waxed paper.

However, Maize stated that "seldom do we have a case reported in the bituminous region of Western Pennsylvania."

Cresson Sanatorium Plans Open House Pennsylvania Week

Free Chest X-Rays To Be Had for Asking

Cresson Sanatorium also is planning observance of Pennsylvania Week with a number of special events.

Free chest X-ray will be given each day between Sunday, Sept. 26, and Saturday, Oct. 2, to any visitor who so desires. Times will be between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Chest X-ray films and handwork of patients also will be exhibited and guides will be available to conduct visitors through the institution.

Visitors are invited to attend a special band concert to be presented on the sanatorium lawn this coming Sunday afternoon by the 28th Infantry Division Band. They also are invited to participate in a special program Thursday evening, Sept. 30, at which Dr. Walter Davis, director of special education in the Johnstown schools, will be speaker. Children of the Sanatorium School also will take part, as will the Chad Tate Orchestra of Gallitzin, featuring six-year-old Peggy Lou Salvan as vocalist. At the end of the program, J. F. McDermitt, Altoona magician and entertainer, will present a variety show.

Donated by Andy Carnegie Cresson Sanatorium is located on the Cresson Ridge of the Alleghenies, approximately 2,600 feet above sea level. The land on which it stands was purchased by steel magnate Andrew Carnegie with the intention of building there a summer home for his mother. His mother's death before this plan could be carried out led him to turn the land over to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to be used for a tuberculosis sanatorium. For this, Mr. Carnegie was to receive, a consideration of $1,000.

The mountain top now proudly bears, not the luxurious home of one family, but a citadel of health for the people of Pennsylvania.

The first patients were admitted in Dec., 1912. In the years since, over 30,000 patients have received treatment. The percentage of recovery has been high, especially in the cases of those who were admitted while the disease was in its early stages. Many patients here are now leading normal, happy lives, some in the homes they left to come to the sanatorium, others as employees of the sanatorium, where they are a source of hope and encouragement to those who are making the fight for health.

The sanatorium and its staff, headed by the medical director, has kept pace with the advances that have been made in the diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis.

iosis. All the latest and best methods of treatment are available to Cresson Sanatorium patients. Children who have been exposed to tuberculosis are cared for in a building erected especially for them, known as "Children's House." While receiving the same education they would get in a public school, they build a solid foundation of health, developing resistance not only to tuberculosis but to all disease.

How Long Is Life? Mammal? Insect?

A tortoise from the Galapagos Islands lived for one hundred and seventy-five years.

The longest human lives have lasted to between 109 and 112 years.

The queen ant may live for fifteen years; the male ant dies after a few weeks.

The length of life of mammals is, in general, longer in the larger species than in the smaller.

Among domestic animals, horses have lived for forty years, cattle for something over thirty years and sheep for twenty years.

Few domestic animals die of old age. Oliver Wendell Holmes gave good advice when he urged parents to select long-lived parents and particularly long-lived mothers.

He knew the genetic or hereditary influence in determining long life in humans. With the conquest of most of the infectious diseases which are enemies of youth and middle-age, more people are surviving longer. The mere living of many years is not always good living.

It suits the average man better to live spiritedly and with active interest than to live like the Galapagos turtle—at a slow rate of living. The oldest living things on earth.

th are the California Sequoia trees, reputed to be over 4,000 years old. In comparison, man's life is "one glorious hour."

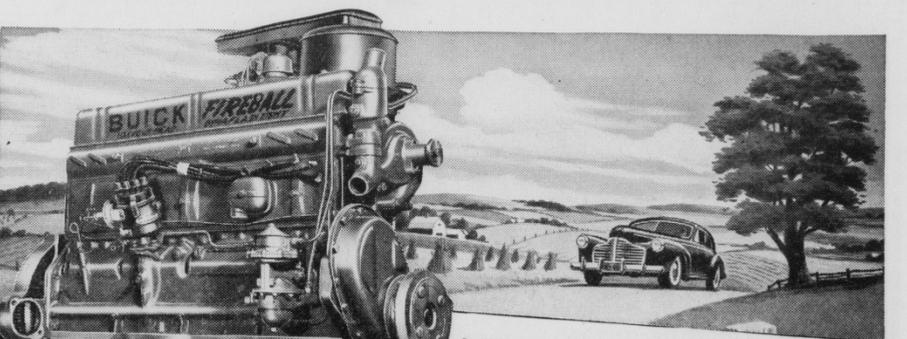

A deposit of salt in Wieliczka, Poland, is said to be the largest in the world. The bed of salt rock is 500 miles long, 20 miles wide and 1,200 feet thick.
