Challenging a Critical Journalist

Challenging a Critical Journalist.

A very slight and polite criticism indulged in at the expense of a cavalry of ficer who was riding about a week ago at the horse show has assumed the proportions of a serious event. The officer in question sent a letter to the writer saying that he could understand the criticising the horsemanship of jockeys and grooms, but that he had no business to pass any remarks on that of "gentlemen or officers." He forbade the journalist to mention his name, and wound up by adding that his sole right was that of the stronger and that he would prove it if the offense were repeated. The journalist in a second paragraph remarked that he did not think he had acted improperly in criticising the performances of horsemen who rode in a public place to which admission was obtained by payment, and, referring to the letter, said he could not believe that it had been penned by a French officer, and was convinced that it was a forgery. Thereupon the cavalry officer sent two of his friends to the journalist with s

Thereupon the cavalry officer sent two of his friends to the journalist with a hostile message, and in the duel that followed he wounded him in the arm.
He thus proved that he was "Le plus fort." But the affair is creating a great sensation, the prevailing opinion being that the argument employed by the officer was, to say the least, utterly illogical—in fact, this unlucky episode has brought once more on the tapis the vexed question of the expediency of military men displaying their provess

Will Live in a Glass House.

At the city of Dinard, in the department of Ille-t-Vilaine, France, there lives a man distinguished both for his originality of ideas and for the fullness of his money bags. He has been speaking and teaching for a long time upon the necessity of men beginning to lead lives of greater purity, so that they need not be afraid of having all their deeds under the incessant supervision of society. He is himself willing to submit to the trial and wants to find others to do the same. He has determined to have a three story house built all of glass. A dwelling of such transparency would not not only allow its inhabitants at all times a splendid prospect in every direction upon the beautiful country surrounding the place, but also expose the minutest details of the daily life of the people in the house to the inspection of the entire city.

the minutest details of the daily life of the people in the house to the inspection of the entire city.

The originator of the idea has found an architect willing to build the house on condition that he receives payment in advance. But there is no renting agent that will take the agency for it. If it is to be a lodging house for bachelors, they say, they may be able to do something with it, but they cannot find a female, they think, that would consent to live in a glass house. Nevertheless the old gentleman is determined to realize his idea.—Chicago Herald.

Tree Trunks Filled with Squirrels.
Woodchoppers on Dr. Price's Lenape farm report that squirrels are very numerous among the trees. When the choppers began last fall there were several acres of trees standing and the squirrels were not numerous, but as the trees were cut, a few at a time, the little animals were driven from one place of refuge to another until all were gathered into a small space, and the few remaining trees are filled with them. A man who had been working among them says some of the hollow trees are packed so full of squirrels that the timbers creak every time the animals draw a deep breath.

The visitors had the name of being one of the best amateur teams in that city, but their work here was sufficient to show that the Quaker City is far behind the coal regions when it comes to ball playing. Freeland put on its batting clothes and at the end of the last inning the Solar Tips were weary from chasing leather. Sixteen hits for a total of twenty-three bases were made off Hirsheld, while Welch held his opponents down to seven singles. The off Hirshfield, while Welch held his op-ponents down to seven singles. The lead taken by Freeland from the start made the game less interesting than it might have been, but the excellent bat-ting and splendid field work of the home club was quite a treat. McGready, Boyle, Brady and E. McGeehan lead the bat-ting, and on the diamond and field some phenomenal stops of hard balls were made.

The Wilkes-Barreans can always be relied upon to put up a stiff game. They are coming on Sunday and will do their atmost to retrieve the defeat given them last month, when they lost by a score of 3 to 2. The visitors will try to strengthen their team by procuring some of the State League Club, if they can be obtained. Freeland will also bring forth its best talent, and the game will undoubtedly be well-played. Play will commence promptly at 3 P. M.

