REPORT OF STREET COMMITTEE.
The street committee reported that they had conferred with the borough solicitor in regard to the opening and extension of Pine Street, and recommended that the court be petitioned to appoint viewers to assess the damages and report to court. A list of ten names was presented, from which five are to be selected to act as viewers. The borough solicitor was instructed to take the necessary steps to have viewers appointed.

Under this report the question of sewerage came up, and a motion was made and agreed to that notices be published and an election be held in accordance with the ordinance recently passed, for the purpose of raising money for sewers.

A discussion arose as to the most suitable sizes of pipe for the different streets, and authority was given the street committee to employ a competent person to give estimates on the sizes of pipe to be used, the manner in which they shall be laid, the depth of ground to place them and that the committee report at the next meeting.

PETITION TO WIDEN CENTRE STREET.
A petition was presented from property owners asking that some means be taken to widen Centre Street from Walnut to Chestnut. It was laid over until the next meeting.

William Williamson, on behalf of the Williamson estate, offered to give Council five feet of ground on Walnut Street for the purpose of a sidewalk, providing the borough would lay a gutter and sidewalk (the street being reserved in their deed for a sidewalk). The proposition was accepted.

A communication from the Citizens' Hose Company was read, protesting against the election of Mr. Daubert as janitor of the ground that he is not a member of the company. A motion was agreed to that the directors of the fire company be notified to be present at the next meeting of Council to discuss the matter.

Burgess Powell asked for information about show licenses being reduced for small halls but no action was taken on the subject.

Street Commissioner Burton asked for 800 feet of stone for street crossings, claiming that at least that much is necessary. The street committee was instructed to accompany the commissioner and ascertain what amount is needed and to procure the same. There being no further business council adjourned to meet in regular session on June 1.

Favoring Free Delivery.

The free delivery system, proposed last week by the TRIBUNE, is heartily endorsed by the business men and residents. The Progress and Plain Speaker promptly seconded the Tribune's plea, the former stating that "free delivery is good" and the P. M. is with the citizens in trying to procure it. The Speaker also says Freeland is entitled to a trial of the system, and its editor highly commends the people of this town. He says: "Freeland is a live town with a good share of live people in it, and there is no doubt that the system of free postal delivery could be maintained in keeping with the regulation of the Post Office Department. Freeland is a town which has attained its present thrift and progress through the energy, thrift and intelligence of its pioneers. It must not be forgotten that Freeland was opened into a town by men who had little more than their brains and sinew to help them along. They were nearly all poor men ten years ago, and now it is a pleasure to step into our neighboring borough, and see a comparatively large and well regulated town, where ten years ago there were only a few scattered houses and poorly defined streets. Other towns have grown more rapidly, of course, but they have been built by moneyed men and speculators, but Freeland was built by the blood and sweat of most of its present inhabitants. Yes give it free delivery, for, for the give it anything it asks people are made of the material that generally backs up all requests.

Knights of the Golden Eagle.

Tuesday was Knights of the Golden Eagle day in Pottsville, and it was characterized by the opening of the annual session of the Grand Castle and the State parade, which was participated in by about 2500 uniformed men. Grand Chief Casselberry made the opening address, and then submitted his annual report. During the last 13 months 63 castles were instituted, making a total of 415 and membership of 38,000.

The parade took place at 2 o'clock, and was very brilliant. The town was crowded, there being over 20,000 strangers present. The feature of the parade was the contest of the commanderies for prizes. A Board of Judges was selected. General D. H. Hastings was a member, but, owing to sickness in his family, could not attend, and telegraphed his regrets.

BASE BALL.

The opening game this season was not exactly of the kind to arouse the enthusiasm of former years, and a few more of the same sort would dampen the ardor of the patrons of the sport in this vicinity. The game, or rather the portion of a game, for it did not last quite five innings, was witnessed by a considerable number, but it was evident from the start that each of the two teams and dash of the Freeland players was lacking. It looked as if during the winter they had allowed a great deal of rust to accumulate in their bones, while their opponents from Mahanoy City handled the ball and bat with all the elegance displayed by bona fide members of the profession. This can be accounted for in many ways. The Schuylkill people have had several games already this season and were all in good trim to play ball. Freeland had no practice yet this year and were also handicapped by the absence of several players, substitutes for which were obtained from Hazleton. It is hardly just to designate the team as the Freeland Club, but as the game was played on its grounds Freeland must take the credit of a defeat.

