Cambria School Head Pledges Aid On Salk Vaccine

79 Grade Schools to Be Included In Setup

Full cooperation with health of-ficials in planning for possible polio vaccinations in Cambria County grade schools has been pledged by Dr. Arthur M. Stull, county superintendent of schools. His statement was made after a meeting with Dr. E. Pope Dick-inson, county health officer.

"If the Salk polio vaccine is found effective and is licensed, we will be prepared immediately to start vaccinating 8,414 children in the first and second grades of every public and parochial school in the county," said Dr. Stull.

The announcement is expected on Thesday of mixt week, Apr. 12.

If Boensed, the vaccine will be furnished to health departments by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, without cost. It will be part of a $9 million supply purchased with March of Dimes funds.

"The size of this job and the need for advance preparation can be realized when you con-sider that this involves 44 pub-lic school districts and 35 parochial schools throughout our county," declared the superin-tendent.

"Many classes are in small schools and children may have to be transported to clinics held in bigger schools. "A polio vaccine program of this size is a challenge principals and teachers are eager to meet because it presents an opportun-ity for widespread health educa-Dr. Stull said he has com-pleted distribution of informa-tive material to principals and teachers concerned, including "parental request forms" which will be placed in the hands of parents of all first and second-grade children.

No eligible children will receive vaccine unless their parents first sign the form requesting it. The forms are now being distributed
