THAT "FOREIGN" FLAG. A Society Banner Causes a Little Breeze.

SOME THOUGHT IT WAS THE COLORS OF THE CAZAR OF RUSSIA—WHAT THE MEN WHO CARRIED IT SAY ON THE SUBJECT.

While on the way from the Greek Church to the station on Sunday morning to attend the dedication at Audenried a flag was carried by the members of the Greek Society that caused a ripple of excitement among some of the people who saw it. As the Greeks are generally supposed to be natives of Russia a number jumped at the conclusion that the colors were Russian, and after the train had departed several of them were loud in their threats as to what action should be taken in the matter. The flag is one which has been carried through town on a number of occasions and up to Sunday none of those who objected to it troubled themselves about what it represented. That it is not the colors of any foreign nation is a fact which any schoolboy can tell at a glance, as the emblem bears no more resemblance to the flag of Russia or any other country than the stars and stripes do to a piratical banner.

Charles Dusheck, a prominent member of the society, was asked by a Tribune representative to give an explanation for the benefit of the public, and he willingly complied by stating that the flag is nothing more or less than a society flag, and is open at all times for the inspection of any person who wishes to examine it. He describes it as follows: It consists of blue silk and the inscriptions and emblems are of a light gilt. On one side is the name of the society, date of organization, etc. On the reverse, at the upper right-hand and lower left-hand corners are American shields, on the upper left-hand and lower right-hand corners are Slavonian emblems. In the center is a picture of St. Michael, and on the top of the pole is a large American eagle. This is all the flag contains, and there is nothing there against which anyone could raise any reasonable objection.

Mr. Dusheck says it is not necessary for people to go to the members of the society and quote the law upon the subject, telling them the constitution declares that foreign flags may only be carried when preceded by the American flag. The Greeks and everybody else knows the constitution says nothing about flags of any kind, but they know enough about international customs that they would not be true to their oath of American citizenship if they carried a foreign flag without having it preceded by the starry banner. However, as the society never carried a foreign flag, and as the members say they never will, the folly of a few people is painfully plain. It would be better had they made themselves acquainted with the colors of the different countries before indulging in fiery caritative speeches.

What seems to be the queer part of the affair is that a few persons who noticed this "foreign flag" got so excited that they demanded an explanation then and there. A true American would without a moment's hesitation, as there was ample time given, the train being nearly an hour late. To sulk when duty demanded courage and to gather a mob to receive them when they returned to an American. Mobs and patriots seldom travel together.

Weekly Coal Report.

The condition of the anthracite coal trade has not changed materially since our last report. There is a steady demand for the domestic sizes, and as the output of the far ace and other manufacturing sizes is restricted as nearly as possible to the actual requirements for immediate consumption, there is no surplus stock accumulating worth mentioning. The newly mined coal being forwarded to market is being well distributed, and there are sufficient orders for coal in hand to take up the greater part of the June allotment, which has been fixed at 3,000,000 tons, though, it is believed, at least half a million tons more will be required, and, if it is, the additional quantity will be produced. The general sales agents met at New York last week and agreed to advance prices for Western shipment 25 cents per ton, and an advance on chestnut size of 15 cents per ton was also ordered. The coal for shipment Eastward beyond the Cape. The total amount of anthracite coal sent to market for the week ending May 21 as reported by the several carrying companies, was 856,795 tons, compared with 790,796 tons in the corresponding week last year, an increase of 65,999 tons. The total amount of anthracite mined thus far in the year of 1892 was 14,445,521 tons, compared with 13,383,310 tons for the same period in 1891, an increase of 1,062,311.

A Spook at Drifton.

That portion of Drifton known as "Shanty Hill" is worked to a pitch of excitement over the appearance of a mysterious object in the dead hours of night, according to the Standard. A number of miners returning home on several occasions saw the object coming from one place to another, some times with a light and then again in the darkness, opening gates and shanty doors. One young man followed it until 2 o'clock Saturday morning, but could not succeed in getting close enough to tell whether it was man, woman or otherwise.

Fire Company Meeting.

