WHAT WE HOPE TO SEE.

Some Things Which Should Come to Pass Before 1893.

A FEW LOCAL AND GENERAL IM-PROVEMENTS THAT WOULD ADD GREATLY TO THE PROSPERITY OF FREELAND AND THE NATION.

The year 1892 will be an eventful one in the history of the United States, and it behooves the people of Freeland to make it one to be remembered in the history of this town. Every citizen in the country will interest himself in making the Columbian year a grand success, but national affairs should not be allowed to completely overshadow the many local reforms that are necessary. Before New Year's Eve, 1892, we hope to see accomplished the following good things, some local and some general, but all of which will add to the prosperity of Freelandmand the nation.

plished the following good things, some local and some general, but all of which will add to the prosperity of Freeland and the nation:

Five Points, South Heberton, Birvanton, Woodside and Coxe Addition annexed to Freeland Borough.

Grover Cleveland elected President of of the United States.

Freeland's electric light works started again and the town lighted by electricity. The election of councilmen who will continue the improvements begun by the present body.

The erection of a dozen more handsome structures like the P. O. S. of A. and DePierro Buildings.

Free mail delivery for Freeland.

A Legislature chosen that will knock Matt Quay into innocaous desuestade.

Passenger trains running on the D. S. & S. from Freeland.

An organization of property holders and business men to place the advantages of the town before the world.

Cranks and chronic growlers relegated to the rear.

The Jersey Central extended into town from Drifton or Upper Lehigh.

Every State in the Union go Democratic next fall.

All the old maids married.

An Opera House built that will have ample stage facilities, comfortable seats and an inclined floor.

The Lehigh Valley's branch to Glen Summit, via Upper Lehigh, completed. Single tax established, which will bring about a condition of affairs as near like the millenium as human ingenuity can devise.

The Honey Hole transformed into a beautiful summer resort with a gravity road from Freeland.

Centre Street paved or some other device introduced to prevent mud from accumulating in wet weather.

A general Fourth of July celebration participated in by every citizen.

Freeland boomed as the county seat of Hazle County.

More Sunday trains on the Lehigh Valley to and from this place.

"I'll be Back Some Day to You."

Following are the words of the latest song. "I'll be Back Some Day to You," written by Editor Sam W. Boyd, of the Wilkes-Barre Newsdealer, and arranged to music by Prof Ed. C. Soley. It is now on sale at Perry Bros. store, South Main Street, Wilkes-Barre. Words and music cost, fifty cents per copy. The words of the song speak for themselves, and the music is pronounced equally as good. It is being sung on the stage already.

And joyous birds sing merrilly all day:

And her mother still is sitting,
In the old arm chair a knitting,
She is waiting for the loved one, far away;
O'er her face a smile goes stealing,
All her love and thoughts revealing,
Fondly wishing for the coming of that day.

The years are slowly passing, and the mother'

There's a daughter that is grieved,
For a mother once deceived.
Her heart is filled with sorrow and with pain;
But the time will come at last,
When her troubles will be past,
And with mother she will surely be again.

Mrs. Hannah Moore.

Mrs. Hannah Moore.

On Christmas morning Mrs. Hannah Moore died at her residence on Washington Street after a short illness. She was born at Sandfield, Parish of Iniskeel, County Donegal, Ireland, on December 25, 1817, and was seventy-four years of age. She came to the United States in the fall of 1841 with her husband, Patrick Moore, who died at Highland, in June, 1881. They settled at Summit Hill, where they resided nearly twenty years, and from there went to Minersville. Harleigh, Epper Lehigh and Highland, living at the latter place twenty-one years. She removed to Freeland about five years ago. Mrs. Moore is survived by four sons and four daughters, James, Thos. J. and Michael, of Freeland; Patrick, of Philadelphia; Mrs. P. M. Boyle and Mrs. James Harkins, of Drifton; Mrs. Kucknell, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Scanlan, of Wilkes-Barre. The funeral took place on Monday morning, with a solemn requiem mass at St. Ann's Church, after which an eloquent sermon was preached by Rev. F. P. Mc-Nally. Friends and relatives from all portions of this and neighboring counties were present, and the funeral cortege was a very large one.

ON THE D. S. & S.

rains With But a Single Track-New Engines-Low Wages.

Two Trains With But a Single Track—
New Engines—Low Wages.

The D. S. & S. is a model railroad in many respects, but a wrecked engine is proof that the impossible cannot be done on it. Engineer Sands, of D. S. & S. No. 1, left Drifton on Saturday morning with a train of loaded coal cars about the same time that Engineer Reynolds pulled out from Hazleton with Lehigh Valley "C," which the new road has purchased, pushing three gravel trucks before it. Owing to the telegraph lines not being completed neither engineer was aware of the other's presence on the single track, and both thought they had the right of way and started for their respective destinations at a fair rate of speed. A short distance this side of Jeddo Tunnell they sighted one another, but too late to avoid a collision. Both engines were quickly reversed and everybody jumped just before the crash. One of the trucks mounted Engine No. 1 and almost totally destroyed it. As the engines were reversed they immediately started in opposite directions, but were captured a short distance from the scene of the wreck. No. I was badly mangled up and had Engineer Sands stuck to the throttle he would have been killed outright. As the traffic of the road will be increased considerable in the near future many of these occurrences may be lookfor.

