—A. K. Burger yesterday contracted to build a church for the Greek Catholic congregation of Audenried. It will be the same size and design as the St. Mary's Church on Fern Street.

—A council of the Pocatons Degree, of the I. O. R. M., composed of women, was organized Friday evening at Lindsay's Hall by J. C. Tanner, of Easton. The council numbers over 60 members.

—Postmaster Wilde, of Hazleton, who is making a tour of the offices in this section of the county, visited Freeland on Friday. Everything here pertaining to Uncle Sam's business was found O. K.

—Albert E. Shive and Miss Katie McDermott were married at 10.30 A. M. noon. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents, Drifton, and was performed by Rev. F. P. McNally.

—Drifton Athletic Association will hold its first annual picnic at the park in that place on Saturday evening. Gillespie's Orchestra and refreshments of all kinds will be there. The picnic is invited.

—Theatre-goers will have an opportunity of seeing two good shows on the 2d and 6th. "My Colleen" and "The World" come well recommended by the press of the towns and cities where they have been played.

—Daniel Spayd died at Laurytown on Sunday, another victim to the epidemic of diarrhea, which is prevalent there. Mr. Spayd was one of the first residents of Highland, and afterwards lived at Sandy Run. He went to the almshouse with his wife about a year ago.

—From present indications the approaching anniversary of the birth of Father Mathew, October 10, will be commemorated in a befitting manner by the societies of the Scranton C. T. A. Union. The division parades will be held at Freeland, Carbondale and Avoa.

—Much dissatisfaction is said to prevail among the taxpayers of Foster Township, on account of the variation in their rate of assessment. The County Commissioners are being appealed to by many, but with very little effect, being in all cases referred to the assessor.

—Hugh McMenamin, of South Heberton, will be a candidate for supervisor of Foster Township before the Democratic Nominating Convention next spring. Mr. McMenamin is an old resident of the township, having resided and paid taxes in it for the past thirty-one years.

—The slate pickers at No. 2 breaker, Highland, struck on Tuesday for the removal of their boss, a Hun named Andrew Yuhas. The strike was of short duration, as the demands were reasonable and their demand granted. Jonah Stewart was appointed in place of the obnoxious foreman.

—The Heavenly Recruit convention began last evening at Bethany Chapel, and will continue until Sunday. Preaching every day at 10 A. M., 3 and 7.30 P. M. To-morrow at 9.30 A. M. a divine healing meeting will be held, and at 7.30 P. M. the Lord's Supper and feet washing will take place.

—W. C. Savidge, employed in the Drifton office and a resident of this place, has been missing for nearly two weeks. His friends are very reticent about the matter, and disclaim any knowledge of his whereabouts. His disappearance causes a vacancy in the Foster School Board. Much sympathy is expressed for his wife.

—"My Colleen" at the Opera House.

"My Colleen," an Irish comedy drama by James A. Hearne, author of "Hearts of Oak," will be seen in Freeland for the first time on Friday evening, October 2. The play comes heralded by the press as the strongest Irish comedy drama before the public. The author has received universal commendation for his unconventional, pure and life-like treatment of the Irish tenantry question. The play depicts the struggles of an Irish peasant prosecuted by the steward of a land owner whose plans of revenge are prevented by the devotion of a big-hearted Irish lad. The piece is a beautiful story, intensely interesting from start to finish. In the part of Jerry Doyle Tony Farrell has undoubtedly created the strongest character he has as yet been seen in. The comedy is first-class in every particular, while the scenic effects are the most elaborate as yet seen in any Irish production. Incidentally he introduces his ballads, the rendition of which have made him famous from Maine to California. Miss Jennie Leland, the captivating soprano, will be seen in the titular role of "My Colleen."

THE STONE LAID.

An Auspicious Commencement of the P. O. S. of A. Building.

The exercises in connection with the laying of the corner-stone of the Washington Camp Hall Association's building on Saturday were carried out as stated in previous issues. The number of societies in line was somewhat smaller than was expected, but otherwise the affair was a success. After the parade the assemblage gathered about the site of the building, where the Weatherly and P. O. S. of A. Bands rendered national airs. Eckley B. Cox acted as chairman, and the State President, F. P. Spiese, delivered a very able and entertaining address. His remarks were well received and were such as could be indorsed by all good citizens.

