STATE SENATOR JOHN J. HALUSKA

Well, the Big Day has arrived—the most bitter opponents that meral Eisenhower has returned the Eisenhower camp would ever

Whether or ot Mr. Eisen-lower is acting

General Eisenhower has returned from the European Theater to enter the field of politics for the first time in his career. Flags are flying, bands are playing and political "hopefuls" are beating the drums for General "Ike."

On the General "Ike."

On the General "Ike."

On the General "Ike."

On the General "Truman, he visited the White House to shake hands with his old pal, President Truman. It is reported that they had a very triendly meeting and the condi-convention at Chicago adjourns, you will then find many of the Republican leaders paying great attention as to whom the Democrats may nominate to the Office of President. And, once again, we predict, that if the Democrats act wisely in their choice they wisely is unknown at this time. The European situation is more critical than ever and some political observers feel that Ike is turning his back on matters involving the nation's future for personal gain. Mr. Taft's foress will point this out very clearly in the weeks ahead. Most newspappers are going all-out to build up Ike's candidacy and if one but turns back the pages of time, he will note that these same writers are following a blue-print copy of the late Wendell Wilkie's his will note that these same writers are following a blue-print copy of the late Wendell Wilkie's his position on domestic and foreign affairs. When he does that, there will be a barrage of criticism thrown at him, pre and con, and, not being a seasoned politician, he will find it very difficult to answer the questions the public demands.

Mr. Taft, or the other hand, is a seasoned politician and will be able to cope with the 'sharp-shooters' without too much difficulty.

So, in this corner, it still looks like Taft, and, we can only sit back and weit for the final results.
