New Pennsylvania National Guard Vehicles Similar to British Lorries

(By Pennsylvania News Service)

Harrisburg — Scores of new trucks, weapons carriers, buses, ambulances and trailers have been pouring into nearby Indian- town Gap Military Reservation, as more than 500 new vehicles consigned to the Pennsylvania National Guard are slated to make up a new complement.

As soon as the equipment has been inspected and approved by Guard maintenance men at the Gap, it will be sent to Guard units throughout the state. All World War II vehicles with which the Guard has been equipped since 1947 are scheduled to be turned in to Indian town Gap.

One of the striking features of the trucks and weapons carriers is their similarity to the British lorries so familiar to American GI's during World War II. The 6's have been completely redesigned to take advantage of the high-wheeled, space saving qualities of the English equipment.

National Guard weapons carriers arriving at Indian town Gap resemble light British lorries to an even closer degree. Automatic transmissions and power steering provide the most attractive mechanical features of the cargo trucks. Additionally, water tight engines are used throughout.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK
 LUIS—(PNS)—State police reported that 48-year-old Roy Weidman, of Rothville died at the wheel of his truck on an apparent heart attack after he had slowed down the vehicle and brought it to a halt along the side of the road.

All Realty Investors Urged to Consult Rent Control Office

If you have in mind buying that apartment house in the downtown section or that house and lot out in the suburbs as a rental investment and you discover the property is under rent ceilings, there's no need to jump at conclusions. Just visit the area rent office at 124 Main Street, Johnstown, and get the information you need.

Area rent director Leo H. Ahers, emphasized that the office is prepared to tell the potential purchaser the maximum rental that is currently charged and to advise him of all his rights if he becomes the owner of the property.

"This service is designed to help both tenant and landlord," Mr. Ahers explained.

"Directly, of course, it prevents overcharges, and that is only simple justice to the tenant. But it's also designed to protect a buyer from misrepresentation or incorrect information that might be given him in good faith.

"Such purchasers, when the overcharge is discovered, would have to make a refund and there would be so large that he might lose his investment. So, for everyone's sake, making use of this service is recommended by our office."

The Area Rent Director said potential purchasers also might consult office personnel to determine whether a property is actually under rent abatement.

Westbound Flyer Catches Fire Recently Near Crossen

Train 75, westbound flyer was temporarily delayed in Crossen at 6:31 p. m. last Tuesday when the middle diesel power unit caught fire just as the train had passed MO tower, a short distance east of the overhead bridge in Crossen. The engines used the emergency brakes to halt the train alongside the enginehouse.

Several minutes later the Crossen Volunteer Fire Company, with its huge booster pump, was on the scene and drenched the burning engine, causing serious damage to the diesel unit. Forces at the enginehouse also assisted in extinguishing the blaze.
