LETTERS TO JANE... By A. PAULINE SANDERS, P.H. IRVONA, PENNSYLVANIA Dear Jane, "This old world that we are living in is mighty hard to beat. You got a thorn with every rose. But—ain't the roses sweet?" —Frank Stanton I couldn't resist enclosing this verse which I found today. This week end the highways will be filled with interesting and amusing sights since the Antique Car Meet is being held in Pottstown tomorrow and on Saturday. If you have a chance to see the English film portraying a similar affair in England, don't miss it. It's clean humor, and of course romance. I am sure you have noted the important date for Dad this month. Try this antidote for that tired and rushed feeling: Serve tasty foods, skillfully prepared. For it I suggest Spiedino Romano Buns. Make two, at least, for each person for everybody will love them. Serve with a fruit- and vegetable-filled skelter, ice cream (plain or bar), cookies, and a lot of piping hot coffee. Good eating is guaranteed. Spiedino Bread is a marvelous bread and cheese concoction—the kind of thing that one can eat, and eat, and EAT. Here it is: Cream 1/2 cup butter or margarine with 1/2 cup grated onion, 1/2 cup prepared mustard, and 1 tablespoon poppy seeds. Split 6 hamburger buns. Spread creamed mixture on cut sides and over top. Put together with a slice of Swiss cheese and a slice of boiled ham between. Sprinkle with dash of monosodium glutamate as you go. Place on baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 15 minutes. Use bread and crisp bacon if you prefer. For the accompaniment use a wooden skewer. On each place a section of orange or grapefruit, a chunk of canned pineapple, peach and pear; a strawberry. For the vegetable skewer use what is at hand. I like a casted, broiled mushroom cap with a pitted ripe olive, and bright red radish. Brush both skewers with French dressing just before serving. Some like a sweetened dressing on the fruit. If you want any new cookie recipe let me know. I am getting more ready to send to Arizona in reply to a request from one of our readers out there so I'll have some good ones ready for you. With all the noteworthy happenings in June we must not overlook the June bride. I'd like to urge her, as well as you experienced cooks, to pay special attention to "Dutch" ovens: If you are in a quandary about a wedding gift, may I suggest a Dutch oven with a tight fitting lid serves a dual purpose. A deep fryer skillet with a tight fitting cover can be used for braising as well as pan-broiling and frying. The iron kettle, known as the Dutch oven dates from the Colonial days and has come to us made from cast aluminum recently. The Dutch ovens were brought to America by the Pilgrims. They had become accustomed to using them while they were in Holland before coming to America. Even with the limitations on baggage, because of the smallness of the Mayflower, the Dutch ovens were MUST. Early settlers liked this utensil because of its versatility. It could take the place of several other pots and pans. The Dutch oven comes in different sizes and has a rounded, tight fitting cover which adds greatly to its capacity and also keeps in the steam. It may be used either with or without a rack. Like the range oven, it may be used for cooking several foods at one time. Meat may be seared, placed on the rack, and vegetables placed around it; a separate vessel of fruit may be included. A small amount of liquid is added to the bottom of the oven, and after the steam has formed the heat is reduced to a simmering and the cooking continues long enough to produce a tender product. Once in awhile it is necessary to add a bit more liquid. This is not necessary if the lid fits tightly and the heat is kept low. I emphasize the Dutch oven and its use because of the all-American meal—pot roast of beef served with browned carrots, buttered noodles, tossed vegetables, or a green and white bean salad, and pie. The latter can be apple with cheese or melt-in-the-mouth lemon meringue. A time-honored rule is "Salt the cooking method to the cut and the quality." Competent cooks accept this rule. Let's apply it, and at the same time save money and serve quality. The age-old pot roast has been beef chuck. The rolled roast has been the aristocrat of roasts—a rolled rib, very expensive. Now we can find a rolled, beed chuck roast which is moderately priced today, tasty and easy to carve. Cooked in a Dutch oven, smartly seasoned, attractively served it is "out of this world" in flavor and appearance. This is a compact roast and of this variety it will require somewhat more cooking time than a regular chuck roast with the bone left in. After about the first hour it will need replenishment of liquids. The last hour of cooking lay the carrots around the roast to cook in the savory liquid. Add a bit of salt with the carrots. When you start the roast sprinkle it with salt, pepper, a few chopped onions, a piece of bay leaf, a sprinkle of dried, powdered or fresh herbs. I'd use marjoram, Oregano, basil or thyme. Use about one-half cup of bouillon or tomato juice instead of water. Allow three to four hours cooking time. A sprinkle of poppy seeds over the noodles helps too. For the "green and bean" salad tear a quart of crisp, dry spinach and lettuce leaves into bite-size pieces. Mix one-third cup French dressing with one-half teaspoon dry mustard and beat it into one cup cottage cheese. Add cheese mixture to greens and toss until each green leaf is covered. Beef will continue to be attractive as a merchandising feature for all of June. There will be abundant grain-fed beef and plentiful offerings of processed beef items and the low tender cuts at reasonable prices. For the first 3 months of this year Pennsylvania red meat production totaled 207,235,000 pounds, one and one-half percent above the same period last year. Meat production in commercial slaughter houses of Pennsylvania reached an all-time high this spring. Maybe we will become a grating, meat production center of note in the future. Wouldn't the youngsters love to see regular cowboys in our midst? Who knows what is in the future? I noted with pride the sustained interest of the PTA in the BCI Scout Troops. The adults who are giving their time to this worthwhile community project deserve a hand. Yours for better homemaking. PAULINE. CURFEW TIME The word "curfew" is derived from the French curfew-feu, meaning "to cover fire." Ringing of the curfew originated in England under William the Conqueror, who required all houses to be shut and lights and fires to be put out at the ringing of a bell each night.

TAKE heart, good friend—you can buy a hit-of-the-year Buick if you can afford any new car. And we proudly show our price here to prove it. For this price is the delivered price—the local delivered price—of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan—and it's just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price thirds"—lower, in fact, than even some models of those very same cars. But look what this Buick price gets you! It gets you the very look of tomorrow in styling modernity, even to the spectacular new panoramic windshield that seems to outdate everything before it. It gets you Buick V8 power—highest in SPECIAL history—plus the economy of new Power-Head Pistons. It gets you Buick room, Buick luxury, Buick size and structure and solidity—including of course, the famed Million Dollar Ride and a new precision in handling ease. It gets you, too, solid and deep-down value. For any way you look at it, you're money ahead with the car that's years-ahead now in looks and line and the lift of its power—and the car that's outselling every other car in America except two of the "low-price three." Drop in today or the first thing tomorrow—just to try and to drive and to compare a new Buick. We'll let the car prove its points.

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. From the factory-installed extras you may want are bumpers, such as bumper & deflector... only $81.70. No wonder Buicks are Soaring!
