CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
Delegates

FREELAND, PA., OCTOBER 29, 1891.

Advices at Democratic county head-quarters give flattering reports of re-ceptions accorded to the party candi-dates wherever they have traveled. It is clearly evident from the present outlook that the ticket will be elected by a handsome majority. There is only one danger to be feared, that is a light vote. To insure success Democrats should see that every member of the party goes to the poll-on Tuesday. Do not let a grand vic-tory be missed through apathy.

The Pennsylvania Farmer, publish-The Pennsylvania Farmer, published at Meadville, is the recognized organ of the Grangers and Alliance in the north and northwest of the State, and it is in no sense a party organ. It calls upon the farmers of Pennsylvania to be true to themselves by the election of Tilden as State Treasurer, and its voice won't be unheeded. Quay wants a State Treasurer to cover up. Pattison wants a Treasurer who will turn on the light and open the books. Which leader will the people follow?

Refullicans have no great love for Chris. Wren, who has been Prothonotary for the past three years. He has never cared anything about the party and does not in this campaign. Wren is working hard, but it is for Wren only. His work, however, will amount to nothing on election day. Wiggand only. His work, however, will amount to nothing on election day. Wiegand will beat him out of sight. The Fourth District will roll up a majority for its candidate that will sweep him into office with a rush, and the lower end will thereby add another to its Democratic force at Wilkes-Parre.

Lee Stanton is making a noble fight for the office of Clerk of the Courts. His opponent, Bill Schwartz, is not worrying over the result, and considers himself entirely out of the race. In doing this Schwartz demonstrates that he possesses a little more common sense than the other men on the ticket. Mr. Stanton is one of the leading men in upper Luzerne, having been twice elected Burgess of the banner Republican borough in the county, West Pittston. He is expected to have the largest majority on the ticket, with the probable exception of Lynch.

The average reader of the daily newspapers who pays any attention to the proceedings going on in the Senate must be forcibly impressed with the fact that the majority party of that body is doing its level best to defeat a fair and thorough investigation. Every resolution offered which would assist in clearing the mystery of Boyer and McCamant's connection with Bardsley is voted down at once by a strict party vote. In violation of their sworn duty these brazen perjurers obstruct every attempt to bring the thieves to justice. Is it not time Pennsylvania was released from the power of the plunderers?

McCartney and his blatant profes-sional patriotism will fall outside the breastworks on Tucsday. Luzerne County wants a man to represent it in the District Attorney's office. Mc-Cartney is unable to fill the require-ments, morally or in any other man-Cartney is unable to fill the requirements, morally or in any other manner. Mayor Sutton, of Wilkes-Barre, has led a revolt in his own party against the demagogue, and Republicans are deserting their candidate by the wholesale. Give us a man without a stain upon his character and one whom his neighbors and townsmen respect. We want honorable men in honorable offices. Vote for John M. Garman, of Nanticoke. for John M. Garman, of Nanticoke, and Luzerne will have a prosecutor who bears malice to no sect or creed.

No doubt there are many voters undecided as to how they should east their ballot upon the question of a constitutional convention. That the constitution needs revision no one will deny, but whether it is safe to trust such work to a partisan convention is a matter for each individual to view as he thinks best. We hope the call for a convention will be carried, and the candidates for district delegates, Messrs. Hayes and Woodward, are well qualified to represent Luzerne in that body. Mr. Hayes is known personally to almost every voter in the Fourth District, and his election would be a fitting tribute to his years of service in behalf of the people of the lower end.

Before the Battle.

The last week of the campaign is drawing to a close and as election day approaches the confidence of the Democratic managers increases. A full vote will insure a grand State and county victory. The people of Pennsylvania have become alarmed at the rascality and thieving of Republican officials, as shown in the several investigations held during the past few months, and nothing short of the overthrow of the bosses will satisfy them. The men who have handled the finances of the State for their individual interest and swindled the commonwealth out of hundreds of thousands of dollars must be relegated to the rear, and the election of Wright and Tilden will do this. The public has a right to know what was done with the missing millions. There is but one way to find out. Elect a Democratic Auditor General and State Treasurer.