The game opened with the double umpire system, and neither side succeeded in scoring until the fifth inning, when Mahanoy obtained one run by a hit, the ball dropping fully six feet outside the line. Umpire Horgan, however, could not see it in the same light as every other person on the grounds and the run was allowed. Freeland made but little objection to this injustice, but the next two innings were so filled with rank decisions that it was impossible to continue. Mahanoy was playing gilded ball, while Freeland was doing the reverse, and there was no occasion or necessity for the partially shown view by the Mahanoy umpire. The decisions of Umpire Bonner, of Freeland, were satisfactory, and no opportunity was given the visitors to complain. With one man out and the score 6 to 1 in the fifth inning, a Mahanoy runner attempted to come home and was caught at the plate by Simmons. To the surprise of the players and the disgust of the audience the man was declared "all right" by the umpire. The runner was allowed to proceed, and upon it being repeated he removed his gloves and mask and the Freeland team was called off the field. So ended the first game of the season.

The club representing Freeland was outbatted and outplayed at every point as far as the game had proceeded. The score:

Hazleton sends a large delegation to see every game played at Freeland, and the Sentinel of Monday last tried to work itself into convulsions because Sunday games "go" over here. Before mentioning a word about the exhibition, let us disagree about the Sentinel should avoid crowding out accounts of the debauchery and revels carried on nightly in Hazleton. By turning its attention occasionally to home affairs it can procure enough material to fill its columns about Sabbath desecration and such without coming to Freeland. When this town gets down as low in the scale of morality as Hazleton it will be time for the "holier-than-thou" people of the Sentinel to lift their hands in hypocritical horror at Freeland's ungodliness.

There is not an amateur player in Pennsylvania who has more regard for the game or loves fair play better than Catcher Simmons. His work is noticeable for its entire absence of "kicking" and he will stand an unlimited amount of imposition before giving back talk to an umpire. But Mr. Horgan, of Mahanoy, was too much for him on Sunday, and when Jimmy objected to the last decision the Freeland players knew it was time to end the farce.

The strong Tamaqua Club will open the Drifton Park on Saturday afternoon with the club from this place. Manager Cox has selected the best players for this contest and Drifton can be relied upon to put up a stiff game. Play will commence at 4.15, to be followed by a picnic. Dancing and refreshments for the afternoon and evening. Depiero's Orchestra will provide the music.

Freeland's new uniforms are of a very serviceable material and show to good advantage on the field. It is hoped that in future games they will be worn by the regular members of the Freeland Club, and then there need be little fear of meeting defeat by poor playing. The old uniforms are not ready for the shelf for some time, and until their superiors are found the club does not require outside assistance.

Next Wednesday the Soapies Base Ball Association will hold a picnic at the Firemen's Park. The organization intends placing the club on a sound financial basis and deserve the patronage of the base ball clubs of the Freeland Club, a sports set and will make it pleasant for all who tender them a visit. Depiero's Orchestra will entertain those present.

Veterans of the late war should keep their eyes open, there is a new swindler at work here. This time it is a canvasser pretending to be securing dates for a soldiers' history. The questions asked are cheerfully and correctly answered by all. After the information has been written out the unsuspecting informant is requested to sign it, being assured it is only wanted as authority for publishing. After a few days those interviewed are furnished a $15 history, and are surprised to find their signatures to a contract agreeing to take the book.

LABOR AT HARRISBURG.

Corporation Members Run the Legislature to Suit Their Masters.

P. F. Caffrey, of the Legislative Committee, in his report of the doings of that body says:

Edward Williams, of Luzerne County, P. F. Dever, P. F. Brennan and Wm. B. Downing, of Schuylkill County, four miners who were appointed on the committee to revise the anthracite mine laws, deserted their post of duty and the interests of their brother miners and joined with the coal operators in defeating, or striking out, the liability section, which was the most important section of the proposed bill. Words cannot express the humiliation which every advocate of human rights feels when he views such infamous and treasonable conduct, perpetrated by men who were selected on the recommendation of organized labor by a friendly executive. All honest men should refuse to ever associate with them. Senator Hines made an able speech in favor of the Docketage Bill, but Senator Thompson came to the rescue of the coal companies, abused Senator Hines, defended the iniquitous docketage system, and appealed to the Republican side of the Senate to defeat the bill. Eleven Democrats voted aye and sixteen Republicans voted nay, the bill was defeated. Senator Upperman, of Allegheny County, still holds in his pocket the Company Store and Checkweighman Bills, which passed the House over three months ago. If labor in Pennsylvania ever hopes to have its rights and receive consideration in the Legislative halls of the State, it must all unite and select its nominees right from the mills, mines, factories and workshops. It must educate and organize.

