Governor Pattison Signs the Bill to Abollon Since the passage of the bill relating to company stores, which was rushed through on the last day of the session, the Trinunk has endeavored to obtain some definite information regarding its contents. Secretary Caffrey, of the K. Of L. Legislative Committee, says the bill was not amended in the House or Senate, but passed as introduced on January 21 by Representative Farrel, It traveled slowly through the Legislature and it was only by the hardest work of the committee, assisted by the mining representatives, that it was passed. Had there been time on May 27 for its discussion it would undoubtedly have been killed by the Senate, from whose committee it was brought out that morning by Senator Hines and others. As it was the time was short and by a little strategy it passed intact. Governor Pattison, true to the pledges he made to the people of this State, signed the bill Tuesday afternoon. As introduced in the House it reads as follows:

Secritor 1. On and after the passage of this act, it shall not be lawful for any mining or manufacturing corporation of this Commonwealth, or the officers or stockholders of any

The Ashley correspondent of the Newsdeeler says: "We have been informed by a number of councilmen that at their next meeting they will ask the citizens for a loan of $100,000 to grade all the streets and run a sewer to empty into the Susquehanna river."

And a few people in Freeland think a loan of little more than one-twentieth of of this amount will bankrupt the borough and saddle the people with high taxes for years to come.

Death From Apoplexy.

Friday morning Thomas J. Walters died at his residence from a sudden stroke of apoplexy. He was aged 46 years, 3 months and 20 days, and had been ill for some time. The interment took place Sunday afternoon at Freeland by a number of friends and relatives, together with Machemieck Tribe, Red Men; Drifton Lodge, Old Fellows, and Silver Wave Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

This is a most encouraging start in raising the necessary collateral to buy instruments and the amount will be further increased by the proceeds of a grand hop at the opera House on June 20. Sharps and flats and semi-quivers are the principal optics discussed among the members, who are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the big bass drum and its auxiliaries.

SEWERAGE.

The time for yoting upon the question of increasing the borough indebtedness for the purpose of sewering the town is drawing near, and that the matter may be decided satisfactorily to the majority of the tax payers it is the duty of every citizen to cast a ballot for or against. the measure. If the indebtedness is to be increased the vote should be a decisive one, and it will then give to council and those who advocate sewerage the encouragement and incentive to enter upon the completion of the project. If the voters prefer not to increase the borough debt let the decision be arrived at by the majority of citizens saying so.

To have the question settled either way by a light vote, owing to the apathy of those especially interested, will leave it as far from remaining settled as if no election had been held. Whatever may be the result it should be a true test of public feeling and the advocates and opponents of sewerage can do the council and themselves no greater favor than by going to the poll on Tuesday and casting their ballots according to their convictions. A full, free and candid expression of public polnion is necessary to decide the issue.

No doubt there are some who are going to the poll on Tuesday and casting their ballots according to their convictions. A full, free and candid expression of public opinion is necessary to decide the issue.

No doubt there are some who are honest in their opposition to sewerage, believing that the tax rate to carry it into effect will be swelled to immense proportions. The proposed increase is less than $6,000, and anyone who wishes to stop and think a moment will see at a glance that the increase in taxes will be almed imperciptible, considering the bear of the control of a probable increase in taxes promot an argument nearly as weak as present an argument nearly as weak as present an argument nearly as weak as present an argument as everage is unnecessary. Both of those claims are too absurt to daspect to sare voters when they know thomselves that all such talk is nothing but "bosh." It would be much more dignified or those people and their opposition would command more respect fifthey would compand more respect fifthey would not be people and their opposition would compand more respect fifthey would not be people and their opposition would compand more respect fifthey would not be people show that they have always been opposed to every improvement the borough has made, yet the town has advanced steadily despite their antagonism and will continue to advance while they can be kept in the minority. They may mean well enough and some, perhaps, are earnest in the views they hold, but it is nearly time they realized the futility of trying to retard the progressive spirit of the citizens. A few are everlastingly objecting to anything proposed by the present and past councils, and the only way to diset this backward tendency is by bringing out a ful oreasting gases of decaying matter. Sewers would carry off the refuse and stagnant waters which clog the gutters in several portions of the borough and remove the objectionable doors which arise during warm weather. Some people refuse to be impressed with the fact that these are unhealthy. They would prefer to wait and receive a lesson in cleanliness such as was given the borough of Plymouth a few years ago. That town has since expended ten times the amount of Freeland's proposed debt to avoid a repetition of the terrible scourge. Other towns, too, have been negligent in this respect until their folly has been brought home to them.

stories he had read about the wild people of the mining regions, he took to his heels.