Upon concluding the stone was placed in position and in it were deposited the following: Copy of Camp News, containing history of Valley Forge; copy of Star of America, containing history of Camp 147; copy of Progress, copy of Tribune, bible, presented by W. C. Berner; constitution of P. O. S. of A., list of officers of association, one-cent piece of 1871, date of camp's institution; one-cent piece of 1884, date of camp's recharter; five-cent piece of 1883, without the word "cents"; five-cent piece of 1891, date of corner-stone laying; United States flag, declaration of independence and constitution of the United States.

H. L. Edmunds, secretary of the association; District President Wm. Vanacker; of Eckley; Ex-District President W. B. Brader, of White Haven, and Rev. E. D. Miller also took part in the exercises. Camp 39, Patriotic Order True Americans (ladies), sang "Columbia" and "Guard the Flag," and music again by the bands completed the programme.

A special meeting of the council was held Friday evening for the purpose of receiving proposals for sewer portions of Walnut, Chestnut and Centre Streets. Only one bid was presented and the matter will hold over until the regular meeting to be held on Monday evening next. A communication from the National Sewer Pipe Co., of Akron, Ohio, was read, stating that they could not supply the pipe at the prices they offered, unless a contract was made to give them the order for the whole town. It was decided to notify them to not ship the pipe, and a committee was appointed to visit the Wyoming Pipe Works, at Wyoming, this county, and order a supply for two sections of sewers. The committee carried out their instructions on Monday. Notice being given that one of the bondsmen of Contractor Gallagher was defective and that the contract was not yet signed, the secretary was instructed to notify Mr. Gallagher to procure another and sign the contract for the sewer work. Since the meeting Condy O. Boyle has become Mr. Gallagher's bondsman in place of Peter Carr. The contract has been signed and work will go on as usual.

A Favorite Here.

Tony Farrell, who appears here to-morrow evening in "My Colleen," is not a new name to Freeland theatre-goers. In a "Royal Pass" and the "Irish Corporal" he has been well received by previous gatherings. Of his acting here in the latter play the TRIBUNE said on January 29, 1891: "A more delighted audience than I have ever assembled at the Opera House than that which greeted Tony Farrell on Thursday evening. Mr. Farrell was ably assisted by Miss Jennie Leland and other members of the company, and presented the play in a manner which won the admiration of all. The star sang, among others, of a different nature, several songs which related to his native land and was loudly applauded. He was obliged to respond to numerous encores."

New Fake on the Road.

A soap swindler is guilting people in neighboring towns, selling a worthless compound for $2, and promising to send a law book to all purchasers, free of charge, which he never does. He may work around this way. Keep an eye open and make it interesting for him if he calls.

How the Death Occurred.

The rumor having been circulated that the late John Leib's death was caused from being engaged in a rowing contest, and that death occurred while in the boat, is false in every particular. The facts are as follows: Some time ago Mr. Leib expressed a desire to have a day's pleasure at the Honeyhole and to bring his family along. On the morning of his death he and family called at my house, and I took my wife and children and drove with them to the Honeyhole, where the forenoon was spent. About 12 o'clock two boats were procured and both families went up stream and on the return about 2.15 we landed. After landing Mr. Leib complained of being unwell. I gave him some brandy, which seemed to revive him somewhat, after which he stood at the table and took some refreshments and hot coffee. Later he complained of a pain in his breast and laid down. We made him comfortable by placing blankets under him, and while doing so he grasped me around the body, gave a gasp, leaned back and expired. A covered wagon was engaged and the remains taken to his late home. The facts stated above were given on the following morning to the Deputy Coroner, who declined to hold an inquest, stating that inasmuch as death occurred in presence of so many persons there was no cause for suspicion of violence. The facts stated above are true, all reports to the contrary being false. THOMAS BIRKBECK.

KING OF MINERALS.

Some Interesting Figures About Pennsylvania's Coal Trade.

Robert P. Porter, Superintendent of the Census, has issued an extra census bulletin, prepared by John H. Jones, special agent, showing the coal product in the United States. The paper is accompanied by maps showing the locations of the coal fields and the production in the United States for the census year 1889.

The following summary is made from the paper regarding the anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania, which is confined to the following counties: Carbon, Columbia, Dauphin, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Northumberland, Schuylkill, Sullivan and Susquehanna. The area of the entire region is about 1700 square miles, but the area underlain by workable coal beds is only about 470 square miles. This region produced in 1889 45,347,070 tons, against $157,936 in other States. The average price per ton of the entire product of the United States. The regular mines number 362 and the local 49 in the State, and but three in the rest of the Union. The spot value of the coal mined in 1889 was $68,721,578, against $157,936 in other States. The average price per ton of the coal mined in the State was $1.44. The employees numbered 124,203, with a grand total paid out for wages of $39,278,355. The grand total of all expenditures was $61,109,958, and the capital invested $161,784,473.

