The Chicago Tribune, a stauch Republican organ, has an irresistible habit of telling the truth whenever it thinks such action is necessary. It talks right out in meeting without the slightest regard to the parson's views on the subject, and the other day exploded a little two-worded boom in the camp, the echoes of which can be heard all through the West. It sized up the McKinley bill, and after paying its respects to all protection measures in general, terms the former a "brainless blunder." The expression contains volumes condensed.

"But," says the Republicans, "give the law a chance." It has been in operation ten months, has accepted every chance and yet the business depression increases at an alarming rate. Great is the power of protection! Let the country have more of it, and see if the voters can't be brought to their senses.

A movement is on foot, with every prospect of success, to unite the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul in one great city. Strangely enough, the greatest difficulty seems to be the selection of an ame. Half a dozen or more barbarous compounds of the two present names have been suggested, ranging from "Minneapol" to "Paulopolis." Paul and Minne have been squabbling for years about their respective greatness, and the proposed union will put an end to all kinds of bickering. It is also very probable that before the next census Brooklyn and New York will be united. If these municipal marriages are successful Chicago will cast sheep's eyes at St. Louis and take her erstwhile rival for a partner.

The miners and laborers around here are going fairly wild over the high tariff. Why, they wouldn't be without the article for anything. It is the greatest blessing that was ever conferred upon any class of workingmen. It prevents trouble among them; it prevents trouble among them; it prevents strikes; it enables the operators to run their collieries without interruption; it makes the power of the boss omnipotent; the miner doesn't get chance to kick, which saves him much mental and bodily suffering; it gives the laborer a chance to knock off work and enjoy a vacation at the seaside, for there are always plenty of men around to accept a job, thanks to the high tariff. Yes, a high tariff is a great blessing to the miners and laborers. No wonder they throw their hats in the air and shout for it.—Newsededer. How can you be so sarcastic? Lot the party of the bloody shirt and looted treasury die in peace.

WHILE the Republican organs everywhere are making frantic appeals to their misguided devotees to "get together" they fail to notice that about three-fourths of the party are making desperate efforts to get from under the next Democratic landshide. They are getting together on sender the next Democratic landshide. They are getting together on sender the next Democratic landshide. They are getting together on short in the state of the political fence as fas as they can pull the wool from their eyes.

Aganser the drop in wool, the slump in iron, and the general inneity in business operations the high taring gentry oppose an assertive silence. They cannot account for it all: therefore they sit on their haunches and hope that the farmers with their big crops will pull them out of the ditch. Meantime the voters are considering and comparing the last year's prophecies with this year's facts.—Record.

Hannoxy among Luzerne County Republicans is spelled at Wilkes Barre with a little 'h'. At the meeting in the First District on Tuesday to send a representative to the State convention elected Chus. A Miner, and the spilt means a glorious war between the factions. More fun high the proposition of the comparison with most of the cases of paupers has also defined at the same time.

The cowardly attitude taken upon the semi-monthly pay and company store laws by the newspapers of the anthracite region is a disgrace. Editors whose journals are supported largely by workingmen are afraid to call attention to law-breaking corporations, for fear it might offend some of their anarchistic friends and result in the loss of a few dollars' patronage. Scarcely a dozen papers in the State have taken a stand upon these two questions, and while editors remain neutral operators defy the laws more openly every day. Speak out and demand the enforcement of at least those laws passed this year.

The reports given out by Brad.

A Skeleton State.

J. C. Wiegand, of Hazleton, who announces himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination of prothonotary, has every reason to feel pleased at the end of the strongest men received throughout the county. Without doubt he is one of the strongest men in the party, and the lower end would be ably represented on the ticket by his nomination. Of Mr. Wiegand's candidacy the Newsdeeler has this to say:

He is a first-class citizen and stands high in the estimation of all. He is in the fight to win, and with his political knowledge will get there if possible.
Although young in years he has both ability and ambition to make a successful official. Of good old German ancestry, educated, intelligent and agreeable,
he is just the sort of man the Democracy wants on the ticket this year. We are more than pleased to announce his candidacy, and believe that the convention will agree with us that he is the man that is needed for that important office.

The Power of the "Ad."

It is wonderful how a system of extensive advertising benefits the advertiser. Wanamaker's advertising has not only made him the millionaire that he is, but it also incidentally protects him against criticism in regard to his apparent crooked transaction and relation to the looted Keystone Bank, and with possibly few exceptions the newspapers enjoying his advertising patronage are either dumb as oysters in regard to his alleged participation in the bad business, or, pronounce his denial a complete and happy vindication. And the same is true in regard to his infamous job of raising a $400,000 corruption fund in 1888 to buy up "floaters in blocks of five." That most dispraceful achievement is seldom referred to even by Democratic papers carrying his advertisement. Therefore, it not only pays directly to advertise, but it also protects eminent reputation for "honesty" and "piety," even if both are bogus!—Mauch Chunk Democrat.

Feeling Politicians' Pulses

The Ecening Bulletin, of Philadelphia, has published a page of opinions of so-called representative men from all parts of the State on the constitutional conven-tion question. The consensus of opinion caned representative men from all parts of the State on the constitutional convention question. The consensus of opinion seems to be strongly opposed to a convention to revise the constitution. All the leading Republicans oppose it except Quay, who does not express himself. Powderly and his followers favor the convention. Such Democrats as Senator Ross, ex-Collector Bigler, ex-Senator Wallace and Secretary Harrity are opposed to it, while Attorney General Hensel and other prominent people uphold it. From present indications the convention will be defeated. Perhaps it would be better so, as most of the men proposed as delegates from both parties are tricksters who would knife every reform clause introduced.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., of Enosburgh Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereigh your subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to B. J. Kendall Co. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."
