Work to Begin Before
End of School Year

Plans for an extensive survey of all public school buildings in Cambria County were disclosed at meetings last Wednesday in Ebensburg and Johnstown. The surveys are in anticipation of federal aid in school building projects. Under pending legislation the federal government would contribute to replacement or improvement of school facilities.

Pennsylvania is one of the states that has approved state appropriations to match those of the federal government, should the national program go into effect.

Details of the survey were explained to Cambria County School leaders last Wednesday by D. Raymond Sollenberger, who is area survey director for the Department of Public Instruction. He will be in charge of the surveys in eight counties in this section of the state.

Mr. Sollenberger met Wednesday morning at Johnstown with supervising principals of school districts in Southern Cambria. In the afternoon he held a similar meeting with supervising principals of Northern Cambria districts.

The survey of all school buildings in the county's 55 districts is to begin before the end of the current school year.

All surveys will be under the supervision of Dr. A. M. Stull, county superintendent of schools. However, supervising principals will be directly responsible in their own districts. In those districts which do not have supervising principals, the work will be handled directly by Dr. Stull's office.

Survey reports will show detailed information concerning the capacities, facilities and the conditions of all buildings. Particular attention is to be paid to lack of facilities and obsolescence of buildings or equipment. The reports also will contain information relative to financial conditions and tax structures of the various school districts.

Similar surveys already are under way in many other states which have adopted suitable legislation to participate in the federal aid program if and when it is finally approved.

Coal Price Raise
Approved By OPS

Amounts Will Vary
In Different Sections

The government last Sunday authorized retail coal price increases ranging up to 20 cents a ton. The increases, approved by the Office of Price Stabilization, are the exact dollars and-cents amounts of freight rate increases for coal authorized recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Price officials said that amount of the increases will vary in sections of the nation. The I.C.C. set a maximum increase in freight rates of 20 cents per ton on coal.

The OPS said that in some cases coal prices may not go up because coal now is selling below current ceilings in many areas.

Officials said the action was necessary because the earnings of coal retailers are below the government's earnings standard. This standard provides for price increases when earnings of an entire industry falls below 85 percent of the average in the best three years of the 1946-49 period.

The OPS has authorized coal retailers to pass on to consumers all freight rate increases approved since the price freeze of January, 1951.

Green Receives Word
At Midnight Thursday

The mobilization of about 500 air observers in the county to man towers on a 24-hour basis was unexpectedly called off late last Thursday night. The 10 posts in Cambria County were told to operate on order issued Edwin F. Green, Portage, chief county observer, from U. S. Air Force officers at the main Western Pennsylvania filter station in Pittsburgh.

At the time the operations were cancelled, final details had been completed for the continuous operation of the posts beginning at 3 p. m. Friday. Mr. Green said he had been assured by observers in all parts of the county that sufficient personnel had been trained to maintain continuous operation of the posts.

Observers, however, have been asked to stand in readiness for emergency calls to man the stations. Air force officials had called for observation towers in most Eastern and Middle Atlantic States to be manned on a 24-hour basis for training purposes.

Workers at the various towers have spent weeks in training additional spotters and in working out schedules for manning the post. Most of the volunteers had completed schedules which called for two persons to be on duty at all times in each post.

Posts in Cambria County are located at Patton, Blandburg, Dean, South Fork, Ebensburg, Portage, Milltown, Barnesboro, Nanty-Glo and Johnstown.

The survey of all school buildings in the county's 55 districts is to begin before the end of the current school year.

All surveys will be under the supervision of Dr. A. M. Stull, county superintendent of schools. However, supervising principals will be directly responsible in their own districts. In those districts which do not have supervising principals, the work will be handled directly by Dr. Stull's office.

By G.O.P. Leaders

Robert A. Gleason, Westmont

was endorsed unanimously for reelection as chairman of the Republican county committee at a meeting of the party's district chairman last Wednesday evening in Clark Powell's Restaurant, Ebensburg. The action was not unexpected as Mr. Gleason's candidacy for reelection has not met with any organized opposition. The biennial convention of the party to elect a chairman will be held at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) this Saturday, May 24, in Ebensburg Courthouse.
