after the meeting President Gompers gave out the following statement: "After a thorough investigation and re-view of the situation in Homestead and the other Carnegie mills, and after a conference with President Wiehe and other officials of the Amalgamated association, and an con-sultation with the advisory board of the Homestead men, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor do not deem it necessary at present to issue any boycott on the Carnegie products for these deem it necessary at present to issue any boycott on the Carnegie products for these reasons: "The amount of work now turned out in the Carnegie mills is of such a triffing, in-consequential character it would be sheer waste of effort to issue a boycott. "Added to this the quality and small amount of the product turned out is on forior it is hardly marketable and will re-sult in a greater loss of trade to the Car-negies than would come from any boycott we might now impose. In fact the unmar-ketable character and small amount of work done is an efficient boycott against the Car-negies than would come from any boycott we might now impose. In fact the cur-negies than would come from any boycott we hight now impose. In fact the unmar-ketable character and small amount of work done is an efficient boycott against the Car-negies company itself. "Bhould it be necessary to levy a general order in the future to let Carnegie products along we will not hesitate to do so, notwith-tanding the threats of the firm to use the conspiracy laws against us. Our declining to issue a boycott at this time does not prevent all sympathizers with the struggling toilers from refusing to use satroutural iron, steel or mais and other products of the Carnegie on fancidal ad which can be raised should be given freely to help this struggle of brawn and brain, muscle and heart against the cold blooded, grasping avarice of well protected manufacturers."  RIOTING AT BUFFALO.

 The Switchmen's Strike Spreading and the Troops Ordered Oat.
 BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—The Central men all struck out of sympathy with the striking switchmen on the Lehigh Valley and Erie roads. The Central's men had made a demand for ten hours' daily work and the adoption of the Chicago scale. Being refused, they abandoned their trains and joined the ranks of their brethren who are now battling against the Lehigh and Erie.
 It is expected that the West Shore switchmen will unite with the Central strikers. This would mean a tieup on all the lines terminating here and the desertion from their posts of at least 2,000 men. This action was brought about by an order from Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmen's brotherhood.
 Trains were moved from the Lehigh Valley yards with a soldier armed with a Winchester and with thiry-eight rounds of cartridges in his belt stationed on the platform of ach cark.
 There were one or two slight differences between the recklass strikers and the soldiers. One band of fellows stoned the militia from a bridge, but were quickly driven off. Another crowd of angry mearted the striker. He resisted and was clubbed. His friends started the rumor that he died from the beating, but this could not be verified. Two cars were set on fre in the yards while the militia guarded all entrances.
 Vice President Webb, of the Vanderbilt And the men. At first both masters and men were obstinate. The employers insisted on heavy reductions, and declared they would all start as nonunion mills unless the men agreed at once. On the other hand the men presented the vote of the 300 Amaign-mated lodges throughout the country, which vote was decidedly opposed to arbitration. The committee of men also refused to agree to a reduction. all entrances. Vice President Webb, of the Vanderbilt system, was on the ground to investigate the situation.

At the second meeting both sides were in a better humor. The employers declared they must start the mills and the men ac-knowledged that they wanted work. On this basis compromises was soon effected. Both sides were willing to make conces-sions and both sides made them, though the men seem to have the best of it. The manufacturers conceded what the men greatly desired—that the basis of pud-ding remain at $5.50 per ton—while the men agreed to a 10 per cent. reduction in alf finishing departments. In the bar and guide mills, with the exception of the plate and rolling mills, the men also agreed to twelve cents per ton less than last year. Heating in rolling mills is 10 per cent. lower. This agreement affects fourteen large mills in the Pittsburg district alone, em-ploying 40,000 men. Many of these mills have put in improved machinery by which, as the men are paid by the output, wages will be even larger than under the last soale, which was adopted in 1880. The Car-negie mills wilb the output machinery burkent non-union establishments in the district.

The River Hed Upset. TIFFIN, O., Aug. 16.—Following a muffled roar like far away thunder, the bed of the Sandusky river for several miles has been upheaved as if by an earthquake shock. In scores of places the water runshes into sub-terranean openings. At other points peaks project. It is supposed that natural gas caused the upheaval.

formal commitment of Miss Lizzle as the assassin of her father and stepmother ranks second in interest to the discovery of the murderous weapon. It did not leak out till now that one of the four hatchets found in the cellar of the Boy-den homestead soon after the murder was the instrument with which the butchery was committed. Under the murder coope it shows many spots of human blood. That it was carefully washed there is no doubt, for a bucket of water was found near it, and also three new towski, partially covered with blood. The water had been splashed over the cellar floor. The weapon also showed some long hairs, which matched those in Mrs. Borden's head. When court was opened Lizzle Borden came in on the arm of Rev A. E. Buck, the white haired missionary of Central church. She wore a tailor made gown of dark blue and a black hat trimmed with black polka dot crape. She had no vell. She was more self possessed than at any previous time, and her steellike and almost painful sever-ity of countenance betrayed no emotion. She was careless and indifferent to her sur-rounsid, A. J. Jennings. The latter field a mution to dismiss the complaint upon the sprounds that the judge, being the same per-son who presided at the inquest, was not competent to pass an unbiased opinion at the preliminary trial; further, that the in-quest was still in session. District Attorney Knowlton offered a de-murrer, which was sustained, and then he asked that the picked Lizzie to stand up and answer to the charge of murder. She dud not accept i, and ordered the clerk to proceed with the usual custom of the court. The clerk asked Lizzie to stand up and answer to the charge of murder.
