Lieb's to Handle J. & L. Galvanized

Alfred Lieb of Lieb's Hardware, Carrolltown, returned from Altoona recently, where he attended a news and buying conference with his fellow stockholders of American Hardware Supply Co., Pittsburgh. Mr. Lieb had the following to say: "Polks in and around Carrolltown will soon be seeing a new line of quality galvanized ware in our store. This is the new J. & L. line, manufactured by Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. just being introduced by our own wholesale company. News of these new products was just announced. This new line, made by one of the oldest quality steel producers in the Nation, is outstanding in every respect as our customers will see when they compare it."

Mr. Lieb also said that discussion with his fellow retail hardware dealers and the executives of American Supply Company shows that generally there is no shortage of hardware items to be feared, no scarcities which should lead to panicky buying. As a matter of fact, says Mr. Lieb, the stocks of the wholesale company in which Lieb's Hardware is a part owner, are in exceedingly good shape to supply him with reasonable quantities of whatever merchandise he needs in the immediate months ahead.

PERCENTAGE COAL STRIPPED About 25 percent of the bituminous coal produced in this country is surface-mined, whereas only 6 percent is recovered this way in Britain, whose coal beds lie deep. Many a hot head develops cold feet when someone calls his bluff.
