North-South All-Star Game Set By Coaches' Association

3-Day Football Clinic At Windber In August

West Central Pennsylvania Coaches Association will conduct a three-day football clinic Aug. 12-14 and will sponsor the annual North-South football scholastic all-star game in Windber, Aug. 14.

This was decided at a meeting of the group last Tuesday night at Cresson Legion Home. The coaches agreed to change the site of the clinic from Cochran Junior High, Johnstown, to Camp Hamilton, where the players of both all-star teams will be quartered for a week before the contest.

Last year's plan of a one-day clinic was altered to a three-day affair, a custom instituted in 1951 and 1952. The mentors pointed out that football lectures and drills could not be given completely in one day.

The all-star game squads will continue to be selected from the schools in the North and South of the six-county district.

Jack Hart of Cresson, coach of the winning team last year, is chairman of the committee to seek a proper realignment of schools because the North defeated the South three years in a row.

Hart pointed out it is a difficult problem to change the set-up. One plan considered was to have Cambria County schools against the other five counties but it was believed the Cambria schools would be too strong.

It was generally agreed after considerable discussion that coaches cooperate and send their best players to the games, there will be strong teams for both squads.

The association agreed to pay the expenses of two cerebral palsy patients in the area each year as the group's contribution to charity. This committee was headed by E. Clark Shaffer of Johnstown. Two cases by the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Dick Mickel of Windber is authorized to buy football uniforms for one of the squads. These will replace the old uniforms procured from the defunct Johnstown Clippers.

The coaches also agreed to send players, such as Eddie Chupke of Elmdale Twp., gifts at Christmas time. Chupke was injured in a Shade-Windber game a few years ago.

Several top flight coaches in the nation were considered for the part of running the clinic next summer. The committee was requested to try to procure Jackie

Courier Will Feature Names of Deerslayers

The 1952 deer season opens next Monday, Dec. 1, and as in past years the Union Press-Courier would like to publish the names of all Northern Cambria hunters who kill deer.

All area deerslayers are kindly requested to phone or mail information to this office or any of this publication's local correspondents stating where the kill was made, number of points, weight and date.

All information will be published under a column entitled, "Deerslayers" which will be featured on this sports page during the coming season. Cooperation of all area sportsmen will be appreciated.

Freeman of Windber, head coach at Williams & Mary, and Hugh Daugherty of Barnesboro, assistant coach at Michigan State, if available.

Other coaches considered are Red Dawson of the University of Pittsburgh, George Barclay of North Carolina State, Sid Gilman of Cincinnati and Dick Harlow, advisory coach at Western Maryland.

A basketball clinic will be held by the association this year, Thursday, Dec. 4, is the preferred date with Dec. 2 an alternate date. Johnstown High School is expected to be the site for the sessions. Joe Major, coach at Johnstown Catholic, made the report for the clinic.

It was agreed that Carl Engh of Westmont, Milan Gjurich of Franklin and Major will conduct the clinic. Dr. William (Skip) Hughes of St. Francis and Bill Lemmer, veteran coach at Duquesne High School, may be added, if available.

Sam Lengel, Indiana High School coach, notified the district that a free mat clinic will be held Saturday, Dec. 13, at State Teachers College, Indiana.

The coaches' next meeting is set for Monday, Mar. 16, in Cresson.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission will hold a special meeting in Harrisburg last Saturday, Nov. 22, reconsidered the days and dates previously approved as an extended open season for cottontail rabbits, squirrels (gray, black and fox), ringneck pheasants (males only), and grouse, and recognizing the sanctity of Christmas Day, decided to close hunting of these species on Dec. 25, 1952.

Clerks to Receive Retroactive Raise

The State Liquor Control Board this month agreed to pay $45,000 in retroactive salary increases to liquor store clerks.

The board, in a joint statement with the Independent Association of Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board Employees, said the agreement ended a threat of a court suit by the union.

Hikel D. Taimuty, New Kensington, union president, said the money would be paid to about half of the 457 employees whom he said were entitled to the salary boosts last Aug. 1.

The remaining half will get their pay hikes as of Nov. 1, he told a newsmen.

The increases average about $108 a year per employe and are being made under a system of providing salary boosts to 3,000 liquor store clerks on a quarterly basis.

The board had insisted that the quarterly increases were to be made at its own option. The union claimed they were automatic. The board said the boosts will continue on a quarterly basis but will be given out on merit instead of generally.

Taimuty also said agreement was reached on revising salary schedules among employes in stores with varied sales volume. The salary boost represents the seventh increment of $8 monthly for employes with seven years or more of service, according to a local employe.

Approximately 30 clerks in Cambria County are entitled to the raise. Store managers and assistant managers are not affected by the present increase.
