Three Jolly Tinkers.

Three jolly umbrella-menders blew into town this week and, like many others, they took the place to be as free as its name implied, and proceeded to painted it in regular Fourth of July style. On Tuesday morning one of the trio, who gave his name as William Boyle, residence city of Hazleton, was arrested by Chief of Police Kenne was arrested to rescue him from the officer, but after a short struggle and with some assistance the chief escorted them all to Hotel de Dauber, where they were given a hearing by burgess Gallagher. The verdict was guilty, but as two of them had only one leg each, the fine was reduced to $7.59 apiece. They did not have the necessary, and were remanded to rooms 1, 3 and 6 in the hotel, where they will dine for five days on dry bread and pure water.

Will Call on Delinquents.

During the next few weeks the TRIBUR Collector will call upon a number of people in Freeland and surrounding towns for small amounts which are due for subscriptions. It is hoped that those who are in arrears will respond promptly, as the paper has been under heavy expenses for the past few months. The individual amounts in all cases are very small, but when several hundred subscribers hold back for one or two years it makes a sum which could be put to very good use at present. The publisher intends to give the people here as good a local paper as can be issued for the money, and special attention is called to the offer (open until September 1) by which the TRIBUNE can be had for $1

FOR THE FOURTH

Preparing for Large Parades and Day in Town.

Preparing for Large Parades and a Big Day in Town.

The indications are that the glorious Fourth will be celebrated here in grand style on Monday. A great number of people from a distance will be here, who have often heard of our lively town but never were in it. To make a favorable impression on the visitors the business places and residences should be decarted in a becoming manner and everything possible should be done to make it pleasant for those who are coming here to celebrate the day.

The parade under the auspieses of Camp 147, P. O. S. of A., will start from Front and Washington streets at 2 P. M. The complete revised programme will appear in the Tranux's early Monday for the work of the made at Firemen's park, where a picnic is to be held by the campes from the Catholic societies met on Tuesday evening an grand display of fireworks evening a grand day of the campes from the Catholic societies met on Tuesday evening and completed the arrangements for the second anniversary of the flag-raising at St. Ann's parochial school. The order and route of parade was decided upon, and in the afternoon of the Fourth a pincie will be held by the congregation at the grove near the church.

Rallroad Going Down Again.

Another cavein occurred on the D. S. & S. near Stockton on Monday morning. All traffic had to be suspended, as about ninety feet of the track was swinging in the air and more was liable to go down at any moment. A large force of men have been filling it and had it in running order yesterday morning. The collieries on this side were idle a few hours each day on account of having no cars.

On Monday the locie track leading from No. 6 slope to the breaker at Upper Lehigh went down several feet from the effects of a cave in the mines. A number of men were put to work and had it in running order the same day.

in running order the same day.

Fishing Made Easy.

The veteran fisherman, John Burton, has made application for a patent upon a fishing-rod that is calculated to make the weary waits of the angler less tedious. Attached to the rod and connected to the line is a small bell which is so arranged that every time a fish bites the bell will ring and continue tapping until the fish is pulled from the water. With this the angler can set his rod on the bank and take a nap under a shady tree until the alarm is sounded. Under the old arrangement he was compelled to sit and watch for every bite.

An Awful Plunge.

An Awful Plunge.

Thomas Conlin, says the Wilkes-Barre Newsdealer, headman at the Woodward breaker, fell from the top of the hoisting tower to the ground yesterday morning, a distance of 153 feet and sustained only a broken arm and a number of bruises. His fellow workmen after seeing his awful fall expected to find him crushed, mangled and dead, and were astounded to see nim alive. He was removed to his home in Edwardsville and his wounds dressed. The arm is broken in two places.

Tenth Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hayes celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage on Monday evening, at their residence on Washington Street. The event was very appropriately observed by a large number of guests who assembled to do honor to the occasion, and the happy couple were congratulated upon every side by their many friends. Supper was served at 11.30 P. M., at which many words of praise and kindness were offered for their future welfare. Gillespie's orchestra assisted in entertaining the guests with some excellent music, and the Orpheus quartette rendered some beautiful rocal selections. Among those who were present were: Rev. F. P. McNally, Dr. H. M. Neal, J. B. Laubach and wife, A. Rudewick and wife, J. P. McDonald and wife, E. J. Sweeney and wife, D. J. McCarthy and wife, Wm. Williamson and wife, II. Malloy and wife, Wm. Watkins and wife, and many other ladies and gentlemen who by their presence enlivened the occasion.

Railroad Going Down Again.

Death of Mrs. Ario Pardee.

Mrs. Anna Pardee, widow of the late coal operator, Ario Pardee, died on Tuesday afternoon at Hazleton. When Ario Pardee died several months ago he left an estate valued at fully $10,000,000. There was no will found and the widow enjoyed the income from a third of the estate. She was seventy-one years of age and ten children survive her. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

A Misplaced Switch.

A passenger train from New York on the Central Railroad ran through a misplaced switch at breaker No. 10, Lansford, on Monday. The engine and baggage car were thrown from the track and over a ten-foot embankment. Engineer William Dolan, Fireman Mack Trees, and Baggage Master James Moore, of Mauch Chunk, were seriously injured.

On Tuesday about 150 members of the coal exchange from Jersey City arrived on a special train to examine the coal beds here. They all wore a badge on the lapel of their coat and were in charge of Mr. Markle who showed them all the different points of coal mining at the slopes and strippings. They seemed dazed at some of the methods adopted in the business as it was explained to them, but, as is usual in cases of this kind, the most essential feature was overlooked. If the guides had taken to the flat-roofed houses where our foreign friends are huddled together it would give them a point about coal mining that would require more than Mr. Markle's fertile brain to explain satisfactorily,
