

Nearly All Exhibition Space Taken for Cambria Co. Fair

Horse Races Scheduled For Four Afternoons

Exhibits of industrial and commercial products at the Cambria County Fair, which opens at the Ebensburg Fairgrounds, Labor Day, Sept. 5 and continues throughout the week, will far exceed those of past fairs, John P. Bloom, in charge of space declares.

"Practically all the space in the three exhibition buildings has been taken, Mr. Bloom said. "There is no doubt that when the fair opens that all spaces will have been filled. There will be a myriad of products at this year's fair, ranging from the giant steel products of Johnstown Works, Bethlehem Steel Company down to the smallest of items."

"The exhibits of industrial and commercial products at the fair have in the past been a great source of interest to thousands of fair visitors. They have served to give fair visitors an idea of the industrial and commercial light of Cambria and nearby counties."

starter of Washington, Pa., will serve in a similar capacity this year.

Feature attraction in the arena every night will be Frank Wirth's "Swing out the News," a musical comedy production which critics have hailed as the best ever produced by Mr. Wirth. The latter has won an enviable reputation for staging high class productions at the Cambria County Fair. The show is made up of variety of attractions, some of which have appealed to fairgoers at past events.

Many acts of the show will also be seen every afternoon in front of the grandstand in addition to the races and other attractions.

Nanty Glo Home Gutted By Flames

The James Harding home in Nanty Glo was gutted by flames early Tuesday morning of last week. The loss, estimated at $4,000, is partly covered by insurance.

Seven year old Jimmy Woodring, who lives near the Harding home, discovered the fire about 8:45 a. m. and notified his mother, who roused Mrs. Harding and her two young sons from sleep. The Harding family managed to leave the house just before the entire interior burst into flames. Mr. Harding had left earlier for work.

The fire apparently began from a gas stove in the kitchen of the three-room home. Because of the headway made by the flames, the firemen were able to salvage only the roof and walls. Furniture in the home was destroyed.
