NEW UNION STARTED

From Tamaqua comes word that there is a moyement on foot to organize a new union among the miners and laborers of the anthracite coal region. The new movement is not the result of a few dissatisfied at any particular colliery, but the result of a general protest of men in the whole region, whose wages have been greatly reduced by several obmoxious systems of mining practised by the combine. The work of governing the new association will be entirely different to any of the old organizations—everything will be in the hands of local men.

men. The honor of acknowledged leader-ship will fall to no one man. The local assemblies will meet weekly and every-thing will be thoroughly and openly dis-cussed and reports made to the district assemblies.

The men in and around Northumber-land county are credited with effecting the first local organization, and there are few, if any, of the men in that section who are not enrolled as members.

the first local organization, and there are few, if any, of the men in that section who are not enrolled as members.

All workingmen about the mines are especially requested to at least be present at the local meetings. The introductory fee of 50 cents need keep no workingman away. If he has not got this small amount the assembly will wait until he can conveniently pay it. The new society is known as the "Miners and Laborers Amalgamated Association," whose officers, with the exception of the treasurer, will be elected/every three months. Its organization is exclusively for miners and laborers.

The meetings, however are open for mine bosses or business men if they desire to come. Its constitution and by-laws are particularly opposed to stikes, believing that there are more satisfactory means of adjusting labor troubles. The object of the labor organization is not to wage war on employers unless they bring it upon themselves by refusing to acknowledge the rights of labor.

An appeal is made to the miners and laborers to act promptly in the matter of swelling the roll of membership, giving as a reason for speedy action that should the Reading combination win the suits now against them in the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, the work of organization would be up-hill.

Another Day for Freeland.

Another Day for Freeland.

Another big day is in store for Freeland on Saturday, September 17. The event will be a flag-raising on the grounds of St. John's Hungarian church, and will be conducted by St. John's Slayonian Society. All the societies and orders of every nationality in Freeland will be invited to participate in the celebration, and it is also expected that at least forty visiting societies will be here. Since the organization of St. John's Society the members have accepted all invitations sent them, and they are confident the Freeland societies will assist them in making this affair a most successful one. Different committees are now at work making all the necessary arrangements for the parade and entertainment of the societies.

In connection with the flag-raising it is proposed to have another celebration, but no parade, on Sunday, September 18, when the corner-stone of the new church will be laid with the usual impressive ceremonics.

Hazleton Men Won.

A large crowd witnessed the game of alley ball on Saturday afternoon between James Broderick and John Welsh, of Hazleton, and Manus Carlin, of Freeland, and Joseph Birkbeck, of Drifton. The contest was exciting and several good plays were made, but the Hazleton men finally won by a score of 41 to 38. The winners were challenged by Birkbeck to play another game against himself and William Gillespie, of Drifton. It will be for $100 a side, and is to take place at Gallagher's alley on Saturday, August 20.

The residence was neatly decorated with Chinese lanterns outside and the peals of laughter and music denoted that the young people within were having all the pleasure desirable. The party consisted of about thirty guests, each of whom did their share towards making the evening an enjoyable one. For some time past many petty thefts have been committed in the vicinity of Schwabe's butchering establishment in South Heberton. About a week ago a key of beer was missing, and on Friday M. Schwabe had Joe Jamison, John Walker and Manus Scott arrested for the theft. At the hearing before Squired Johnson the two latter disclaimed all to knowledge of the theft, but said they helped to drink beer with Jamison with our inquiring where it came from. About as said the same of the fire was rejected with scorn. It is to bad that Steator refused. He could into defendants would not settle, claim, ingrety were not guilty. A communication was read requesting the Tarriers to organize a branch at No. 3, to be known as the Stooks. It was laid on the table. The Blizzard made a motion to sever all connection with the Goslin Club of Freeland, claiming that several of its members were making too many Wednesday evening visits to this town. The motion was ruled out of order, but the Sage insisted on having his say on the subject. He claimed the visitors should be welcomed, as he has four marriageable daughters, and he thought that if our own young men won't do something soon we will have to ask for the aid of the Goslin Club.

The members were in a melancholy mood all evening, and after appointing a committee to investigate the Homestead trouble and congratulate Manager Frick upon his unfortunate escape, they adjourned to meet on Saturday evening, when nominations for Grand Tarrier will be made.

