Vanaered Away From Home. On Saturday afternoon last, Mrs. Ehrmisch, mother of Charles and Robert Ehrmisch, of Hazleton, wandered away from her home and has not been heard of since. She is 77 years of age, about 5 feet high, and wore a blue striped calleo dress and woolen cap. She does not speak English and very poor German. Any person hearing of her whereabouts will confer a favor by informing either of her sons. Other papers please copy. —Plain Speaker.

A Fatal Accident at Beaver Meadow.

A ratal Accident in Beaver accusive. Daniel McLanghlin and his Hum-garian laborer, while working in their breast in Coxe Bres, and Co's Beaver Meadow colliery on Tuesday afternoon, were almost buriel under a heavy fall of coal. The Hungarian was instantly killed and Mr. McLaughlin received in-juries which will probably cosult fatally. Mr. McLaughlin has a wife and family in Ireland and the Hungarian also has a family in the old country. Mr. McLaugh-lin, of Ridge Street, this borough.

An obstruction has been placed in the way of the Jeddo Tonnel Company, which has commenced work on the big tunnel to be driven through the Nescopec mountain with the intention of draining the water out of the Ebervale mines and running the same into the little Nescopec creek. the water out of the Ebervale mines and running the same into the little Nescopec creek. There was filed in the Prothonotary's office Monday a bill in equity in which a number of farmers along the creek. Charles W. Williams, Richard N. Wil-liams, John F. Alse, W. A. Roth, Ed-ward Jacobs and others, are the plain-tiffs, and the Tunnel company the defendants. The farmers ask that the companies be restrained from carrying out the undertaking for which they are chartered, and from running the mine water into the little Nescopec creek. They claim that they use the water of the creek for watering their horses and irrigating their lands, and that it is ab-solutely necessary for these purposes. The mine water if run into the creek would render it utterly useless for these purposes. It would kill vegetation and be unfit for domestic purposes or water-ing stock. They also file an affidavit from Dr. George A. Koenig, Professor of metallurgy and inheralogy in the Uni-versity of Pennsylvania, who gives an analysis of the water taken from the Lattimer mines and states under oath that such water would destroy all vege-tation and be totally unit for domestic uses.

Wants the Big Tunnel Stopped.

The Work of the Mine Commission. When the Commission, to revise and amend the mine and ventilation laws of the Anthracite coal fields, was appointed by the Governor a few months ago it was expression of the commission of the anthracite coal fields, was appointed in the commission of the commission of the laws, which and others employed in and about the anines, and that the most defective parts of the laws, as they now stand, would be amended in such a manner as to render them of some value to those whom they governed. This, however, has not been realized, but, instead, has been just the every set in some respects. Through the utter disregard of the interests of the flow-workers, and their inability (7) to live for a few weeks without the couple of dollars they had earned by their labor, four members of the Commission, ramely, about a very complicated condition of affairs and necessitated the issuing of two reports. At a meeting of the Commission two affairs and necessitated the issuing of two reports. At a meeting of the Commission two weeks ago a report was drawn up which was presented to them for their approval. It was signed by all the members of the Commission except the two operators, who refused to approve of it, claiming it would be detrimental to their interests. Among other minor amendments this re-port recommended the following : First-One making the office of mine inspector elective.

Angriess. -An old bustle belonging to Miss Maggie Schutt of Derry, Westmoreland county, who died last week, on being opened was found to contain $9000. The woman had used the bustle for a safe-keeping place.

General 0.0. Howard, U. S. Hubbard Brothers, Philadelphia, 'Di. The public will greet with much in-terest this complete biography of the last of the great Union Generals. Sher-man's autobiography, published years ago, was only a partial record of his ca-reer, and until the appearance of the present volume, a full history of the graphic power; due prominence is given in his eventful life is portrayed with graphic power; due prominence is given to his social and personal traits in times of peace; there is a compilation of many of his best letters, etc.; and a closing touch of interest is added in the tributes and eulogies pronunced above him since his death, and the estimate of his mili-tary genies and his personal character made by those who knew him best. Mr. Johnson has done his work as a historian well, giving a narrative that is at once coherent, complete, fascinating in inter-get, and evidently imbued with earnest Howard, who was one of Sherman's closest comrades, has reviewed the entire work, insuring its absolute accuracy in matters of military detail, and has writ-ten an introduction. The volume is pro-fusely and eleganty illustrated with ad-mitaby-excented portraits, war scones, etc., and eleganty illustrate with ad-mitaby by the set biography of one of the greatest generals of modern times.
