Mahaffey Soldier Awarded Nation's Medal Of Honor

Pfc. Melvin L. Brown Stops Attack Himself

Pfc. Melvin L. Brown, 29, of Mahaffey, who single-handedly stopped an enemy attack in Korea, has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor.

However, the young GI has been missing in action since Sept. 4, the day he stood alone on a 50-foot wall at Kasaan, Korea, and beat back the enemy until his platoon regrouped and drove off the attacking Communists.

The Clearfield County man is the fifth, all in the Army, who won the nation's highest award in Korea. President Truman presented the medals to members of the soldiers' families Tuesday at a ceremony in the White House.

A joint statement signed by Brown's comrades who watched the one-man battle in the "walled city" said in part:

"Enemy superior in number started climbing the wall just as Pfc. Brown's last round of ammunition was expended and he was wounded by enemy fire.

"Realizing the vital necessity for holding, and without concern for his personal safety, though wounded, Pfc. Brown continued to throw his few remaining grenades into the enemy causing several casualties with each grenade."

When his supply of grenades ran out, Brown exposed himself to enemy fire to retrieve grenades thrown to him by his comrades. When these were exhausted, Brown used his small fox-hole shovel to knock 10 or 12 attackers from the wall "delivering each a skull-crushing blow across the top of the head."

Is Seriously Injured

Pfc. Brown was seriously injured during the action and has not been heard from since the attack," the statement said.

Brown's medal was presented to his father, Edward J. Brown, 72, a retired miner, while his mother and three sisters watched.

Brown has seven brothers and sisters and has been in the Army 2 1/2 years. He was reported missing two weeks after landing in Korea with the First Cavalry Division.

Inspect

Have your car inspected at an Official Inspection Station, to make certain that your car is safe for the hazardous winter driving yet to come. The new inspection period ends on January 31, 1951. Like all previous car inspections it has one purpose—the safety of you and your family. This is a proved fact. Safety statistics show that semiannual inspection has made Pennsylvania cars four and one-half times safer than the national average in preventing of accidents due to the mechanical failure of cars.

Detect

the "danger spots" in your car that may lead to serious traffic accidents. Twice a year, car inspection carefully checks the following:

- BRAKES—1. Steering clearance. 2. Linking and brake drum. 3. Brakes and brake shoes. 4. Link and cylinder. 5. Brakes and drive pins.
- STEERING AND WHEELS—1. Front and wheel alignment, spring, tie rods and pins. 2. Steering wheel for excessive play. 3. Brake drum. 4. Crown wheel. 5. Steering column. 6. Flange. 7. Alignment of front axle and shock absorbers.
- LIGHTS—1. Headlights for beam and proper distribution of light. 2. Tail and stop lamps. 3. Horn, mirror, reflectors. 4. Directional signals, clearance and side marker lights. 5. All lighting equipment on car must work.
- WINDSHIELD WIPERS—1. Head or armature for efficiency. 2. All rubber parts, including hose and fastenings.
- TIRES—1. For exposed cord fabric. 2. For cuts and bruises. 3. For repaired casing.
- GLASS—1. Windshield, side windows and rear window glass for cracks or breaks. 2. For discoloration.
- MIRROR—1. For proper mounting and clear vision. For cleanliness.
- HORN—1. Pushhorn button. Horn must be audible for at least 200 feet.
- EXHAUST MUFFLER AND PIPES—1. Muffler, manifold and pipe for leaks or loose connections.
- REGISTRATION—1. Serial and registration plate numbers against owner's card. 2. Unobstructed view of license plate.

Correct

the faults, if any, that car inspection detects. Get your "inspected and approved" sticker. Know that your car is mechanically safe. You will not be permitted to drive—without this sticker—after January 31, 1951.