In Pennsylvania the number of tons of anthracite coal loaded at mines for shipment on railroad cars and boats was 40,114,901; sold to local trade at the mines, 1,163,539 tons; used by employees, 325,591 tons; for steam engines, 3,940,939 tons. The total average number employed above ground was 46,154. The average number of foremen or overseers employed was 564, at an average rate of wages per day of $2.71, with an average number of mechanics employed was 4270, at an average rate of wages per day of $1.92, with an average of 257 days' work. The average number of laborers employed was 23,779, at an average rate of wages per day of $1.29, with an average number of 198 days' work. The average number of boys under 16 employed was 17,091, at an average rate of wages per day of 62 cents, with an average of 185 days' employment.

The total number employed below ground was 77,522. The average number of foremen or overseers was 737, at an average rate of wages per day of $3.05, with an average number of 291 days' work. The average number of miners employed was 36,399, at the average wages per day of $2.40, with an average number of 179 days' employment. The average number of laborers employed was 35,376, at the average rate of wages per day of $1.65, with an average employment of 184 days. The average number of boys, under 16, employed was 4770, at an average rate of wages per day of 89 cents, with an average employment of 180 days. The coal land owned in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania embraces 107,282 acres, valued at $47,623,922. The leased land amounts to 106,656 acres, valued at $56,789,480. The value of buildings and fixtures is placed at $36,733,618; tools, implements, live stock, machinery and supplies, $14,110,617; total value of land, buildings, tools, etc., including a cash capital of $6,324,406, included in the foregoing items, $161,784,473.

Confirmation Services.

At St. Ann's Church on Sunday morning a large number of children and adults were confirmed by Bishop O'Hara. He was assisted by Fathers Fallihee, McNally and Maszotas, several members of the congregation receiving the sacrament. The reverend gentleman is aging rapidly, but preached a forcible sermon to the congregation and gave the little catechism with a vigor and energy which were under the supervision of Father McNally, were admirably conducted.

At the evening services twenty-eight young ladies were admitted to the Daughters of Mary.

Married Yesterday.

Patrick F. Gallagher and Miss Rose McHugh were married at St. Ann's Church yesterday morning by Father Fallihee. Andrew Brislin, of Hazleton, Hill, and Miss Rose A. McHugh, of Jeddo, acted as groomsmen and bridesmaid. After the ceremony they left for Allentown, where a few days will be spent, and from there they will go to Philadelphia for a short visit, upon their return the couple will go to house-keeping in the Points. They have the best wishes of the community.

The Star of the Season.

The daily papers are not yet done singing the praises of Hugh Jennings, whose remarkable work on the diamond this season has brought forth unstinted applause from the base ball world. A Louisville correspondent says of him in Sunday's Press:

Hugh Jennings, Louisville's shortstop, who is destined to obtain an even greater reputation than Herman Long, is in many respects a very interesting character. Before his entrance into the base ball two years ago, worked in a coal mine in a small town in Pennsylvania. His advent on the diamond was made at Lehigh, where he signed as a back stopper. Jennings describes Lehigh as being a beautiful place of about 2000 inhabitants, but he was somewhat lost while there, for of the 3000 residents half were Dutch except two, an Irish saloon-keeper and his sister. "I would never have come to Louisville," said he the other day, "if Manager Chapman had not sent me $100 in advance. To come from a place like that into the American Association was more than I could have hoped for, and I would never have reached Kentucky had I not been given the money in advance. I felt sure I would prove a failure, and I only brought enough wearing apparel to last me two weeks. If I was not certain that they would keep me long enough to work out the advance money." The position of short stop was new to Jennings when he came here, but when assigned to the position he played it like a veteran. Everything considered his playing, since he joined the Louisville Club, has been marvelous. Like all good players, he makes his errors, but goes after everything in sight, and the batsmen of the opposing clubs have suffered the loss of many base hits in consequence.

FOSTER'S SUPERVISORS.

The East Ends Want a Hand in the Making of Township Roads.

