

Cambria Co. Jail Escapee Claims Illegal Sentence

Leo G. Keith of Barnesboro is seeking his release from the Western Penitentiary on the grounds that he was illegally sentenced by the Cambria County Court.

Serving as his own counsel, Keith has prepared a seven-page petition in which he requests that the court issue a writ of habeas corpus for his release. He claims that he was denied due process of law when he pleaded guilty before Judge John H. McCann to two charges—forging checks and prison breach. The judge sentenced him to serve from one to two years in the penitentiary on the latter charge.

Keith asserts, among other things, that he "was not represented by counsel, no counsel was offered and was unable to hire counsel." His petition apparently is based on a recent Supreme Court decision through which a Pittsburgh man was released from jail because he was not represented by counsel when he pleaded guilty. The Supreme Court concluded that "the opportunity to have counsel . . . was a necessary element of a fair hearing."

David C. Wolfe, first assistant district attorney, said Keith's petition will be opposed. He said Keith was at no time deprived of the right to hire an attorney. State police and county detectives arrested Keith last September in Cincinnati. He was wanted for passing forged checks in this county. A few weeks later Keith was named as one of four prisoners who made an unsuccessful attempt to break out of the Cambria County Jail.

59 Elected to Pick Students to Attend Indiantown Camp

Appointments were announced on Monday of this week for the committee which will select 59 Cambria County boys to attend the state-sponsored summer camp at Indiantown Gap in July. The selection committee personnel was announced by Dr. Arthur M. Stull, county superintendent of schools, who will serve as one of its members. Among the other six committeemen are two district school superintendents and representatives of the Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Negro groups. They are: Dr. Roy W. Wiley, superintendent of Johnstown Public Schools; Thomas W. Davis, superintendent of Nanty Glo Public Schools; Rev. Hurlough J. Nolan, pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Portage; Rev. O. E. Washburn, pastor of the Barnesboro Presbyterian Church; Rabbi H. Goren Parolmuter, spiritual leader of Beth Zion Temple, and Percy E. Johnson, an alderman in the 4th Ward in Johnstown.

The state's summer camp for boys was established in recent action of the General Assembly. It will be located at Indiantown Gap and will be known as Camp Penn. Students in the 14-to-17-year age group are eligible and may make application through officials of their respective schools. School leaders will forward names of applicants to the county committee for final approval. Fifty-nine boys is Cambria County's quota of the total of 2,500 boys who will be selected.

The camp is being sponsored by the state for the benefit of boys who would not otherwise have an opportunity to participate in organized camping under qualified leadership. Several state departments will cooperate in the directing of the camp.

Chevrolet Survey Discloses Facts On Used Car Market

Lower original cost is persuading a substantial number of car purchasers to buy used automobiles rather than current models, according to a survey announced this week.

Results of the survey were reported in this area jointly by C. J. Fisher of Patton Auto Co. and W. G. Thomas of Main Street Garage, Carrolltown, who state the study was carried out by the Pittsburgh Zone Chevrolet Dealers in cities, towns and rural areas throughout Western Pennsylvania and parts of Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland. In the survey, individual interviews were conducted among men and women car owners, as well as non car owners. Owners of both used and new models were interviewed. While a preference was expressed in favor of buying 1949 models, almost two out of three persons said they could be sold used cars if they had complete faith in the dealer selling the cars. Other influencing factors (in order of importance) were: the condition of the motor and body; appearance of the car; knowledge of the original owner, and price.

It was also indicated that people are becoming increasingly aware that comparative low price of used cars has resulted in a spread between new and used car prices which makes today's used car the best auto bargain since pre-war days. The survey also showed there will be more used cars of recent models available since 73 percent of the car owners stated they plan to buy at least one new car every two years.

Cresson Girl Gets Scholarship Honor

Miss Therese Ryan of Cresson, a member of the 1949 graduating class of St. Francis College, has been awarded a fellowship in the department of biological sciences at the University of Delaware.

Miss Ryan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ryan of 167 Keystone Ave., Cresson. She will be the fifth girl to graduate from the local college since education was instituted during the war years. As a transfer student from Seton Hill College, she majored in St. Francis in biology and minor- ed in German. The Cresson young woman has been active in the dramatics, press and German club and has held a part-time job as secretary in the athletic department and worked as a laboratory assistant in the biology department. She has been notified that she has been elected a member of Delta Epsilon Sigma Fraternity, national Catholic honorary organization.

Crowns May Queen

Alice Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett of Mars-teller was crowned May Queen of Barnesboro High School last Sunday night at the Barnesboro stadium. She is a junior student, secretary of her class and a member of the band.

Miss Bennett was crowned by the senior queen, Helen Hrubochak. Her attendants were Ruth Grant, Dorothy Lake, Louise Klimek and Ethel Salley. Attending Miss Hrubochak were Ruth Anderson and Sally McCormick.

Music on the program was presented by members of the school band under the direction of Robert Gobrecht, music supervisor. Janet Trefero sang a solo, "For You." The school physical education class put on an exhibition of posture exercises, mock football, tumbling and wrestling.

Indecent Exposure Very Dependent On Circumstances, Rules Co. Judge

The mere fact of being without clothes doesn't necessarily constitute a crime of indecent exposure. It depends on the circumstances.

At least that was the opinion of the Cambria Co. Court on Monday of this week when three judges agreed to suspend sentence in two cases. One involved a young soldier who was arrested for being out of uniform—meaning completely. The other case was based on magazine photos of woman likewise undressed.

The soldier was arrested on the complaint of a young girl. He had been seen cavorting in his birthday suit along the banks of the Clearfield Creek near Fallentimber.

The young man explained that after a swim he had been washing sand from his bathing trunks when a playful companion grabbed the trunks and threw them into a tree. He was unclad only as long as it took him to climb the tree and recover the trunks he said.

Judges John H. McCann, Ivan McKenrick and George W. Griffith were on the bench. They accepted the explanation and directed the defendant, James E.

Myers of Altoona, to pay the costs of prosecution.

In a short while the judges were going through a magazine submitted as exhibit No. 1 in the case against James B. McCordell of Cresson. McCordell was charged with the sale and distribution of obscene and lewd literature.

The book contained unclad women in various poses and was advertised as a health magazine. Judge McCann commented that the pictures were "objectionable in a sense," but added that he'd seen "worse things" sculptured on the capitol in Harrisburg.

"I am absolutely and bitterly opposed to lascivious literature," McCann said, "but this is not what is considered under the law to be lascivious or lewd." "Some of our nationally-circulated magazines have the same thing in them," he said. Sentence was suspended and McCordell was directed to pay costs.

Customers' Corner

Millions of women come to our stores every day to save money on their family food budgets.

But we are just as proud of the fine quality of our food as we are of our thrifty prices. For price without quality means nothing. It is the combination of low prices and high quality that builds A&P's great values.

That is why we have been able for many years to give our customers this guarantee: "If for any reason anything you purchase is not satisfactory, return it and your money will be cheerfully refunded."

Your advice and suggestions can help us maintain our high quality standards. You will be doing us a favor if you will let us know should the quality of the food you buy at A&P ever fail to satisfy you.

And let us know, too, if you have any suggestions as to how we can make your A&P store a better place to shop. Please write:
