Owners, Operators Must Give Bureau Change In Address

State Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleason, this week urged Pennsylvania motor vehicle owners and operators with new mailing addresses to notify the bureau of motor vehicles at Harrisburg of the change.

"If we don't have the correct address, we cannot deliver the application for a 1956 operator's license," Gleason said.

Charles M. Dougherty, director of motor vehicles, reported the processing of over 4,500,000 applications for 1956 operators' licenses now underway in his bureau. The applications will be mailed during the week of Nov. 21, he said.

Dougherty said the state motor vehicle code requires owners and operators to notify the revenue department of an address change within 48 hours of the change.

He added that printed forms for notification may be obtained from any magistrate, justice of the peace, notary public, automobile club, auto dealer, or from his bureau.
