CORNER-STONE LAYING.

Washington Camp Hall Association Will Erect a Handsome Building.

On Saturday the corner-stone of the building to be erected by Washington Camp Hall Association will be laid with appropriate ceremonies. The foundation of the edifice is almost completed, and portions of the framework were begun yesterday by Contractor J. B. Ziegler. Another tier of marble facing on the front will finish the foundation, and this is expected to be in position by Saturday. A stone from the famous entrenchments at Valley Forge, where General Washington spent a doleful winter with his army during the Revolutionary War, has been secured for the corner, and is in Hazleton now undergoing preparations for the purpose. It will be laid at the southeastern corner of the building in line with the marble facing.

The building will be three stories in height, built of White Haven brick, and the interior and exterior will be finished in a very artistic style. The lower floor is to be used for business purposes, the second for offices and the third as a meeting room. It will be surmounted by a large globe and eagle. The cost of the structure is estimated will amount to $7,700.

Hon. Eckley B. Cox, of Drifton, will act as chairman. During the ceremonies connected with the laying of the stone, F. P. Spiese, of Tamaqua, State President of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, will be the orator of the day, and a number of other prominent officers of the organization have signified their presence. At 2:30 P. M., a parade of the camps of this and neighboring districts will take place. The district extends from Stockton to Mountain Top and from White Haven to Shickleshim. All the camps located within these boundaries are expected, besides those from Hazleton, Anderson, Weatherly, Mauch Chunk and a number from Schuylkill County.

The association is a stock company and the outgrowth of Camp No. 147, but is now independent of the latter. The camp proper was instituted at Milton, Pa., in 1871, and lapsed in 1879. It was rechartered at Freeland in 1884. It is now in a flourishing condition financially, and has 195 members in good standing on its books. The officers of the association are as follows: President, J. B. Ziegler; vice president, H. L. Edmunds; directors, A. W. Washburn, Owen Fritzinger, J. F. Christman, H. G. Depe, H. C. Koons, J. J. Brobst, Geo. Schaub, Cyrus Reifenburg, William Williams and Charles Waldron. The public in general is invited to witness the ceremonies.

Bying Land in Monroe County.

William Williamson, John Schnee, S. Rudek and Anthony Stahl, who accompanied the excursion on Tuesday from Hazleton and points along the L. V. R. R. to Crisco, on the D. L. & W. R. R., where the party embarked on teams and were driven to Pleasant Ridge in Monroe County. The excursionists were under control of the Pleasant Ridge Land and Improvement Company, which is offering lots for sale. Some of the gentlemen named have already purchased.

Accidental Death at West Hazleton.

Yesterday afternoon Deputy Coroner Buckley was called to West Hazleton to investigate the death of Sarah A. Heller, domestic in the employ of Frank Hooven, of that place. A number of witnesses were examined, as was also the doctor who attended her. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Horns, Pipes and Drums.

The Slavonian Young Men's Band will make its first public appearance on October 10, when a ball for its benefit will be held at the Opera House. The Citizens and Polish Bands are also expected to make their debut in a short while. When these organizations become proficient Freeland should not suffer for a lack of music. Five bands, three drum corps and three orchestras the town can supply the region with any quantity.

More School Buildings.

At a meeting of the Foster Township School Board on Tuesday evening a committee reported that Eckley B. Cox had agreed to donate a plot of ground, 75x120 feet, at Birvanton for a school building. The number of children in this rapidly growing portion of the town is increasing, and they are badly in need of better educational quarters. The committee also tried to procure land for a similar purpose at Foundryville, but Mr. Cox could not give them anything which is not undetermined. Correspondence will be opened with the Union Improvement Company, which has property in that vicinity, with a view to obtaining suitable ground for building there.

At St. Ann's Church.

At St. Ann's Church on Sunday first mass will be read at 7 A. M. by Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara, of Scranton, and second mass by Father Fallhee at 8 o'clock. At 10 Father McNally will officiate at high mass, at which time confirmation services will be held by the bishop. Elaborate preparations have been made for conducting this sacrament. The choir will be composed of the following noted singers: Tenor, John H. Jones; John Collins, David Davis; bass, Chas. Moersbacher, John McDermott, William Rowlands; sopranos, Misses Ella McLaughlin, Aggie Kelly, Mary Reilly, Alice Houston, Mary Boyle; alto, Mrs. J. D. Hayes; Misses Sarah E. Deery, Rose Collins; organist, Miss Ella McLaughlin. Leonard's Mass in E flat will be sung.

