FIRE HAS AN INNING.

Two Buildings Burned and Two Slightly Damaged.

THE BOROUGH APPARATUS ONCE MORE DOES GOOD WORK FOR THE PEOPLE ACROSS THE LIMITS—MUCH BRAVERY DISPLAYED.

Fire was discovered shortly before two o'clock on Tuesday morning in the back kitchen of the building owned by William Rugans, on Chestnut Street, above Fern. The flames were seen by John B. Hanlon, who had just returned from his work at No. 2 Drifton, and he succeeded in arousing the owner of the burning property and three boarders. They escaped with much difficulty, as the fire made headway rapidly. The fire bell was rung and in a short time the apparatus was at the scene, although the building and all adjoining properties were outside the limits. There being no plugs in that part of the town it required a long line of hose laid up hill to reach from Walnut and Ridge Streets, and even then the men were at a disadvantage, owing to the burning building being higher than the water in the reservoir. The pressure was only sufficient to let the water flow from the hose into buckets, and a brigade of these was formed to prevent the flames spreading.

By this time the property of John Gallagher was in imminent danger from the shower of sparks falling upon it. The fire ladders were raised and the roof covered with water from the buckets. Those working there displayed a bravery seldom seen at fires, the clothing of many catching on fire several times, and every other man taken up the ladders was used to extinguish the sparks which the boys were covered. A stiff breeze was blowing from the northwest and it carried large pieces of shingles and burning wood towards the borough properties. The four-wheeled carriage was then taken up the hill laid on Centre and Ridge between Walnut and Chestnut.

In the meantime Rugans' house was burning fiercely and the flames reached the dwelling of David Hanlon, Sr., which was only three feet from it on the west. This property was soon enveloped in fire and it looked as though the entire square would go. The bucket brigade who so gallantly saved Gallagher's house was taken to the building of P. H. Hanlon, which was less than two feet from the one then on fire. The battle there was a desperate one, as the property caught several times, but the boys fought with a vigor that brought forth cheers and applause from the "hundreds of spectators. The fire hooks were fastened to David Hanlon's house and it was partially torn down, thereby lessening the danger to the property. The men continued at work until they had control of the flames, then a large American flag, which was found among the furniture, was raised above the last building they saved.

All the vacant lots in the neighborhood were covered with burning pieces of a dozen tenants from the nearby houses and when daylight appeared the scene resembled evicting day in a mining village. Despite the confusion which ensued in carrying out the goods very little was reported missing. However, one of the coolest men in the company rattled during the excitement and rushing to the upstairs of a dwelling three two handsome pictures on the window and ran down the steps with a feather pillow under each arm. He had merely mistaken the articles he said.

The losses on the insurance on the properties are as follows: William Rugans, $1550; insurance, $1200; David Hanlon, $1300; insurance, $1000; P. H. Hanlon, $150; insurance, $500; John Gallagher, $40; no insurance. Shortly after the fire started Burgess Gallagher summoned a portion of the police force and directed them to patrol the borough streets and guard the houses and business places which several people had thoughtlessly left unsecured.

How People Get Humbugged.

A few years ago an advertisement appeared in the papers stating that for $1 a recipe would be given for the permanent cure of stammering. When the dollar was sent a recipe was returned which read: "Keep your mouth shut." In another instance an advertisement recited that for 50 cents a recipe would be given for catching all the fish in any given body of water. When the 50 cents was sent a recipe would be returned, telling the victim "to dip all the water out and then eat it." Another form of fraud is perpetrated by means of advertisements so worded as to mislead the public. Persons answering them think that for 25 cents they are to have a watch or some other valuable article, when in fact they merely get an illustrated catalogue. An extensive fraud has recently been carried on by persons presenting themselves as commission merchants or produce dealers who send out circulars and price lists, offering prices higher than those ruling in the market. These dealers have desk rooms in shops or saloons, and the goods shipped to them are received and sold at any price obtainable, no returns whatever being made. Some time ago there appeared a glow-

ROUTE OF PARADE.
The parade will move at 1.30 P. M. from Front and Washington Streets over the following route: Down Washington to Carbon, up Carbon to Centre, up Centre to South, up South to Ridge, up Ridge to Walnut, down Walnut to Centre, down Centre to South, counter-march on Centre to Front, down Front to Washington, up Washington to Walnut, down Walnut to Pine, down Pine to Johnson, down Johnson to Birkbeck, down Birkbeck to Harmony Hall, counter-march to Freeland Cemetery, where the decorating ceremonies will be performed by Maj. C. B. Cox Post, assisted by Jas. G. Brookmire Camp, 248, S. of V. After these ceremonies the parade will repair to Birkbeck's Grove, where the closing ceremonies will be carried out as follows:

Introduction by John D. Hayes, Esq., of the orator of the day, General W. H. McCartney, of Wilkes-Barre, after which the parade will be dismissed. Delegations will be sent out from Post Headquarters at 7 o'clock to decorate the graves of departed comrades in the cemeteries at Eckley, Upper Lehigh and Hughesville. In returning the delegations will unite in St. Ann's cemetery at 10.30 A. M. to perform the decorating ceremonies there. The Post requests all floral contributions be forwarded to their hall as early as possible on Monday morning.