JEFFREY'S AMENDMENTS KNOCKED OUT.
Jeffrey Sweeney, in his letter to the Speaker, tells how the corporation members rule at Harrisburg. The following is an instance:

The bill drawn up for the revision of the mine laws for the anthracite coal fields is now before the Legislature. Late Thursday Representative Jeffrey offered a resolution for the purpose of advancing the bill, by giving it a special order. The resolution was agreed to, and the bill was read a second time and passed, but was considerably amended in the morning. Mr. Jeffrey made an effort to insert in the bill the liability clause which was at one time put in a similar bill by the commission that was appointed by the Governor to frame a mine law, but which was afterwards struck out at Scranton. At the request of the coal operators, the corporation members of the House raised a howl against Mr. Jeffrey's amendment and threatened to defeat the bill in its entirety if the amendment was not withdrawn. The amendment was not withdrawn. Now the members of the anthracite region are discussing among themselves if it would not have been better to allow the corporation men to carry out their threat and defeat the bill, the simple reason being that it will not make the mine law any better than those that are in operation at present.

PASSES THE HOUSE FINALLY.
This bill was called up on Tuesday and on a vote of 149 to 1 passed third reading. It is a piece of useless legislation, though its high-sounding title says it is a bill to provide for the health and safety of the people. The bill is a piece of legislation that will do nothing to protect the anthracite coal mines, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith. The bill practically allows the Board of Examiners to make appointments of inspectors. The new law must insure general approval of the operators, and those are the "men" who inspire these peculiar comments in the Ledger.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION BILL.
Tuesday afternoon Representative Wherry moved to take up his Constitutional Convention bill, which had been postponed at the morning session. Mr. Wherry replied that the House could consider his bill and do as it saw fit with it. On the motion to take up the bill the yeas and nays were called, resulting—yeas, 63; nays, 90. The motion was defeated by a strictly party vote, the Republicans again emphasizing their opposition to everything that savors of reform.

Weekly Coal Trade.

The anthracite coal trade is fairly active for this season of the year. Reports from nearly all quarters note an improvement in the demand for coal and strengthening prices. Buyers in the East have evidently reached the conclusion that now is a good time to buy coal, and they are therefore purchasing more liberally than for some time past. There is much more inquiry for coal and prices are very well maintained, and the actual selling prices for anthracite being now nearer the full circular figures than they have been at any time for a year past. The surplus stocks of coal in all parts of the country appear to have gone into consumption, notwithstanding the output thus far this year is two million tons in excess of that of last year, and the corresponding date. There is also noted more confidence regarding the future of the anthracite business, and this feeling is growing. The anthracite producing and carrying companies are still working in a moneyed way, and if they do not again permit too much over-production, which can only result in depressing prices, there is every likelihood that there will be considerable business done at better prices than those now ruling, and that the trade will continue in healthy shape during the remainder of the year.

The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending May 21, as reported by the several carrying companies, was 783,101 tons, compared with 695,300 tons in the corresponding week last year, an increase of 177,705 tons. The total amount of anthracite mined thus far in the year 1891 was 11,079,914 tons, compared with 9,164,142 tons for the same period last year, an increase of 1,925,772 tons.—Ledger.

Died from a Kick.

John Kleina, Hungarian, employed by Contractor King, in driving the tunnel to drain the Ebervale and Jeddo mines, met with an accident on Friday, resulting in his death on Saturday night. Kleina had turned his mules into a field when endeavoring to capture them, one of the animals kicked him on the temple. Two physicians were called and did everything in their power to save the man's life, but without success. It was rumored that the man had been fatally dealt with, and the coroner thereupon requested Deputy Coroner Buckley to investigate the case. A coroner's jury was empanelled on Monday and after examining a number of witnesses a verdict of accidental death, by the kick of a mule, was rendered.—Standard.
