SOME of the things we think should be stressed in running a BANK . . .

11:00-Day

First . . .

Adherence to sound policies on management and credit, that have been proven by the past.

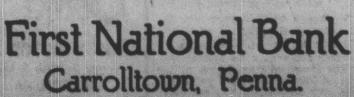

A firm conviction that your financial affairs are entitled to confidential treatment.

Third . . .

A belief that frankness and candor serves everybody's interests best most of the time.

Fourth . . .

A friendly atmosphere is most conductive to mutually satisfactory business transactions.

Second . . .
