Pennsylvania Week

Pennsylvania Week is taking hold of the spirit of the Patton community through the constant promotion of the Chamber of Commerce and of various citizens, the businessmen and organizations it promises to become a week of interesting and educational accomplishment.

No community can be progressive if its business people are imbued with petty jealousies, and if its citizens are not united. Patton folks have had the happy faculty of being in harmony in all matters that affect the advancement of the community.

This unselfish community spirit has, in the past, proved itself many number of times. Especially in matter of securing the Phillips-Jones plant here some time ago did it reach its height of harmony.

Hence, next week, Patton can justly and proudly take its humble part in the observance of Pennsylvania Week, and can make of it a real "Patton Week" as well.

Patton is a good town in which to live. Patton is a good town for industry. Perhaps one of our greatest assets in this direction is our excellent water supply, filtered and pure, with all the watershed of Chest Creek to keep it in continuous supply.

Next week the Patton community will enter wholeheartedly into the Pennsylvania Week observance. We will do it proudly. While our displays and our programs will not be in the greater degrees of those of larger communities, our effort, to us, will be just as satisfactory.