At the regular annual election meeting of the Citizens' Hose Company the following officers were elected to serve for one year:

President—B. E. Rute.
Vice President—T. Campbell.
Secretary—Evan Woodring.
Treasurer—John M. Powell, 1st.

BURGLAR AND PICKPOCKET.

Frank Smith, Recently of Freeland, Is Landed in a Jersey Jail.

The Philadelphia papers on Sunday morning told of the arrest of a pickpocket at Camden the day previous. A number of passengers crossed the ferry to take the seashore train about 4 o'clock that afternoon. Among them was a Mrs. Fannie Smith, of Atlantic City, who was returning to her home from Philadelphia. Close to her walked the light-fingered gent, Frank Smith, of Danbury, Conn., who made a record here for himself by assisting to burglarize Getz's jewelry store last July. He was released from the county jail recently on account of Mr. Getz failing to appear against him, and the Tribune last week mentioned that he was too fast a young man to be allowed to run at large.

On Friday he disappeared from this place, going to Philadelphia, where Joe Horworth, who was also implicated in the burglary, is hiding. People cannot exist on air in that city any more than they can here, and as Frank was broke when he left town he found it necessary to return to the tricks he learned on the Bowery, where he lived before paying Freeland his disastrous visit. While stepping on the train Mrs. Smith felt some one jostling her more than was necessary. Fearing that an attempt was about to be made on her pocket, she instinctively dropped her hand to her side and caught hold of the hand of her thieving namesake, who had grabbed her purse. She screamed for help when Smith jumped off the car and ran down the street, but she was too late. He was arrested by Wm. Barnett and Thomas Cranran, two railroad employes, who went after him and brought him back, but not before he had given his pursuers a long chase. He returned the pocketbook to Mrs. Smith, and was held until an officer arrived and took him in charge.

Later in the day he was taken before Justice Cassidy. The accused was very cool throughout the hearing of testimony, and in a business-like manner demanded to know the amount of bail required to secure his liberty by furnishing $1000 bail. Frank was unable to induce any of the Jersey men in the office to become his bondsman, and Justice Cassidy committed him to the Camden County Jail to await trial.

Word was received from Camden yesterday in response to inquiries concerning the prisoner, and the officials there state that he is unknown to the police of that city or Philadelphia. He refuses to give any information, excepting his name and that he lives in New York. He is neatly dressed and a description of his clothing tallies with what he wore when leaving here.

The unveiling of the soldiers' monument at Pottsville next Thursday will be one of the biggest events in the history of that town. The gathering of old soldiers on this occasion will be very large, at least on thousand veterans being expected. The amount of anthracite under Beyer will command the Grand Army column in the parade and National Commander Miller will marshal the Union Veteran Legion. There will be a National Guard contingent, a secret society and a big war-steer firemen's division. At the same time a meeting of the First Defenders will take place. These are the survivors of the troops who responded first to the call for men during the war. The State has caused a number of medals to be struck for the First Defenders in recognition of their services, and these will be presented by Governor Pattison.

Mining Engineers to Meet.

The sixtieth meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers will be held at Glen Summit, beginning Tuesday evening, October 6. A very interesting programme has been arranged for the occasion. During the meeting papers on various subjects pertaining to mines and civil engineering will be read. Special discussion is expected upon the preparation and utilization of small sizes of anthracite coal. On Friday, October 8, an excursion will be made to the Lehigh region, including a trip to the iron breaker of Cox, Brothers & Co., at Drifton, and to the collieries where large seams are worked by strippings.

Sudden Death.

While enjoying a day off with a number of friends at the Honeyhole last Thursday John Leib suddenly became ill and expired almost instantly. Heart disease was the cause. He was aged 58 years, and had been employed in this region for 22 years. At one time he was a member of the Coal and Iron Police and was stationed at Buck Mountain. Later on he became master mechanic for Markle & Co., and afterwards held a position at Harleigh, but at the time of his death he was engaged as master mechanic at Sandy Run, where he resided. The funeral took place on Monday morning, interment being made at Pottsville. Four sons and three daughters survive him.

The Company Stores.

The first proceeding under the act of the Legislature forbidding corporations to run company stores was begun the other day before Attorney General Hensel. He was asked to issue his writ of quo warranto to summon into court the Rogers Forge Coal Company, of Bedford County, to show cause why its charter should not be forfeited because it runs a company store in connection with its coal business.

Card of Thanks.

On behalf of the Garibaldi Politica Society I return thanks to the P. O. S. of A. and the St. Patrick's Cornet Bands and the public at large for their kind attendance at the second annual ball of the society. SALVATORE DEPIERRO.
