

Child Experts Discuss Emotional And Physical Problems of Tots

Six is an awkward age and as painful to the child as it is exasperating to the parents.

There is a real physical and emotional basis for the personality change, according to Toni Taylor. Writing about this problem period in collaboration with Dr. Frances I. Illig, Child Vision Research Project, Yale Medical School, she points out that some of the trouble arises from the fact that the child is part boy and still part baby.

"In some ways six is as painful to the child as the crucial time later when he will change from boy to adolescent. At six, as at 12 or 13, he goes through important changes—both psychological and physical.

"The awkwardness you find so exasperating in your six-year-old has a real physical basis. While his need for activity is accelerated at this age his body may actually be less equipped for quick movements than it was a year ago. His coordination, for example, is not so good as it was because of changes taking place in his eyes.

"Quick growth taking place in his limbs makes him clumsier than a younger child when climbing a tree; he takes a sudden tumble; he falls off his bike just as he is winning a race. These unexpected mishaps make him furious with himself and enraged at adults or other children who are likely to laugh at him.

"One of the most disconcerting things about the six-year-old is the fact that he frequently seems to have forgotten or abandoned civilized behavior. He can't dress himself as well as he did a year before, and he acts like a pig. But there is a reason for this too; the child's fingers are unwieldy as they grow. Remember

Warn Housewives On Buying Reddish Wax-Coated Spuds

(By Pennsylvania News Service)

The lowly potato is having its face lifted.

The State Dept. of Agriculture says that some southern potato shippers have applied a red-colored wax and a preservative substance to early red-skinned varieties of potatoes some of which have been found in Pennsylvania markets.

While the wax color and preservatives are believed to be harmless in human consumption, department officials point to evidence of deception.

The department's examination and findings on a sample disclose that such treatment of potatoes is in violation of the Pennsylvania food laws.

In some cases they said the added color, which they believe is intended to make the product more attractive to the eye, tends

Barnesboro Plans Work On Reservoir

Barnesboro Council during the past week announced that a $10,000 repair program on the town's water reservoir is to begin soon. It also was announced that the State Dept. of Mines will seal up several abandoned mine operations in the area in order to provide more and better water.

A contract for repairs to the reservoir has been awarded to the Pressure Concrete Co. of New Jersey. The project will include general repairs to renovate the reservoir and plug the numerous leaks.

Parking meters in Barnesboro now are in effect from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. daily except on Sundays or holidays.

Sled dog teams used for delivering mail in Alaska often travel 60 miles a day.

$19,000 In Damages In Truck Collision

Two men were injured; three trucks were virtually destroyed and damage amounting to $19,000 resulted last Thursday morning in a crash on Route 22 about 1 1/2 miles east of Ebensburg.

Injured were Harry A. Saitta of Pittsburgh and Pleasant M. Plyler of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Saitta was driving a tractor-trailer rig and Plyler was operating a truck which was hauling another truck hitched in pickaback fashion. The Plyler truck, according to state police, apparently crossed the highway and crashed into the trailer-truck which was traveling in the opposite direction.

After striking the trailer, Plyler's two trucks continued along the edge of the road for about 120 feet before knocking down two guard posts and plunging down a 100-foot embankment. Damage to the tractor-trailer was estimated at $11,000; to the trucks, $8,000.