In the county contest the Republican machine at Wilkes-Barre has deserted the ticket it nominated, excepting one candidate. That is the candidate for Judge. He is to be elected at all hazards, by fair means or foul, it matters little to the gang. All they want is to get a majority of the Judiciary, and the county will be in their grasp for years to come. The numerous schemes brought to light lately shows what desperate chances they are taking to elect Lyman H. Bennett. Those should be sufficient reasons for every honest voter to cast his ballot against the Republican candidate.

reasons for every honest voter to cast a his ballot against the Republican candidate.

But aside from the political portion of the issue let every voter carefully consider the ability and experience of Bennett and Lynch before voting. The man who will be elected is to serve for ten years. One of the candidates has been a lawyer for nineteen years. Outside of a small circle of acquaintances he is unknown. An investigation of the court records proves that in those nineteen years of practice he has appeared before a jury in twelve petty cases. Is such a man qualified to take upon himself the responsibility of sitting in judgment at the class of trials for which Luzerne County is noted? In a county filled with eminent criminal lawyers a Judge without ability or experience will be like putty in their hands. There are lawyers at Wilkes-Barre who could twist Bennnett about their little fingers and sway his puny judgment as they wish. Where is the man who wishes to risk his life or liberty before an obscure lawyer of Bennett's calibre?

Hold up his twelve little civil cases before the eighteen hundred tried by John Lynch, many of them being among the most prominent trials in this section of the State. It is like comparing the brilliant electric light with the tallow candle. He is a credit to the bench of Luzerne County and an honor to the Executive who placed him there. John Lynch will be elected, unless the voters succumb to the tempters who are now canvassing the county with corporation boodle, threatening and intimidating school teachers and workingmen. Vote for the little breaker boy who picked slate at Hacklebarnie—Hon. John Lynch.

Single Tax Work.

Single Tax Work.

At Donaldson, Schuylkill County, a single tax club of over one hundred members was organized on Saturday evening. The meeting was an enthusisatic one and was adrivessed by H. V. Hetzel, editor of Justice, of Philadelphia. The formation of clubs of this character is being quietly carried on throughout the country, and the number of people who advocate George's theories is constantly increasing. While these clubs are free to take part in politics, they are in no sense mere political organizations, and cannot be classified with the average campaign associations, whose lives end when the votes are counted. When once organized upon a solid basis bymen who are thoroughly acquainted with the principles they espouse, these clubs seldom lapse or become defunct through those agencies which invariably wreck reform bodies. To become a member one must be in thorough harmony with the single tax doctrine, and, consequently there is no danger of getting entangled in brois arising from varied views. All think alike and work for the same purpose. Freeland, although it does not contain a regularly formed single tax club, is a stronghold for George's followers, and, it is claimed, contains more persons of this belief than any town of its size in the State. This is certainly true as far as it relates to free traders, and as nearly all of the latter are imbued with the justice of the single tax, there would seem to be an opening here for such a club as was organized at Donaldson.

What Free Traders Have Done.

The Democratic party has abandoned, and abandoned finally, its sneaking fear that the people of the United States could not be made to understand the difference between taxes to defray the necessary expenses of the Government and taxes to fill the pockets of private persons. The people have pushed the party on to a frank avowal of hostility to the protective principle. The time will soon come when it will no longer be possible to run down to Washington and get the Congress to vote riches into the pockets of favored gentlemen at the expense of the whole body of taxpayers. That game is nearly played out.—Record,

Killed at Shenandoah.

The celebration attending the laying of the church corner-stone on Sunday at Shenandoah had a sensational climax. Lpward of 2000 excursionists gathered at the Lehigh Valley depot in the evening to take trains for their homes. Several crowded upon the tracks. As a train approached the depot three men refused to leave the tracks and P. J. Ferguson, general freight solicitor for the Lehigh Valley, narrowly lost his life in consequence. Mr. Ferguson grabbed two of the three men and under them in consequence. Mr. Ferguson grabbed two of the three men and hurled them from the tracks. The third man was caught by the train and cut to pieces under the wheels, and Mr. Ferguson was struck by the cylinder of the engine and thrown upon the two men away from the track. The man killed was John Millonowiche, 24 years of age, and resided in Plymouth.

The county is safe, according to the returns of the constables, who were at Wilkes-Barre on Monday and reported their bailwicks as containing nothing but law-abiding people.