Then the chase began in earnest, Robert M. by this time feeling certain that he had his eye upon the bank-looter and visions of the $6,000 reward danced around him, while the agent had his own opinion of the affair and as the cold perspiration glided down his back he concluded that Freeland is an unhealthy locality for strangers and began to make a hasty exit. Just as the pursued and pursuer found themselves on Centre Street the whistle of an approaching train was heard and with this both broke into a dead run, the drummer's coat-tails floating in the breeze and Rinker's venerable white plug bobbing up and down in a menacing manner. It was five and one-half blocks to the L. V. station and it looked like a race for life as both men flew past the Trinuxa office. On they went through the Points, neither gaining nor losing, knocking down several street urchins who failed to clear the way in time, and attracting the attention of pedestrians, who thought Robert M. was trying to arrest the man for selling bug powder or some other household article without a license. Again the whistle sounded and with a desperate effort the High Constable made a plucky spirt, caught up with the agent, grasped the outspread coat-tails and began "I

The air is filled with fish stories this week, and one is going the rounds at the expense of a prominent jeweler and two other business men. These three anglers journeyed to the Oley on Tuesday and after vainly trying to induce the fish to bite they went into the stream after them, swimming and diving like ducks, utterly oblivious of the fact that they wore their best suits of clothes. There was no danger of drowning, as it is impossible to force water down their throats, and upon their return to terra firma the jeweler proposed a foot-race. When all were under a full head of steam the leader tripped over a canine from the Points, bringing the others down with him in a confused heap. They claim the earth suddenly rose up against them, and the concussion must have been terrific, judging from the lacerated portions of their anatomy. The air is filled with fish stories this

Discord in Republican Ranks.

Discord in Republican Ranks.

The Democrats of Luzerne fully understand with their Republican opponents the appointing power of a Judge, and they are therefore quite anxious for the success of the Democratic candidate, and as Lynch is certain to be the nominee, it goes without saying that he will poll the full vote of his party. The Republicans see this and are in quite a flurry over it. They want to retain political supremacy on the bench and will do their best to this end. But they note with dismay strong evidences of discord which foreshadow a break in party discipline this year and a consequent weakening of their vote unless all hands can unite on a popular candidate.—Scranton Truth,

The type of a printing office performs many strange things during its life. The TRINCYK is now printing constitutions for the Societa' Politica Garibaldi, the Freeland branch of the national Italian organization. The same letters have appeared in work done in the English, German, Irish, Welsh, Hungarian, Polish, Slavonic, Greek and Latin languages, and they still come up bright and smiling at every impression.

BASE BALL.

There will be a royal battle at the Park on Sunday afternoon between the strong Scranton Club and Freeland. The visitors have the honor of being the only team that has defeated Wilkes-Barre and the audience may depend upon seeing a good game. Freeland's admirers will be pleasantly surprised by the appearance of several new players. Game called at 3 P. M.

At a meeting of the Freeland Association it was decided to have the players sign a new form of contract. This will not be of the iron-clad order, but merely enough to protect the club and hold the men for local games. If a player gets an opportunity to better himself he will be at liberty to sign elsewhere.

At Philipsburg, N. J., on Saturday Drifton added another victory to their credit by defeating the club of that place. Drifton put up a good game and won with ease. Score—10 to 2.

A female club hailing from Cincinnati is drifting through the upper portion of Luzerne. Some of the players' names read like the "stars" of May Howard's Burlesque Company.

Jeanesville and Drifton, each having once defeated the other, will contest for supremacy on the former's grounds on Saturday.

Freeland is now working on a solic foundation, and the re-organization of the club will soon be completed A twirler from near Pittsburg and a well-known second baseman, late of Wilkes-Barre, will sign this week.

Jennings is playing a stiff game for Louisville. He has good reasons in doing so, for the eyes of every "crank" in this section of the State is upon him On Sunday he got one of the three him made by the team, and on Monday made two singles and a triple, the latter him winning the game.

John F. Stivetts, who is now pitching with such remarkable success for the St. Louis Browns, was born in Ashland and is twenty-three years old. His first professional engagement was in 1886 with a club of his native town. In 1888 he pitched for Allentown and made quite a record. The following season he pitched for and managed York. It was while pitching for this team in an exhibition game against the Browns that he attracted the attention of Yon der Ahe, who secured him on the spot. In the first nine games pitched for the Browns he struck out seventy men. To-day he is the peer of any pitcher living, and as a batsman stands head and shoulders over any twirler in the country.—Phila. Press.
