THE FIRST GUN FIRED.

The Campaign Opened at Freeland—Speeches by Hon. Eckley B. Cox, Jno. M. Reynolds, Wm. McGroarty, Jno. M. Garman, Philip V. Weaver, J. F. Boyle and John Brady.

Saturday afternoon the streets of Freeland presented an animated scene, when the large flag of the Jeffersonian Democratic Society was hung across the street from their rooms, denoting to the public that from then on to the closing of the polls on the 4th day of November next, a fight will be made on all honorable grounds to elect the nominees on the Democratic ticket. We say honorable grounds, for if the speeches delivered at the meeting on Saturday are a criterion to go by, then the campaign will be carried on by Democrats without the aid of mud slinging, or touching on the private character of any of the Republican candidates on the county ticket.

At 7.30 the opera house was filled with an anxious audience. The platform was occupied by the officers and the executive committee of the society, as well as the visiting speakers.

The meeting was called to order by John D. Hayes, president of the Jeffersonian Democratic Society of Freeland, who introduced the Hon. Eckley B. Cox as the first speaker. Mr. Cox was received with rounds of applause. He began in a conversational tone, and said he desired to address them not in his usual style as fellow Democrats, but as fellow citizens, as citizens of all parties had shown a disposition to throw the yoke of slavery that hung over them, and had determined to give the people an honest government. He contrasted the two conventions held at Harrisburg and Scranton, and stated that at Scranton all was harmony, and each delegate voted as he desired, without intimidation. He urged his hearers to ponder upon the Australian ballot system, and not be content until that system was adopted, and appealed to his hearers that if they wanted it, to vote for Pattison and the Democratic candidate for Representative. Then said he, when you go to the polls no one but yourself and your God will know how you vote. But at present you are at the mercy of very petty bosses, for they have only to scan the tally lists and the marked ballot to know how you voted, and often your discharge follows.

Mr. John B. Reynolds was the next speaker, who complimented the Jeffersonian Democratic Society for the energy shown by them in the campaign. He spoke upon the issues of the day, and said that for the present the tariff was a dead issue, as with a Republican Senate they could overthrow anything that Congress thought it proper to pass in the interest of the laboring people. He concluded by saying that if elected to Congress by the people of this district, he would try to have them not regret their choice.

John S. McGroarty, candidate for County Treasurer, was the next speaker, and was loudly applauded when he appeared in front of the platform. Mr. McGroarty said he had often before spoken to a Freeland audience, and while he could do justice to his subject on these occasions, he found it difficult to address the people of Freeland and Foster township, now that he had come before them to ask their suffrage. But, said he, "why should I not come among you, if I am present in your township, and surely if I am cannot stand on my native heath where else should he stand?" He thanked his many friends of Freeland, Foster and Hazle townships for the unbroken support they had given him at the convention, and concluded by asking all present to support the Democratic ticket on election day.

Mr. John M. Garman, Attorney-at-Law of Nanticoke, was the next speaker, and he handled his subject in a masterly manner, touching upon almost everything in connection with the campaign. He was listened to very attentively and was applauded at the close of his speech.

Hon. P. F. Boyle, candidate for Representative, was next introduced and spoke a few words of encouragement in behalf of the ticket, and pledged himself that if elected he would give them no cause to feel ashamed of him.

Philip V. Weaver, candidate for Register of Wills, took the floor, and in his usual happy style, spoke at length upon the questions before the people and hoped that every Democrat in the Fourth district would be loyal to the ticket, and that when the returns were counted the district would not be behind its sister districts in its fealty to the party.

Mr. John Brady was next introduced and spoke at great length upon the schemes that are being resorted to by the Republican party, to try and alienate the labor vote from Pattison and Black. He gave a full exposure of the convention held in Philadelphia last week by Messrs. Rynder and gang of would-be labor leaders, and advised all workingmen to vote for Pattison and Black, and that through that, ballot reform would be an assured fact. Mr. Brady was listened to very attentively during the delivery of his speech, and at its close the applause was deafening.

Taken as a whole, the meeting was a success, both as to number present and the talent of the speakers who addressed them.

Parade and Picnic.

