—The double frame blocks of dwelling houses and a butcher shop at Malthy were entirely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. James Williams, of Luzerne Borough, and William J. Conner were the owners of the property. Their loss will reach $8,000, partly covered by insurance.

—James Hughes, who was severely beaten some time ago by Thomas Martin, John McNulty and John McDonald near Pitston, died from the result of his injuries at his home on Friday evening last. The three men who were held in bail at the time of the occurrence were re-arrested on Monday and committed to the county jail.

—A fatal accident occurred at Waddel's colliery at Luzerne Borough on Tuesday. Wm. Boyle and James McCarthery were at work at the bottom of the shaft when they were struck by several cars, which, on account of the rope breaking, had descended the shaft at a terrific rate. McCarthey was instantly killed and Boyle was badly injured which will probably result in his death.

The Fuller colliery, near Wyoming, operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Company, which has been flooded for over a year past, is now being pumped out preparatory to resuming operations. This will give employment to over 200 miners, laborers and boys.

—George D. Balliet, house and sign painter, Centre street above Chestnut, is one of the model painters of Freeland and Luzerne county. I would respectfully ask those in need of painting of any kind to examine the work done by me on John B. Redpath's house, on Burton's Hill. I have made a study of the profession, and am now better prepared to do all kind of painting at rates that defy competition. Roof painting a specialty. Roofs painted and guaranteed for ten years. Sign painting done in artistic designs. All work guaranteed or money refunded. Geo. D. Ballier.

There was a cloud-burst over the Wyoming Valley, in the upper end of the county on Tuerday afternoon, and in a few minutes every inch of lowland for miles around was covered with water. The rain came down in sheets, while the crash of thunder and the vivid, blinding flashes of lightning struck terror to the hearts of the timid. The streets in the lower partions of Wilkes-Barre were flooded to a depth of six inches, every cellar on Canal street being flooded and thousands of dollars worth of goods damaged. A washout on the Pennsylvania Railroad delayed passenger trains, while the New Jersey Central trains were compelled to enter Wilkes-Barre on the Lehigh Valley tracks. The Jersey Central crossing at Market street was completely submerged, the water surrounding the station.

The game was pretty hotly contested on both sides, but the Hazleton club, though defeated several times already this season by the home team, were fortunate in carrying off the honors by a score of 5 to 6. Hayes and Shaffer, of Bloomsburg, were the battery for Hazleton and Simmons and O'Hare, the latter of the Lehighton Club, for Freeland.

Weekly Coal Report.

Weekly Coal Report.

The anthracite coal trade has not improved during the past week, and midsummer duliness is now the ruling feature. Orders for coal are not plentiful, but there is no scarcity of coal, though the Reading Company has been temporarily short of one or two sizes in making up cargoes for Eastern shipment. Buyers at present show little disposition to place orders or contracts for any large quantity for anthracite, not knowing what may result from the apparent excessive production. Somebody has for some days past been industriously circulating statements regarding the alleged decreasing accumulation of anthracite at tidewater shipping points, but, be this as it may, it is a well known fact that the weekly output of coal for the past month has been considerably more than the market requirements called for, and if the tidewater tonnage has decreased the coal has simply been moved from the shipping piers at New York harbor and Port Richmond to other distributing ports in the East.

The Pottsville Miners' Journal says: "Work at the collieries are working pretty steadily and the limit of production is being exceeded by all the large companies."

The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending July 5th, as reported by the several carrying companies, was 589,726 tons, compared with 627,980 tons in the corresponding week last year, a decrease of 38,254 tons. The total amount of anthracite mined thus far in the year, an increase of 966 tons.—Ledger.