Hirshfield, pitcher for the Solar Tips, stated on Sunday evening that his club had played against many amateurs and professionals, but they never met such an aggregation of hitters as the Freeland team. The visitors were well satisfied with their trip and the treatment received and promised to recommend Freeland to their city brethren as the most impartial town they ever played in.

Frank Wheeler, Scranton's third baseman, scored the winning run in a game on Sunday. When he reached the plate he was told of the death of his year-old son, who was drowned while playing near a pond.

Manager Hanlon will take his club to Scranton to-morrow morning for a two days' trip. Scranton is supposed to have a very strong team this season, but the boys will try to pluck a feather or two from the Electric City's cap.

ECKLEY DOINGS.

Miss Ellie McCauley and Miss Gallagher, both of Hazleton, were a the visitors here on Sunday.

Manus McFadden, late of this place, low of Sandy Run, was here on Sunday. The Hon. Manus Cannon, the Carbon County farmer, took a flying drive through here on Sunday with his noted team of grays.

Miss Alice McNelis and Miss Cona han, of Old Buck Mountain, were visit ag here on Sunday.

William O'Donnell, the popular young totelkeeper of Hazle Brook, was a visitor mong the fair sex here on Sunday. James McGill and Patrick Quinn, o Old Buck Mountain. took a pleasan drive through our yillage on Sunday.

Since the Rambler has started to promenade Lovers' Lane the young ladies and gents can be seen wending their way over the summit on that noto-rious D. S. & S.

Two of our young ladies while taking a pleasant walk towrads the stripping recently were attacked by a monster black snake. The reptile made a great fight, and it was with much difficulty they succeeded in taking its life. When measured it was 5 feet 4 inches long.

Eckley, like several other mining towns, is noted for its great coal hoisting. The workings at old No. 1 slope are being remodeled and a foundation for an engine is being laid. It is rumored that when completed all the coal from the stripping will come through the No. 1 slope.

The Terrors and Yorktown crossed bats at Eckley on Sunday. The latter was defeated by a score of 14 to 7. The features of the game was the coaching of Jakie George, that young operator on the D. S. & S.

The Female Base Ball Club, of this place, has disbanded for the season, as they were not admitted to the association.

George Freeworth, of Beaver Meadow, was visiting his friend John Rodgers on Sunday.

A picnic will be held by the young men of Buck Mountain on June 18.

Eckley has always been noted for a good drum corps and to keep in trim the boys showed up and serenaded our quiet village on Tuesday evening. Keep the good work going, boys. Miss Bridget Ann Haggerty, of this place, spent her vacation at Freeland the past week and returned on Saturday very much pleased with her trip.

Patrick Gallagher made a trip to Buck Mountain on Sunday evening. There must be more than a walk in it, Pat.

A large picnic will be held by the A. O. H. of this place on July 2. Two of our young men, J. Craig and J. Harvey, took a business trip to Scale Siding, where they are about to purchase a small farm.

JEDDO NEWS.

Misses Annie Timony and Ella Mulli-gan are visiting among friends in Auden-ried this week.

Some of the miners of this place are idle over the rush of water caused by the heavy rains last week.

The Milnesville boys came here to play base ball on Sunday and the way our boys made them chase the ball was enough to discourage any club. We expect them to play again in about two weeks when they practice a little.

Miss Annie Brislin, of Hazleton, spent few hours here among friends this reek. Some of our young people are falling into the habit of letter writing for pastime or pleasure, as they call it. The letter writing is all right in its place, but girls, suppose they get into the hands of somebody else. What then?

like to see what is going on at night.

The new slope at No. 5, or Pink Ash, as it is better known, is the subject of much debate at present. It is well known that the old workings have been very troublesome on account of the large volume of water that had to be pumped out. The old miners who worked in this slope say that a pump throwing 1200 glations a minute failed to keep it dry and they think it will be the same again as soon as the new portion of it gets in working order. But they admit that the big flat from Pink Ash to the tunnel mountain will be the best of work and will last for many a year. Then the unpleasant thought comes—the English-speaking race will hardly be noticeable in it.