Convention Work Ended.
The Scranton C. T. A. Convention ended its work at Hazleton last week. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Rev. P. J. McManus, of Green Ridge; vice president, Frank McLaughlin, of Freeland; secretary, J. M. Mack, of Kingston; treasurer, John A. Collier, of Pittston. It was decided to have three parades on October 10. The first division at Archbald, the second at Kingston and the third at Hazleton. The officers of the third district are: Marshal, H. B. Conaghan, Hazleton; aids, Patrick McLaughlin, Freeland, and John E. Shearon, Eckley. The election of delegates to the national convention at Indianapolis next August resulted in choosing Hon. M. T. Burke, of Carbondale; Dennis Mackin, of Wilkes-Barre, and William H. Corrigan, of Harleigh. It was decided to hold quarterly conventions to convene at Archbald, Scranton, Avoca and Hazleton on July 10. If this should prove beneficial it will be made a permanent feature of the organization. A death benefit fund was also established to take effect September 1. Each member will be assessed 10 cents on each death which will net the insurance fund $750. The next convention will be held at Nanticoke.

Annexation Takes a Boom.
Annexation took a great boom after the recent fire. The people of Bivanton had scarcely ever before realized their helpless condition to cope with flames, but the disappearance of two buildings opened their eyes to the necessity of protection of some kind. Without plugs, a foot of hose or even water pressure Pine Knot Hill would have been a sorry-looking sight by Tuesday evening had not the borough given full and free use of all its aid. That this act was appreciated can be seen by the fact that a petition for annexation was eagerly signed by the property-owners this week. The movement in the Points is progressing slowly but surely, and it is likely that the two sections will make their entrance to the borough at the same time. South Heberton is rather backward in knocking for admittance, although a number there are willing to push the matter if some one starts it going. That end is also rapidly building up, and it would be advisable for its residents to make the necessary preparations to come in with the west and south sides.

On the Field of Matrimony.
James P. McNelis and Miss Sarah Hanlon were married to-day in St. Ann's Church by Rev. M. J. Fallhee. Patrick Duffy, of Upper Lehigh, acted as groomsmen and Miss Annie Boyle, of Philadelphia, was the bridesmaid. The couple are well and favorably known and their hundreds of friends wish them the happiness and success they deserve.

Miss Jennie Brown, of Hazleton, formerly a resident of town, will be married on Wednesday to Charles L. Wilde, of that city.
John Beckloff, of Freeland, and Miss Amelia Hartman, of Weatherly, will be married at the latter place on Saturday.
William Hoch and Miss Mary Edwards, both of Weatherly, were married by Rev. J. P. Buxton yesterday.
John Hurley and Miss Maggie Malloy, both of Upper Lehigh, were married by Rev. M. J. Fallhee on Tuesday. Mr. Hurley and wife have the best wishes of the community.

Hose Cart Damaged.
The fire company met in special session last evening to decide whether they will take part in Monday's parade. It was agreed to parade, and all who can do so are requested to turn out. The chief and foreman reported that the hose had been cleared and dried after the fire, but that damage had been done to hooks, wrenches and the winding gear of the four-wheeled carriage. As the fire occurred outside the borough it was decided that the expense of the repairs, about $15, will be paid for out of the company's funds instead of asking the council to stand it. It is presumed that the favor of allowing the apparatus to be used will be appreciated by those residing outside the limits when the annual excursion of the company takes place on August 20.

Accident at the Jeddo Tunnel.
The first fatal accident at the tunnel, now being constructed by the Jeddo Tunnel Company from Ebervale to Butler Valley, occurred on Monday. John Mathy, a Hungarian, aged 23 years, a laborer working in the east side level was struck on the back by a piece of top coal, while placing some top in a car. He was instantly killed. Deputy Corner Buckley was notified by Mr. Scott, one of the contractors, and held an inquest on the body of the dead man. A verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Took the White Veil.
At St. Rose's Convent, Carbondale, on Tuesday Miss Annie Herron, of Freeland, and Miss Sarah Murray, of Upper Lehigh, took the white veil of the Sisters of Charity. A number of priests assisted Bishop O'Hara in the ceremonies. Miss Herron's name in religion is Sister M. Julia, and that of Miss Murray is Sister M. Sextus. Both young ladies had been under instructions for some time at St. Ann's Convent.

A. O. H. Parade at Wilkes-Barre.
The lower end of Luzerne will be well represented at the parade in honor of the state centennial of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, at Wilkes-Barre, on June 15. The St. Patrick's and St. Gabriel's Bands will accompany Division 6, of Honey Brook, Division 10, of Hazleton; Division 19, of Freeland; and Division 20, of Eckley. After the parade a picnic will be held at Luzerne Grove.

Potato Masher and Beater.
Condy Furey, of Centre Street, has taken the agency for Apple's combined potato masher and beater, an article of real value in every household. Mr. Furey is an old veteran and a member of the Grand Army of the Republic. His usual occupation—that of a miner. He is calling on his friends in this vicinity and is meeting with a fair share of success.

Card of Thanks.
The undersigned desires to express his sincere thanks to the Citizens' Hose Company for allowing the use of its hose and ladders while his property was in danger on Tuesday morning; also to those who worked so hard to save the building.

DEATHS.
KENNEDY.—At Upper Lehigh, May 24, Catharine Kennedy, aged 61 years. Funeral at 2.30 P. M. on Friday. In interment at St. Ann's Cemetery, McNulty.

SAGAN.—At Freeland, May 23, Nicholas Sagan, aged 55 years. Interred yesterday at Greek Cemetery. McNulty.
