Funishing School Children.

Punishing School Children.

There are many ways in which school teachers undertake to inflict punishment on the scholars committed to their care. The school law gives them a certain amount of discretion as to how, when and for what a child should receive corporal punishment. That the average teacher is capable of exercising this discretion we have no doubt, but there are seems to be exceptions to all rules and a case was brought to our notice last week in which a teacher in one of the primary schools of Butler township is charged by the parents of some of her scholars with causing a quantity of soap and water to be put into the childrens' mouths as a means of punishment. Some of these children have been taken sick, and when complaint was made to one of the directors that gentleman is reported as having made the remark that it was good enough for them, and that he has made no effort to stop it. The teacher has been notified by the parents of the children so punished, and if it should happen again legal proceedings will be instituted against her.

The Eisteddfod Postponed.

By request of a large number of choirs and choral societies in different parts of the country, who could not possibly be in attendance and who desire to take part in the Freeland Eisteddfod, the committee of arrangements has decided to postpone it from January 1 to March 1. In addition to the number of prizes already on the programme they have agreed to place one of $50.00, to be completed for by brass and reed bands. The conditions are that each band will play a piece of its own selection and to the band that will best render the piece the prize is to be awarded. The committee at its last meeting passed a vote of thanks to the newspapers of this and other parts of the country which so the parts of th

Is the Conclusion Arrived At By the Wyoming Workingmen.

The labor organizations in the upper end of the county have been lying dor-mant for some time, and it seems that a natural reaction is about to set in. The following from the Wilkes-Barre Record tells the feeling of the men in that sec-tion.

natural reaction is about to set in. The following from the Wilkes-Barre Record tells the feeling of the men in that section:

Friday evening a mass meeting of miners and laborers gathered in Knights to f Pythias Hall, for the purpose of dissensing grievances. David E. Edwards presided.

John Llewellyn, a former member of rold W. B. A., stated that he did not see that the miners of Wyoming region were properly recompensed for their labor. The majority seem to treat the matter with indifference, but they suffer all the same. As for myself I can tell you I swork harder than I did 15 years ago. We ought to as miners and laborers, to a man, belong to the Knights of Labor. If we were united the two weeks' pay bill would not have been thrown away. The burden is coming down heavy on the employes of the L. & W. C. C. We have a K. of L. assembly. Let all present, and all in the valley, join it and protect ourselves from tyranny.

David E. Edwards said he had been benefitted by the labor unions in the past and that miners could expect nothing without organization.

Thomas E. John said a reduction in yardage and the price for timbering had been reduced. If the present condition of things as we saw in this valley in 1877. I suffered then, but we should take warning from the past and at once organize.

Another miner stated that if they would not be able would step in and prevent it.

David Morris stated that if they would have a greater advantage in making a demand for higher wages than ever before. The miner's certificate was protection, for in case of a strike they would not be able would step in and prevent it.

Another miner stated that if they would step in and prevent it.

David Morris stated that three years ago the men got §1.50 for setting a prop, I now it is §1.30. Miners then got §2.25, now they get only $1.25. We should she war not many and he believed in the organization of labor.

An invitation was extended for those who were not members of the K. of L. to hand their names to the sceretary. Over forty stepped

The Revenue Commission Meets.

The Revenue Commission to prepare state and local laws relating to taxation met at Harrisburg last week, all the members being present except Hon. Leonard Rhone, who was presiding at the meeting of the State Grange Patrons of Husbandry. Auditor General McCamant was made president of the commission and Prof. Bolles temporary secretary. Owing to the fact that a transcribing clerk's error led to the passage of the resolution creating the commission without labor representation, the commission unanimously passed a resolution to give the labor interests a representative, Secretary of Internal Affairs Stewart to make the appointment.

The subject of taxation and the laws

Affairs Stewart to make the appointment.

The subject of taxation and the laws as now constituted were talked over in an informal way, and the commission concluded that it would be useless to attempt any work in the absence of Mr. Rhone and the representative of the labor interests. An adjournment was had until February 4, when the work will be mapped out. The commission expects to hold a number of meetings this winter in various places.

Work on the New Railroad.

In an article on the building of the Pennsylvania, Lehigh and Eastern Railroad, which will run from Tomhicken to Matamoras, Pike County, the Stroadsburg Times says: The company recently put a corps of engineers on the route at the western terminus of the road. On Friday last Chief Engineers & M. Hayght was in this place, having come through on the route from the western terminus. He informed parties here that in a few weeks he would put another corps of engineers on at Strondsburg to move westward over the Pocono Mountain to meet the corps working eastward. The prospects now look very favorable for the speedy construction of the road, which, when built, will shorten the distance from Chicago to Boston from 100 to 125 miles, besides passing through the best anthracite coal regions in Pennsylvania.

A Singular Accident. A Singular Accident.

Tuesday evening two Hungarians became engaged in a quarrel at Miners Mills. Andrew Schum, one of them, had a long clay pipe in his mouth. The other man hit him a hard blow and knocked him off the porch on which they were fighting. Schum fell head first a distance of four or five feet, and on striking the ground the stem of the pipe was driven with great force down his throat tearing the larynx in a horrible manner. A doctor was summoned, who after examination stated that his injuries were very dangerous and that if he recovered his power of speech would be entirely gone.
