FREELAND, NOVEMBER 19, 1891

The latest information from Ohio indicates that Senator Sherman will be the caucus choice of the Republi-cans as his own successor. This news is reassuring. The presence of ex-Governor Foraker in the Senate would have been esteemed a calamity in all parts of the country.

Goverson HILL's Thanksgiving pro-clamation calls attention to the fact that the taxes levied for the support of the Government of the State of New York are now the lowest in a generation. The proclamation comes HARRISON'S administration is still HARRISOS'S administration is still having trouble in some of its depart-ments. The unmistakable rotten-ness of the pension office particularly suggested the idea to one of the clerks, a Mr. Bogy, that there was a good opportunity to make capital out of it and he accordingly set to work and had published a novel which throws an objectionable light on and had published a novel which i throws an objectionable light on Washington political life. Of course the ambitious young man had pushed his work beyond the limit, for which he could not consistently be retained in his position, but, neverthless, he has caused a few cabinet officials some little amount of work. little amount of worry.

As the time draws nigh for the National Committees of both parties to meet in Washington much inter est attaches to them in relation to the selection of the place of meeting the next Presidential Convention. San Francisco is urgently de irous of se-curing it from either or both parties, and, it is reported, has raised $32,000 towards expenses. Hustling Chicago four also their advocates. However, it mat-ters little to the Democratic people where the convention will be held long as their choice for the Presi-dency, Mr. Cleveland, will be nomi-nated. EASTERN newspapers are full of in-nated. Exstens newspapers are full of in-terviews with Republican shoe manu-facturers tending to show how disas-trous would be the placing of a duty on hides. Good friends, the Repub-lican party managers don't care a tinker's dam how disastrous it might be. They have got to have money for next year's campaign, stacks of it, bar-rells and carloads of it. If the Ar-mours, Swifts and Morrises will put up the desired amount, they can doubtless buy from the Administra-tion the privilege of charging au extra dolafar for every hide of meat cattle they may have to sell. Disastrous, forsooth! These Eastern manufac-turers appear to be entirely ignorant of the valuable uses of the tariff act as an adjunct to a political machine. — Record.

Iowa's prohibition amendment will likely be wiped out of the Constitu-tion of that State at the next sitting of the Legislature. The Democrats are practically committed to the abolishment of the act, while the Re-publicans, believing they have con-stantly lost power by their efforts to uphold prohibition, are expected to vie with the Democrats in an attempt to repeal the law. This will appar vie with the Democrats in an attempt to repeal the law. This will appar ently be made easy as opposite parties are in control of the Senate and House. The matter is somewhat complicated by the fact that in 1882, by a majority of 32,000, the people adopted a prohibition amendment to the Constitution, which was declared by the Supreme Court to be invalid, because of a technical error in the wording of the resolutions in which the Legislature proposed the amend-ment.

The End of the Farce The Republican party has n advocate in the United States than the Philadelphia Ledger, and here is what that paper has to say of the extra session of the Senate, which ad-journed last week: The action of the State Senate in declaring by a strict party vote that it had no jurisdiction in the case of State Treas-urer Boyer had been expected almost Mrs. Daniel Moore, of Alvintown, re turned last week from a visit to England from the beginning. For a time after the investigation was begun, the Senate conducted the inquiry as though the majority intended to act in the matter free from partisan bias and for the best interests of the Commonwealth. A serious inquiry was made into the charges against Mr. Boyer. These did not involve misappropriation or mis-application of public funds for his assuming that it had such jurisdiction but all this occurred before the day of election. Argument having been heard on the question of jurisdiction, and the election having been passed, the Senate was brought face to face with the necessity of passing upon the question. There was a disposition to delay the vote, so as to give at least an appearance of deliberation to the action about to be taken, but one impatient member, who is to be commended for his frankness, called out "let's end the thing now,"
