

BASE BALL

Freeland at Wilkes-Barre, August 5. Frankville, of Philadelphia, at Freeland, August 9.

When Mike Heffron, of Shenandoah, went to bat in the eighth inning of Sunday's game the score was 10 to 9 in favor of the renowned club from the city of Reading. There were two men out and the prospects were very blue when Mike fanned twice in succession. Two strikes, two out and the bases full make matters rather interesting. The eyes of sixteen hundred people watched for the next ball. Fox steadied himself, the batter felt his responsibility and the park was as quiet as a graveyard. A swift outshoot came sailing in, but it failed to reach the catcher. Heffron caught it on the end of his bat and landed it safely out in left center for three bases. Welch, O'Hara and McGarvey trotted home and Heffron rested on third, where he was left by the next batter. But the hit won the game and did excellent work afterwards in right field. The playing of Goodhart, Welch and McGeehan was also very good. The score:

The Appeal Should Be Heard.
An earnest appeal has been issued for the "Home of the Good Shepherd," Scranton. The Home is an institution recently established and is in great need of funds to enlarge its opportunities for carrying forward the merciful work in which it is engaged. The creatures who are subjects of its special care appeal most eloquently, through their helplessness and pitiful condition, to the hearts of the charitable. The institution is non-sectarian. The most sorrowful singer is the most eligible candidate for admission within its portals. Its friendly doors are open to those who are spurned at all other doors, and within its walls there is hope for the stricken, and the promise of a new life even for those who have died the moral death, and forfeit the friendship of natural friends and protectors. A number of charitably disposed persons have already responded to the appeal, but their offerings are only "a drop in the bucket." A great deal of money is needed to enable those in charge of the Home to care for the many unfortunates entrusted to their care. It is to be hoped that Luzerne County will not be behind in lending a helping hand to this royal cause. Contributions can be sent to Rev. James O'Reilly, Cathedral Scranton. Bishop O'Hara contributed $500 yesterday.—Newsdealer.

Rapine—Old Style and New.
In the old time, when might had a mind to lord it over right, it took its good claymore in hand and went out in search of adventures. It slew its weaker adversary, appropriated to itself his lands, and cattle and kine, and came home in triumph, bringing stores of spoil and attended by knights in armor and slaves in chains. Then it gave itself a title and founded a dynasty, and got poets to sing its praises and fools to make it merry, and historians to write its legends and prowess for mere brute force and cunning, thieving craft and cruel pillage. Modern rapacity is more ingenious and less manly. The old ingenuity as least took its life in its hand and gave its own chance to write its legends and prowess for mere brute force and cunning, thieving craft and cruel pillage. The State Must Answer.
In portions of the coal, coke and iron regions of Pennsylvania the number of unemployed workmen with destitute families may be counted by thousands. In this condition it might readily be imagined that there is no real want of willing labor in those regions, but this would be a great mistake. In the demand for labor the unemployed men who are on the spot and ready to work are hardly taken into the account. The great corporations continue to make requisitions upon the newly imported immigrants, and the ranks of an unemployed "proletariat" are constantly growing in the coal and iron districts of this State. This is a social and economic problem which becomes more difficult of satisfactory solution as the years advance. The State, which has created the great coal companies, finds itself powerless to bring to bear upon these corporations such a pressure as would lead to a reform of the existing evils connected with the employment of labor. As the policy of these corporations toward their employees is dictated solely by selfishness and greed, they are loading upon themselves a weight of responsibility for which they or the State will, sooner or later, be compelled to answer at the bar of public opinion, if not in the courts of law.—Record.

Knights Will Enforce This Law.
At the convention of D. A. 16, K. of L., held at Archbald last week, arrangements were made for the various local assemblies throughout northeastern Pennsylvania to hold mass meetings at every colliery in the interest of the two weeks' pay bill, and to solicit aid from the press in an effort to enforce the law. Among the resolutions passed was one on this subject as follows: "That we call upon all working men to take an earnest interest in the observance of the semi-monthly pay law by the employers. Every infringement of that law should be promptly reported and punished. Every employe in the service of the corporations of this valley should be directed to demand his wages every two weeks, so that the violation of the law would rest with those who are loudest in their protestations against infringements of the law on the part of working men." From all indications the Knights mean to see that the law is enforced, notwithstanding the protests of the operators that the law is unconstitutional, and the matter will be carried into the courts if necessary.

No Law For These Anarchists.
At Silver Brook last week the company put up notices stating their intention of complying with the two weeks' pay bill by paying on Saturday. A change of spirit or something else came over the officials in the meantime. The notices were torn down and the company did not pay, thus showing an evident intention of not carrying out the provisions of the new law.—Speaker.

To Try Co-operation.
Co-operation is to be given another trial in Freeland. Some time ago the members of the Greek Catholic congregation formed the St. Mary's Co-operative Association, the title name being that of the church. The association intends to go into the business on a large scale, and purchased two lots on Fern Street, below main, nearly opposite the proposed location of the D. S. & S. depot. Contractor A. K. Burger has signed agreements for the erection of a large store and other buildings. The main structure will be 28x42 feet and 22 feet high. It will be equipped with all the latest appliances to facilitate business and is to be ready for occupancy by October 1. Work has been commenced on the foundation.