The committees of the parade and picnic on the 10th of October are making all preparations necessary for that day. A number of societies have signified their intention to be present and take part in the parade. The full programme will be announced in a few days. The route will be as follows: Societies will form on Luzerne street and will move at 10 a. m. sharp on to Centre, down Centre to Carbon, on Carbon to Washington, up Washington to Chestnut, up Chestnut to Ridge, down Ridge to Luzerne, to Centre, up Centre to Walnut, countermarch on Centre to Front, down Front to Clifton Park, where Rev. F. P. McNally, of St. Ann's, will deliver an address suitable to the occasion.

The Democratic Campaign.

A meeting of the Democratic County Committee and the Democratic candidates was held at Wilkes-Barre on Tuesday, at which a plan of campaign was in part outlined. It was decided that the county candidates would meet the State nominees at Hazleton on the 14th of October and make the tour of Luzerne county with them. They will visit White Haven, Freeland, Plymouth, Nanticoke and Pittston on the 15th, during the day, and in the evening of the 15th will be in Wilkes-Barre.

Dropped Dead in the Mines.

Thursday afternoon while on his way to his usual employment at Oak Dale colliery, Jeddo, Frank Sweeney, of South Heberton, dropped dead in the gangway from heart troubles. He was taken to his home at South Heberton, and the news of his death spread rapidly. Mr. Sweeney was aged 30 years and was a married man. He leaves a wife and three small children.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE.

In 1873 Mr. Sweeney became a member of St. Ann's T. A. B. Cadet Society, attached to St. Ann's Church, Drifton, and on July 4, 1880, became a member of St. Ann's Pioneer Corps, entering it as a private, and advancing step by step until in 1887, when he became Captain of Co. B., numbering over sixty members. After the strike of 1887, when the majority of the young men removed away, the two companies were merged into one, and since then he acted as First Lieutenant to Captain Frank McLaughlin.

Through his fealty to the cause of labor, during the strike of 1887, he was elected Upper Lehigh, where he was employed, and since then worked at Hazle Brook and Jeddo. He was a member of Foster Township School Board, and about a year ago was appointed a fish warden for this section of the county. He was an uncompromising advocate of the rights of man and an earnest worker in the cause of labor. He was a charter member of L. A. 335, of Upper Lehigh, and in his death that assembly has lost one of its quietest and most earnest workers.

As an indication of the esteem in which he was held, no better evidence could be shown than that which took place at his funeral on Sunday afternoon from his late residence, South Heberton. The funeral cortege was as follows:

St. Ann's Pioneer Drum Corps.
St. Ann's Pioneer Corps.
St. Ann's T. A. B. Society.
Young Men's T. A. B. Society.
School Directors, Teachers of Foster Township.

Besides Twenty-six carriages and 1364 women and men of neighboring towns.

Arriving at St. Ann's Church, the body was taken in and Rev. F. P. McNally read the prayers for the dead, after which he delivered a very impressive sermon, taking for his text, "Be Ye Always Ready."

He paid a glowing tribute to the deceased and stated that as far as man knew he was ready. In conclusion, he advised his hearers to be always ready, for they know not when they too would be called before the judgement seat of their God.

Interment was made in St. Ann's cemetery under charge of Undertaker Brislin.

Death of William Gibbon.

The many friends of Mr. William Gibbon, of Front street, Freeland, will be sorry to learn of his death, which took place at the University Hospital, Philadelphia, September 29.

Mr. Gibbon had been troubled with stomach disease for some time past, and about ten days ago took to Philadelphia for treatment. His funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to the Freeland cemetery. F. H. Albert, undertaker.

Mr. Gibbon has been a resident of Freeland for a number of years and was one of those who contributed to build it up. H. C. Koons and B. F. Davis went to Philadelphia as soon as word was received of his death, and returned yesterday afternoon with the body. His age was 62 years, 2 months and 14 days.

The Place to Get Your Clothing.

I. Reifowich, the clothing merchant and gent's furnisher, is at No. 37, Centre street, Freeland, with a stock of goods, that for quality, cannot be surpassed in this region. Hats, Caps, Boys' and Men's Clothing, a special feature. Large stock of suits made to order for $25.00 reduced to $17.00. This is a saving to persons of limited means over ready-made clothing. Clothing made to order by experienced workmen at short notice and at the lowest prices. A large stock of piece goods to select from. Ready-made clothing of all sizes and styles.

Weekly Coal Report.

