New Ruling Made On Fabric Labels

Rayon, Acetate Must Be Plainly Marked

A new federal trade commission ruling will make it easier for Pennsylvania homemakers to decide between rayon and acetate fabrics.

"This new ruling will help women select the correct fabric for various purposes," says Lavonia Hilbert, Penn State clothing extension specialist.

"The new ruling clarifies the distinction between rayon and cellulose acetate and also requires tags on the products giving suggestions for care and handling. As a result of this ruling, all rayon and acetate fabrics must be labeled as to content," according to Miss Hilbert.

"Rayons are more like cottons in shrinkage, wrinkling and soiling tendencies. Rayons have a high moisture absorbency and are slow drying. Cellulose acetate fibers are more like nylon. Acetate fibers have a low moisture absorption, are fast drying and sensitive to a hot iron. They are highly resistant to soil."

Both fabrics are alike in being mothproof and are only slightly affected by perspiration, Miss Hilbert explains.

Frank Wirth Circus At War Memorial Middle Next Month

Expect Indoor Event Will Draw Top Crowd

Remember away back in the old days when you were a little shaver and the first sign of spring was the billboard plastering the barn with brightly colored posters telling you the circus was coming to town?

And the day that big day—the circus came to town—you would be up at the crack of dawn, streak down to the show grounds and try to get a job carrying water for the elephants to Johnstonown again, and you will not be able to get a job carrying water for the elephants—nor will you be able to sneak in under the tent. In this case the circus is the Frank Wirth Circus, and it won't be held in a tent. It will be held in Cambria County War Memorial Arena during the week of April 14 to 19. It's a repeat performance of the show which thrilled over 20,000 area residents last season. The famous circus producer, Frank Wirth, has come up with some new acts to make this season's show one of the great ones of the Hippocromatic stage that ever has been brought together in one program.

It's whipped together in a fast-moving kaleidoscopic entertainment that packs a thrill minute into every act. The show is made up of all parts of the globe. Intrepid aerialists, who will thrill you with their sensational stunts high up in the air; daring acrobats whose risky acrobatics is something to wonder at; performing animals that present the utmost in animal sagacity; astounding gymnasts whose flights through the air rival the swallows; and clowns, a whole pack of merriest, most mirth-provoking mimics with a brand new line of side-splitting stunts to tickle your visual faculties.

All will be included in the 1962 version of Frank Wirth Circus.

But, this also is only a brief outline of the treat in store for area circus-lovers—young and old. There will be one hundred and one exciting events to claim the attention.

Eight performances of the big indoor circus will be held at the Johnstonown arena. Six evening performances are scheduled for 8:15 p. m. Monday through Saturday, and two matinees, with special price for children for matinees held at 2:30 p. m. Monday and Saturday.

Tickets are available by mail order or a visit to Cambria County War Memorial Arena, Johnstown, or from several sponsoring groups. The dates again are April 14 through 19.

Main Intersection At Cresson Again Scene Of Bad Crash

Three persons were injured in a traffic accident at 7 a. m. Tuesday at the intersection of Routes 22 and 53 in Cresson.

Most severely hurt was Peter McDonald, 64, Lilly. He was removed to the Altoona Mercy Hospital, where attendants said his condition seems fair, but that the extent of his injuries has not been determined.

Also injured was Leo J. Lenz, 53, of Gallitzin, who suffered from shock. Thomas Burke, 39, of Lilly R. D., received a sprained neck and body bruises.

State police of the Ebensburg substation said the car driven by Burke was traveling north on Route 53 when it collided with a truck driven by Edouard H. Turner Jr., 38, of Altoona. Turner was driving west on Route 22. As a result of the collision the car and truck were thrown into the auto of Leo Lenz, which was stopped on the north side of the intersection.

McDonald was a passenger in the Burke car, which police said was demolished. Damage to the truck and the Lenz car was estimated at $200 each.