The White Haven Journal is in a position to understand the feeling existing among the taxpayers of East Foster, on the following remarks upon a recent item in the Tribune about Joseph Hand-long's candidacy will show:

Mr. Handlong or any other good man in East Foster ought to be elected one of the township's supervisors. In view of these officials have been chosen from other parts of the township, and the East District has accordingly suffered from a lack of attention on the part of the supervisors. The roads in this end of the township are an abomination. They are unsafe to travel, and are a standing disgrace to a wealthy and populous township. The farmers and taxpayers in the East District have been patient under their long suffering, and have made many appeals to the supervisors to fix their roads, only to have their requests refused and ignored. They were finally compelled to invoke the aid of the law to secure to them their natural rights, and their first effort in this direction has been crowned with success. Several years ago they ordered the opening of a new road in Oley Valley, which has long been needed by the farmers in that section. The supervisors deferred it from time to time, until last year supervisors Hugh Brogan and William Jennings were temporarily ordered to comply with the court's order. But, like their predecessors, they cared nothing for the necessities and requirements of the East ends, and calmly ignored the court's direction. The taxpayers of the East ends petitioned to the Grand Jury for neglect of duty, and they were indicted. They were found guilty in court, and were sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs, amounting to $150 more. If this wholesome lesson shall have been administered in view of the present supervisors and their immediate successors, then our neighboring taxpayers will again resort to the same methods to secure to them long-deferred and exact justice. In the meantime they would quite amply one of their own number as supervisor.

To Our Subscribers.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., of Enosburgh Falls, N.Y., publishers of A Treatise on the Horsemans' Diseases, whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to B. J. Kendall Co. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its theoretical and practical value to residents of States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."

Rates of Transportation.

The committee on transportation of the tenth of October parade have secured rates over the L. V. R. R. from the following places to Freeland and return on regular trains: White Haven, adults 45 cents, cadets 34 cents; Eckley, adults 25 cents, cadets 19 cents; Hazleton, adults 40 cents, cadets 30 cents; Union Deposit, adults 55 cents, cadets 31 cents; Beaver Meadow and Jeanesville, adults 60 cents, cadets 40 cents; Harleigh, adults 40 cents, cadets 30 cents. A special train will leave Milnesville, stopping at Harleigh, at 3.30 A. M. The time for leaving of other trains will be made known later.

Back to the Mines.

Representative Jeffrey, of the Fourth District, was among the visitors to Wilkes-Barre. When asked what he had been doing with himself since the adjournment of the Legislature, he exhibited a pair of hacked and horny palms, and answered: "Working in the mines for $1.64 a day." Mr. Jeffrey is of those who hold that, from a monetary standpoint, a seat in the Pennsylvania Legislature is a prize of questionable value. Nevertheless he will try it again and hopes, upon the coming occasion, to pull through without much trouble or cost.—Evening Leader.

Thanking Its Friends.

Washington Camp Hall Association at the last regular meeting resolved to extend a vote of thanks to Cox Bros. & Co., Upper Lehigh Coal Co., Markle & Co., and Sandy Run Co., who so kindly helped the corner-stone laying by declaring a half-holiday; also to the visiting camps and resident orders; also to the citizens of Freeland and surrounding towns who helped us along in the generous manner they did.

STATE NEWS.

—Judge Rockefeller refused to grant naturalization papers at Sunbury to a number of Huns and Poles, on the ground that they were not familiar with the Federal Constitution.

—John Wallesia, of Weatherly, a former engineer on the Lehigh Valley, had his tongue cut out at the Bethlehem Hospital. A cancer, caused by excessive smoking, was the trouble.

—Governor Pattison on Saturday evening issued a proclamation calling an extra session of the State Senate to meet on October 13, for the trial of charges made against Auditor General McCann and State Treasurer Boyer in connection with the Bardsley defalcation.

—J. B. Shearn, the Wilkes-Barre mine superintendent who eloped with Miss Ellen Williams, the soprano of that city, has returned to his family. His wife forgave him, but the girl's relatives had him arrested on charges in connection with the runaway. Shearn is under $1000 bail for court.

—A fierce fire is burning in the lower workings of the Delaware and Hudson Company's Conyngham colliery in Wilkes-Barre. The mine is one of the best owned by the company, and has been idle in part for several months, owing to the water. The time required to fill the vein and then pump it out will reach nearly to February 1.

—A systematic and thorough effort to find ex-cashier Livsey has failed utterly, and there is no probability for the statement that he has never been in Milwaukee; that all letters addressed to him here have been forwarded to an address in Canada, where he has been for some time, presumably since he left Harrisburg and resigned his place as cashier in the Treasury Department there.

—On September 1 the golden eborium in the tabernacle of Scranton Cathedral, valued at $500, was stolen by unknown parties. Detectives were put to work on the case with the result that it was returned yesterday. It was learned that a few days after it was stolen the vessel was shipped to Denver, Colorado, and the officials succeeded in intercepting it in the express office in that city.
