

MUTINY OF MADMEN.

Extraordinary Conduct of Lunatics in a French Asylum. A mutiny of an extraordinary character took place recently at the Bicetre Lunatic Asylum, near Paris, France...

Leeper saw a Confederate soldier drawing a bead on him from behind the roots of a black oak tree not ten feet away...

Phenomena of Hurricanes. Professor Loomis gives a very interesting summary of his investigations on the subject of tornadoes. He finds that while no season of the year is exempt...

The Greek Women.

The Greek women have all the quickness of their race, the features mobile and the eyes amber. But they lose the gracefulness of form early.

The Rubber Supply.

The declaration credited to Henry M. Stanley, that Aruwin, West Africa, was destined to become the great rubber reservoir of the world, is not agreed with by rubber men of New York.

A Shrewd Redskin.

Old Shah-bah-skong, the head chief of Mille Lac, brought all his warriors to defend Fort Ripley in 1862.

The Last Shot at Chickamauga.

Mr. A. B. Leeper, a prominent citizen of Delaware County, Ill., has been down to Chattanooga, Tenn., with a committee picking out historical spots on the battlefield of Chickamauga.

THE MODERN NAVAL BATTLE.

How the Marine War Monsters Will Come at Each Other. Each vessel will clear for action as soon as the other is discerned—perhaps five miles away. Each will probably slow down at first, in order to gain time for preparation...

Carnegie's First Riches.

Andrew Carnegie, the iron king, made his first money in the oil country of Pennsylvania. He and some friends bought the William Story farm, on Oil Creek, in 1860, for $35,000.

The Famous Damascus Blades.

The famous Damascus blades, though in use among nations little skilled in metallurgical arts long before the Christian era, and familiar to the European nations from the time of the crusades, have until recently defied all attempts to reproduce their remarkable qualities.

Criminals' Vagaries.

Some very interesting facts of crime are revealed by a Scotch Sheriff. He knew of a man who, between the years 1844 and 1855, was committed to prison 167 times for being drunk, and when drunk his invariable practice was to smash windows.

A Prince Who Weighs His Guests.

The London correspondent of an English paper alleges that the Prince of Wales has insisted on the custom of weighing both the coming and departing guests at Sandringham palace.

Head Against Head.

Bellevue Falls is where the dime museum freaks are developed, and the country store actors fitted for the stage and $30 a week. Last week a reporter passed a night at the Commercial House, and in company with handsome and witty Mr. Nims, the proprietor, went over to an adjoining stable to see a son of Africa test his head against the head of a flour barrel.

The Hog Won.

There were recently gathered together a score or more of German students in Berlin discussing sports of all kinds, dueling, chicken-fighting, pugilism and horse racing. The latter subject was under discussion when an enthusiastic Rhein-Baier declaimed eloquently upon the merits of a Kentucky steed.

One Swindle Explained.

A drummer who travels for a Boston grocery concern says that he sees in Maine some of the sharpest tricks that are practiced anywhere on his route. He gives the following specimen:

Bugle Call Learned by a Bird.

The robin is not generally expected to be much of an imitator, but Fort Erie has a robin that would put to shame the most accomplished mockingbird. On quiet mornings the melody notes of the bugle calls from Fort Porter float across the river, and the aforesaid robin, in his leisure moments, when freed from his family cares, has amused himself by acquiring the reveille to perfection.

The Paris Figaro.

The Paris Figaro has this story of the gay life of a French official: "The Maire of a town on the frontier had, in accordance with the recent regulations, to make out a passport for a rich and highly respectable lady of his acquaintance, who, in spite of a slight disfigurement, was very vain of her personal appearance.

Not the Same. The store of a Boston stationer one day recently threw a man in the dress of a workman, who was evidently at once a foreigner and overfitted with brilliancy of intellect. He made up to one of the clerks, and with an air of hesitation, as if doubtful whether he had come to the right place, asked in broken English for some 'overalls.'

Among the passengers on the La Bretagne, which recently sailed for Europe, was Mr. Alfred B. Scott, of Scott & Bowne, proprietors of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. This is one of his periodical trips to attend to the affairs of the firm, which has branches in London, Paris, Barcelona, Milan and Genoa.

While Decorating Your Homes.

Do not forget that the toilet table is an important chair, still more important what to have on it. Every good housekeeper will acknowledge the value of having a reliable name brand in every case of need, and there is nothing better in the line of toilet articles than the famous 'Sarsaparilla' brand.