Two new engines for this road steam—

Two new engines for this road steamed into Drifton on Monday morning. They came direct from Baldwin's Locomotive works, Philadelphia, and are of the 'hog' species. They are very heavy and built especially for hauling long and built especially for hauling long trains.

People who claim to be in a position to know allege that much dissatisfaction exists among the employes on account of the low wages paid. Many who took situations did so in the expectation that the salaries would be increased to equal those paid on the Lehigh Valley and Central when the road began operations. In this they were mistaken, as engineers, firemen and brakemen are all paid below the men on other lines here, and there seems to be no desire on the part of the company to make an increase. Notwithstanding these rumors there is no lack of applicants for positions, and the majority who apply are old and experienced railroad men.

P. O. S. of A. Hall.

Washington Camp Hall Association will have the two meeting rooms of its new building ready for occupancy by tomorrow. H. L. Edmunds has been elected janitor and will begin his term at once. Applications have been received from a large number of organizations for the privilege of using the lodge rooms and some will remove to the new building this week. Among those to take up quarters there are Union and Freeland Councils, Legion of Honor; Machemleck Tribe and Owena Council, Red Men; Mt. Horeb Lodge, Odd Fellows, Loyal Castle, Knights of the Mystic Chain; Freeland Council, Junior American Mechanics; Camp 147, Sons of America, Silver Wave Lodge, Knights of Pythias; Garfield Commandery, Knights of Malta, and Hauri Gauri Lodge. The building will be dedicated with appropriate exercises on Washington's Birthday, February 22. The officers of the association are corresponding with prominent members of the State Camp, and have very good prospects of obtaining their services at the dedication.

The cold snap of this week has caused The cold snap of this week has caused a slight abatement of the grip in this section, although there are yet several cases of a serious character. The death rate throughout the State has been heavier during the past ten days than for many years. Many adult people are succumbing to pneumonia, the result of grip. Physicians everywhere report hundreds of cases of the grip, also considerable diphtheria, some of a malignant type. This latter disease has fortunately given Freeland and vicinity a wide berth so far.

taxes, and I maily concluded to go up to Wilkes-Barre and redeem it as it might perhaps be of some value hereafter."

He left next morning and redeemed the land. Later on, we don't remember the year, probably about 1860, Mr. Stevens sold the same tract to the late Asa L. Foster representing the party about organizing the Upper Lehigh Coal Company, for the sum of $25,000, and we venture to say that the same tract which Mr. Stevens reluctantly accepted thirty-five years ago as payment of a bad debt of $5,000 due him by a poor printer, could not now be bought at any price short of a round million.

How the late Theophilus Fenn became owner of the tract we probably never knew, we certainly don't remember it if ever we did know, but we take it for granted that it must have been on easy terms, perhaps for $300 instead of $3,000, and if so he did very well in disposing of it to Mr. Stevens for $3,000. And Mr. Stevens was in better luck yet, in recovering the amount of his bad $3,000 claim and $22,000 profit besides, but the last bargain was by far the biggest and best in getting a tract worth hundreds of thousands, perhaps as much as a million, for the comparitive modest sum of $25,000, Probably there are many tracts of anfor the comparitive modest sum of $20,000.

Probably there are many tracts of anthracite mountain lands in the region that had changed owners and were sold for taxes in a similar manner, but we venture to say none of them enhanced in real value more rapidly or to a higher figure than the one referred to.

The members of the borough council met on Monday evening in special session, with Messrs. Bachman, Rutter, Williamson and Goeppert present. The meeting was called for the purpose of settling the account of Miles Gallagher, contractor for the main sewer. Mr. Burton, who was employed to superintend the work, stated that certain parts of the sewer were not properly covered according to contract, and he withheld the payment of the balance due Mr. Gallagher until it was completed. It was finally agreed to draw an order for Mr. Gallagher for $250 and that as soon as the work is completed satisfactorily to the council the balance will be paid. The president appointed Messrs. Rutter, Williamson and Dooris as a committee to view the sewer and report at the next meeting. Mr. Gallagher is to fill in the gutter on Pine Street, and put the street in passable condition.

The smiling countenance of Chris. Schaller, Arnold & Krell's delivery agent, will be missed from Freeland streets in the future. He died vesterday after a brief illness brought on by the prip. Chris. was a great favorite with those whom he did business, and the firm will have a hard time in filling his place satisfactorily. He was forty-five years old, and will be buried in Hazleton on Sunday at 2 P. M. Arrangements are being made to secure a special train for Freeland to leave there after the funeral.
