4 School Districts Unable to Decide On Building Site

West Branch Site Has Highest Number Points

Formation of a four-district school system for the West Branch area faces further delay because of inability to select a site for a proposed junior-senior high school.

Directors of the four districts involved—Spangler and Barnesboro boroughs and Barr and Susquehanna Townships—made another unsuccessful attempt to select a school site at a meeting in Maitzelier last Wednesday evening.

A site must receive unanimous approval of the four boards before a joint district is formed. Spangler Borough and Barr Township signed a joint contract but since have agreed to operate as separate districts pending the outcome of present negotiations.

Purpose of last Wednesday's meeting was to compare evaluations of 10 proposed sites visited by representatives of the four boards on Sunday, Oct. 26.

West Branch site, in Barr Twp. received the highest number of points under a scoring system. The four boards scored 66 points for the site, 31 points higher than the second-highest Kelly Shaft site, located in Spangler Borough.

The Barr Township site was one of two submitted by the four boards to the county board of school directors for approval. The county board flatly rejected the West Branch site, stating that the terrain is not suitable and that there is a possibility of future coal mining under the area.

The site finishing third with a total of 47 points was the North Spangler site, second of two previously submitted for county approval.

Mickey McKotch, "Star of the Week," $3.00.

County school directors voiced approval of the North Spangler location primarily because of its central location.

When no agreement was reached last Wednesday, directors decided to shelve temporarily the West Branch and North Spangler sites and attempt to select a site from the remaining locations proposed.

Kelly Shaft site and the Steele Corner site, located in Barnesboro Borough, will be considered next. Boards will discuss the tracts at their respective meetings and report their findings at the next joint meeting at 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday, Nov. 18, in Barnesboro High School.

Miners At Gallitzin Laid Off Monday

Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company at Gallitzin has effected an employment cutback at its No. 10 mine there.

Effective on Monday of this week 57 miners were laid off and reduced the operation's working force to 106 men.

Harold B. Wickey, Cresson, vice president and general manager of the firm, said the cutback is due to the general economic condition that exists in the coal industry.

"Due to increased labor costs and the inability of the market to take the added cost, as the price of coal, we find we can no longer operate No. 10 Mine with a full complement of men," he said.

Mrs. Elmer Hoover, "Star of the Week," $3.00.