The warm weather of last week is the sole subject discussed here at present. One man says when he digs his potatoes, that it will be no surprise to him if he finds them cooked and ready for use.

The base ball club of this place is run on the slow plan and if the management was shaken up we might see more games.

The Reading combine seems to have but little effect, or control of the handling of coal from this place. Work is nearly as steady here as it ever was, although since the two weeks pay ceased we are not content. Steady work, with a fair chance to eat the earnings out of the company store before pay day comes, is about all the benefit that is derived from it.

Lehigh Valley Shop Men Dismissed.

At no time since the Lehigh Valley road has been under control of the Reading system has there been so much uncasiness among employes at the Easton shops as at present. The several suspensions and reductions which have taken place from time to time were followed on Friday by the discharge of eighteen carpenters and thirteen blacksmiths. No previous notice had been given the men. The present force will be reduced just half. The cause of suspension is attributed to the fact that no new work is to be made there.

The Grand Tarrier, the Gepositing is 'cud' on the window sill generatery being absent the Jigger was called the meeting to order. The use, called the meeting to order. The files took advantage of his weariness and held a picnic on his face. The explanation was satisfactory and an order of the club, but broke down several times, the Grand Tarrier finishing it.

The roll-call showed all the members present but one, and it was reported that he had gone into the barber business on the charity plan. The Grand Tarrier, upon hearing this charge, put on his ultra-dignified air, and ordered the offender to be brought before him. The dorskeeper went, but returned soon with the information that he could not be found. Further action on the case was postponed until some future date, but if the barber appears at a meeting before the Grand Tarrier goes out of office he will surely be Streatorized and should prepare himself by leaving an order at the blacksmith shop for a pair of cast-iron thumbs.

Fred. Kine. whose remains were interred in the Freeland cemetery on Saturday P. M., was one of the oldest residents of this vicinity. Being entirely unaccustomed to the habits of the American people, and being unable to speak the English language, he began his new life as a laborer in the great metropolis, New York.

During the next twelve years he labored in various places, among which were Boston, Mass.; Summit Hill, Tamaqua, Cranberry, Hazleton and Stockton. In 1861 he came to Jeddo and entered the employ of G. B. Markle & Co. He worked here for seven years at different kinds of labor, during this time the town of Drifton had sprung into existence, and in 1868, believing that the condition of himself and family would be improved by removal to this new "El Dorado," he removed there. He remained in Drifton until April 1876, during which interval his health had so far failed him that he cou'd no longer perform manual labor.

The strangest thing in politics is the stillness which always prevails just before the battle. For the delegate election we know that there are at least four men selected, for as many different candidates, to enter the race when the time arrives. With pencil and note book each have been quietly figuring the number of supporters they are likely to have, but the indications are that the Freeland candidate will be the winning man, notwithstanding the fact that some of the Democratic bosses prefer the Hazleton candidate.

Says Many of the Miners Like It—
Doubt of This Being a Cash Store.

The chief topic of discussion here is:
"When will the four days a week end?";
Some men who have worked here for years are well satisfied with four days a week, and think even less time would have no worse effect. As a reason for this they say working for money is a thing of the past in Drifton, and any work that is to be done at present must be for promotion or for a mere existence. As a rule promotions are few and far between, and they are also uncertain as to the length of time they will last when received, but those of us who are living on suspicion are numerous, although the fault is not ours. One of the many things which help to make us miserable is the numerous delivery wagons run by the company store, and they are also uncertain the store is run on the cash plan, but we hardly think it is. It seems to the customers to be just like all other company stores—the pass-book is handy and prices are high.

The company here has expended many a dollar in trying to supply the town with water which we use for domestic purposes, and now they should spend a little more. The hydrants of the program of a safe place to go for water after dark, as water versum in of almost every kind is coming through the pipes and the water tastes stale. A little attention on this subject would be welcomed by the residents.

We have heard so much about the Freeland electric light plant the past few months that we were badly disappointed when we heard that the end dropped out of it. I would like to make a suggestion to those parties who want light and don't know where or how to get it. In Drifton gas is made in first-class style, and if an addition was put to the plant that is here, there should be but little trouble to extend it to Freeland. A petition sent to Mr. Coxe would bring forth a decided answer. Send him one.
