As iron mill in New Haven has put up its shutters after six months life under the increased duty on scrap iron—the raw material used in its busines. The duty of $6.72 per ton on an article which cannot be obtained on an article which cannot be obtained in sufficient quantities in this country made the work of 125 men unprofitable, and the McKinley bill claims another industry as a victim of protection. High tariff and no work will furnish food for thought to those 125 membloyed unemployed.

Cossiderable speculation is being indulged in by employers in this section of the country as to what will be done by the miners in regard to the eight hour movement which is about being inaugurated on the first of May. Had the workingmen of the Anthracite region been organized as they should be, even if they had no intention to strike, this worry on the part of the operators would be more severe than it is at present. While the miners of this section of the Anthracite region have taken no part in the movement for an eight hour day at this time, the movements and actions of their fellow workmen in the west will be watched with great interest. indulged in by employers in this sec-

The present controversy going on in this State and New York over the personal tax bills at Harrisburg and Albany will contribute largely to the education of both the farmers and editors on the question of taxation.

Ax opportunity to do a great in justice to merchants is by falsely reporting their business standing to a mercantile agency. An Illinois firm has sued Bradstreets agency for $200,000 damages for misrepresenting their financial standing.

In an interview at Pittsburg Tom Cooper, ex-Chairman of the Republican State Committee, opposes any tinkering with the Constitution in relation to ballot reform. No one has yet accused him of favoring any kind of ballot reform. Being a Republican machine boss, his position was already known without substantiating it by his own word.

The Republicans who were anticipating the pleasure of seeing a factional fight between the adherents of the Cleveland and the Hill Democrats find themselves confronted with the prospects of a war in their own party, which seems destined to shatter the prospects. Blaine and Benny are both in the field, and there's fun already for meal estate on Chestnut street, in Philadelphia No wire land is lightly and there's fun ahead for the Democrats.

cured by mortgages when the real estate is within the Commonwealth. The farmers in Pennsylvania, who are shouting for a change to the Massachusetts system of taxing everything, should make a mental note of the working of the system where it has been tried. By driving personal property out of the reach of the tax-gatherers the farmers have driven away agricultural property. Go where you will in Massachusetts, a little distance from the populous towns, and you will find a large percentage of the farming lands abandoned. Capital, instead of flowing into the State, is flowing out of it. A movement is on foot to counteract the tide of depression by abolishing the tax on personal property altogether. The tax-layers and taxpayers of Massachusetts are beginning to see their mistake at the moment when the tax-layers of Pennsylvania are asked to butt their heads blindly against a stone wall.

The South and Its Enemies.

Since the recent visit of the President at a vary through the South nothing more should be required to disprove the featurnies published continually by Republican newspapers about sectional feeling. Everywhere the party was shown the greatest honor—States and individuals view with one another in their endeavors to accord them some of their unbounded generosity. The man Harrison, his contemptible Force bill and his low life partisan actions were forgotten. The South thought of him only as the representative of a united nation, and honored him as such. The episode should serve as a lesson to those nari-