The members of the Citizens' Hose Company met in regular session last evening. Gilbert Smith, James McNelis, Amos Page and John J. McLaughlin were elected to membership. The names of sixteen other young men were proposed for membership and will be acted on at the next regular meeting.

CAUGHT IN THE NET.

Police Make Several Arrests on Memorial Day.

BURGESS GALLAGHER INSISTS UPON PRESERVING PEACE IN THIS BOROUGH—$56 IN FINES COLLECTED IN ONE DAY.

From the moment the clouds began to disappear on Monday until early Tuesday morning the town was thronged with visitors from all the surrounding villages. Besides the parade the attractions were numerous enough to give enjoyment to all. The base ball game, the Tigers picnic, three Hungarian balls and sixty-one saloons took good care of the crowd, which was a jovial and good-natured gathering. Nevertheless some of the sight-seers met more friends than they should, and the effects of sipping the twenty-two kinds of beer which Freeland keeps on tap were noticeable in the latter part of the afternoon. In the borough of the afternoon, Burgess Gallagher's force had its hands full. The officers were lenient in nearly every instance where their services were required, and if a man could walk the chalk line and keep his mouth closed he was allowed to depart unnoted.

The Ticket Gave It Away.

A Lehigh Valley trainman tells the following Memorial Day episode: That evening a man got upon their train in a very dignified manner, and taking a seat began shouting, singing and cursing in a very unorthodox fashion. He had the unlighted stump of a cigar in his mouth and a ticket for Hazleton stuck in his hat band, and vowed that he didn't care a blankety blank "for everybody or nobody." At last a clerical-looking old gentleman who sat near him could stand it no longer, and going over to him, placed a hand upon his shoulder and solemnly asked: "My friend, do you know where you are going? You are drunk straight for hell." The inebriate blinked foolishly at him for a moment and then thickly ejaculated: "How do you know it stranger?" Then reaching up suddenly, he took the ticket from his hat saying: "Oh, I see—the d—d ticket gave it away."

Special Council Meeting.

The sale of sewer bonds took place at the council room on Saturday evening. Thirty bonds were sold at from 25 cents to $1.50 above par, netting, principal and premium, $3013.00. At the close of the sale Attorney Hayes read the deed of park which was presented by the Cross Creek Coal Company, through Hon. E. B. Cox, to the borough. The president appointed Owen Fritzinger, E. W. Rutter and James Williamson a committee to draw up resolutions of thanks to be tendered to Mr. Cox for his kindness. The plot of ground consists of ten acres, and its benefits will be appreciated in the days when Freeland will be a city.

Another Large Building.

H. W. Fackler, of Philadelphia, has awarded a contract for the erection of a three-story frame building on Centre Street, above Luzerne. The structure will have a frontage of 24 feet and will be 52 feet deep. The lot is at present occupied by a small one-story building, and workmen began removing it this morning. The building will be occupied by Mr. Fackler, who is a manufacturer of candy and choice confectionery. The contractor states that it will be fitted up throughout in the most improved manner and will be quite an ornament to the Point.

Dropped Dead Behind the Bar.

While washing glasses in his saloon on Birkebeck Street, Joseph Schochener, on Tuesday morning, Joseph Schochener fell to the floor and instantly expired. Death was caused by heart disease. The deputy coroner viewed the body and decided that there was no necessity for an inquest. The deceased was known throughout the region, having worked as a butcher for a number of years before he started the saloon business. He was aged 52 years, 2 months and 25 days. The funeral takes place at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment at Freeland Cemetery.

Brader, of Nanticoke; sheriff, Nym Seward, of Luzerne Borough; recorder of deeds, J. C. Lawrence, of Plymouth; county surveyor, J. A. Dewey, of Wyanet; coroner, L. L. Rogers, of Kingston; delegates to the national convention, E. D. Nichols, Rev. W. H. Hillard.

Handsome Decorations.

The P. O. S. of A., Birkebeck Brick and DePiero Bros.' Buildings were handsomely decorated with flags, bunting and evergreens, as well as several other stores and residences in town. The DePieros displayed the flags of several nations, and the variety gave their property a fine city appearance.