Now is the time to buy coal unless you want to pay a higher price for it after October 1st. This is the advice the anthracite coal shippers are giving their customers. The local anthracite coal trade is at last becoming active after several months of almost unprecedented stagnation. The demand for egg, stove and chestnut sizes is excellent, and during the past week the shippers have been in receipt of a large number of orders from the line and city retail dealers. The prospect of increased prices for the domestic sizes has stimulated the demand for them, and the cooler atmosphere of the past several days has advanced the consumption of fuel. The outlook for large sales of anthracite in October is good, and the sales agents of several of the companies, as well as some of the individual operators, report that they have already booked sufficient orders for delivery next month to take up the entire output of their collieries until November 1st. Consequently, to supply the demand for coal satisfactorily, it would be necessary to draw upon the large stocks of coal accumulated at tidewater and interior stocking points. Briefly stated, the anthracite trade will be very brisk in October, and in the following month a falling off in activity is expected. The sales agents, at their meeting in New York on Thursday last, advanced the prices for anthracite for tidewater shipments 10 cents per ton for broken and egg sizes, 15 cents for stove and 20 cents for chestnut. The sales agents of the Reading, Lehigh Valley and Lehigh Navigation Co. for a day or two past, and the result will probably be an advance of from 10 to 15 cents per ton for coal to the line and city trade, to take effect on the 1st proximo.

The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending September 29, as reported by the several carrying companies, was 781,939 tons, compared with 755,320 tons in the corresponding week last year, an increase of 26,619 tons. The total amount of anthracite mined thus far in the year 1890 was 24,169,370 tons compared with 24,656,412 tons for the same period last year, a decrease of 487,042 tons.—Ledger.

Knights of the Golden Eagle.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle is one of the most flourishing and progressive Orders in existence. It is a secret benevolent, beneficent society, organized and established in Baltimore, Md., February 24, 1871. It was introduced into Pennsylvania, under the name of the Order of Keystone Castle, No. 1, of Philadelphia.

OBJECTS OF THE ORDER.

The primary objects of the Order are to promote the true benevolence by associating its members together for the purpose of mutual relief against the trials and afflictions of sickness, old age, and death, so far as they may be mitigated by the aid of the Order, and to secure care for and protect the widows and orphans, to assist those out of employment, to encourage the general education, to maintain the condition of humanity in every possible manner, to stimulate moral and mental culture, and by wholesome and judicious counsel and social intercourse to elevate the masses of the people to a higher and nobler life, and for the propagation and dissemination of the principles of benevolence and charity.

No person can be admitted to membership or be initiated into mysteries of the Order who is not a native-born citizen of the United States, a believer in the existence of a Supreme Being, and in the Christian faith, free from any criminal or infamous conviction, competent to support himself and family, and living in the enjoyment of his civil and political rights.

The regulations of the Order are simple and speaking many tongues. The great majority are young men from the various walks of life, from the trades as well as the professions, and physicians, clergymen, mechanics, and all classes of the community. They join hand-in-hand in advancing the principles of a common brotherhood. The constant aim is to promote the mutual pleasure and welfare of the members. The Order is a fraternal, non-political, business of a moral, benevolent and charitable character. It seeks to elevate mankind generally.

The military feature is one of the most pleasant and attractive and adds greatly to the interest of the Order. The members wear a uniform of cross handle and white metal sword, and are provided with a set of appropriate dress. The military exercises are beautiful, although it is not obligatory for all the Knights to participate in this feature, the thousands of young men in the Order are encouraged and advanced, and Commanderies are being organized in almost every State. The Uniformed Commanderies are separate organizations, formed after the style of military companies and equipped with regiments or battalions, as they may prefer.

The regalia of the Order is simple and beautiful. It consists of a silk ribbon badge worn upon the left breast, suspended from the ribbon is a medalion, containing the representation of an angel crowning a Knight.

BUSINESS FEATURES.

Each Castle possesses the power to regulate its own affairs, assessment and fees, as well as may be determined by a vote of the members. All business, except balloting for and conferring the higher degrees of the Order, is transacted in the First, or Pilgrim's Degree. There is only one password, which is issued semi-annually. A member of this Order, who is not a member of any other in the United States or Canada, provided he is in possession of the term password.

During the four years—1886, 1887, 1888 and 1889—27 Castles were instituted in Pennsylvania and the membership increased 24,394. Since the introduction of the Order into this State $213,491.25 has been expended for the relief of the sick and distressed, and the care of the widows and orphans and the burial of the dead.