A Successful Picnic.

The picnic of the Tigers on Monday was one of the largest held in this section for some time. The association cleared $141.30 on the affair, and a vote of thanks is extended by the committee to the band, the young ladies who assisted them and to the public for the generous patronage.

The man who is always telling news papers to pitch into this, that and the other thing, and claims that it lacks nerve because it does not rip people up the back, is the same one who never wants his name used under any circumstances and is the first one to cry that an injustice has been done.

Liability of Employers.

Secretary of Internal Affairs Thos. J. Stewart has published in advance Section A. of Part III, of the annual report of that department, comprising an exhaustive review of legal relations between employers and employes in Pennsylvania, prepared by Albert S. Bolles, chief of the bureau of industrial statistics. The first seven sections are of a general character, in which the true role of duty that ought to be established in the relations between employer and employee is the difficulty of legislating on the subject.

Next is presented a review of the early cases in England, and in the United States. The Frazier case was the first reported in Pennsylvania, in 1853, in which the court decided that an employer was not liable to an employee for an accident resulting from the negligence of another employe, unless the employer was negligent in selecting him. The reason for the decision is then given, followed by a review of all the subsequent cases.

Petitioning for Passenger Trains.

A petition has been sent to the officials of the D. S. & S. Railroad by the people of Onedia, asking that the company run a daily passenger train from that place to the park and back, and that the road would be a favor that should be cordially welcomed if Ex-Senator Cox grants this request. The running of passenger trains between Onedia and Hazleton would soon be followed by extending the road and service to Freeland, and that alone would be a great benefit to the town. It was reported last summer that such was the company's intention, but since the deal little has been heard of it. The route to Freeland was surveyed and everything indicated that the D. S. & S. would reach here in 1892. Although the road was not intended as a passenger line, yet a fine opening to build up a good trade between Onedia and Freeland, and it would benefit the company if they would take advantage of it.

Memorial Day Observed.

So far as can be judged by newspaper reports the anthracite region of Pennsylvania led the whole United States in its display of patriotism and remembrance of the dead on Memorial day. The beautiful custom of strewing the graves of deceased soldiers is growing more in vogue with each succeeding year, and 1892 witnessed a more general observance of the day than on any previous similar occasion. In this respect Freeland did its share in a manner that will compare favorably with any town in the town held here in 1892. Although the road was not intended as a passenger line, yet a fine opening to build up a good trade between Onedia and Freeland, and it would benefit the company if they would take advantage of it.

Registers Reports.

A number of the registers of the polling districts have made their reports, and from them it may be seen that Freeland's voting population continues to increase at a healthy rate. Following are the figures.

Freeland	1801	1892
Five Points	339	343
South Heberton	139	139
Totals	889	909
Increase		67

The figures from surrounding towns show increases in some places, while others have their number of voters decreased, as follows:

Upper Lehigh, Butler	1801	1892
Highland, Foster	112	151
Eckley, Foster	127	125
Sandy Run, Foster	235	240
Sandy Run, Foster	139	139
Sandy Run, Foster	145	125
Drifton, Foster	225	174
Drifton, Hazle	397	312
Jeddo, Hazle	282	277

Incompetency Alleged.

In court on Tuesday a writ of quo warranto was granted against Patrick McFadden, of Freeland, one of the supervisors in the West End Mine at Mocaqua, near Shickshinny, by which two men were instantly killed, three fatally injured and five badly wounded. The dead are: John Protheroe, inside foreman, aged 45, leaves a wife and six children; John Walters, laborer, aged 21, single. The fatally injured are: Henry Ritter, right side and shoulder mangled, 47 years old, married, Charles Ritter, son of Henry, head injured and severely burned; Wallace Deitrick, four ribs broken and internally injured. The elder Ritter and Deitrick and young Ritter are expected to die.

Freeland's Fire Fighters.

In its account of last week's fire at this place the Mauch Chunk Democrat says: "They seem to have an excellent fire department at Freeland—even better than that of the big city of Hazleton."
