North Side Candidates - Republica Elated Over the Result.

Elated Over the Result.

The quietest Democratic convention in the history of the fourth legislative district was held at Hazleton on Tuesday, when Anthony Reilly, of that eity, was named as the candidate for the legislature. The gathering falled to arouse the usual interest among the local statesmen, and those who did attend were disappointed at the apparent harmony existing during the sessions. The delegates were to have met at 10 A. M., but it was 11.45 o'clock before all had returned from the cancuss of the different candidates.

The Democrats of this end of the district have little to say on the subject now. They seem to recognize that all they are here for is to obey the people of Hazleton and be used to further the selfish aims of the Democrats there. The cut this year was a deep one and is not likely to be healed before November. It is certain that several good Democrats are indifferent to the result.
On the other hand, the Republicans are confident of a walk-over for Jeffrey. They understand the feeling among the Democrats here far better than the Democrats here far better than the Democrats of Hazleton did, and their claims of victory are not being disputed by those who know what Foster and Freeland can do on election day.

Patrick Calpin and John Lenahan, of Sugar Notch, for the past eight months have been paying attentions to a hardsome young lady of Wilkes-Barre. The rivais for the young lady's hand at fiwer sociable and friendly in the matter, according to the Newsdecler, but as time advanced both young men became infatuated with the maiden. When approached by either of her beaux she would tell him that the man that won her hand had to prove himself a hero.

Both of the levers are workingmen and never had any experience in the manly art, but when told by the young girl that she wanted a hero, both went into training for the fight. Calpin was under the care of John Conway, while Michael Bratch rubbed down young Lenahan and encouraged him in his efforts to win the hand of the young pirl he loved.

Friday night was set for the fight to come off. At the appointed hour the men were on the ground. There was a fair sized crowd gathered to witness the mill and both men decided to postpone the affair and the crowd dispersed.

On Saturday the fifth annual excursion of the White Haven Odd Fellows' Relief Association to Mountain Park will take place. On all previous occasions these excursions were well patronized and we predict that the crowd will be greater than ever this year. Too much good cannot be said of this organization, as the funds derived from these excursions are converted into food and clothing and distributed among the poor without any regard to creed or nationality. It is a worthy organization and deserves patronage. These who patronize this excursion are giving their small mites to charity and enjoying themselves at the same time. ## THE STRIKE SPREADS Best of the Season! JOHN D. HAYES, MORE SWITCHMEN STOP WORK AT BUFFALO.

Soldiers Fire Into a Mob That Was Attacking Nonunion Men, with Fatal Results—Grand Secretary Debs Says the

BUFFALO, Aug. 24.—The "cruel war," as it is now called both by the soldiers and the newspaper correspondents, is still in evi-dence. The events of the day, while not altering the real situation, which is the failure of the switchmen's strike, have been oral days.

On the side of the strikers the material events of the day have been the accession to the ranks of the switchmen of the Dela ware, Lackawanna and Westerr and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, which completes the tieup, if such it may be called, of all the roads centering in Buffalo. The men of the latter road who quit work are not numerous, and their action does not cut any figure, as the road terminates in Buffalo on the tracks controlled by the Buffalo Creek Terminal company, whose men were already out. Its only significance lies in the fact that the Rochester and Pittsburg is the great soft coal carrier for this and the up lakes territory, and with it in the strike all the coal roads centering at the port of Buffalo are involved.

The Lackawanna addition to the involved roads is of more importance, as its tracks and trestles are numerous and will have to have protection if there is a continuance of the tieup. In addition to its leading treatie at the mouth of the harbor and its extensive freight docks at the foot of Main street along the water front, it has a big storage trestle east of the cty line in Cheek towaga, in about the same location as that of the trestic cast of the city line in Checktowaga, in about the same location as that of the Lehigh Valley, which has been under guard of three companies of the Seventy-four tregiment for the past week, this post being an isolated one about 3½ miles east of the city line.

A Striker Shot.

an isolated one about 3½ miles east of the city line.

All reports to the contrary, up to this time there have been but two cases where strikers or mischief makers have been actually hit when shot at by the troops. However, the Twenty-second regiment, stationed at the Tiff tarm, where the Lehigh Valley docks are located, had a brush with strikers, one of whom was shot and so badly wounded by a soldier that he is likely to die. The affair grew out of assaults on non-union switchmen and several arrests were made. The soldier who did the shooting went with the police to make a statement and was himself made a prisoner. As may be imagined, Colonel Camp was not long in making it evident that the Twenty-second regiment did not relish such treatment by the civil authorities, and when General Doyle told him to take all the mon he wanted, recapture his soldier and take possession of the police headquarters if necessary, the order was obeyed with alacrity and things looked decidedly interesting. A large sized incident was spoiled, however, when the police released the soldier before his comrades arrived to rescue him.

The military authorities have their hands full and the work is of the disagreeable ort, but the soldiers are attending to their

The military authorities have their hands rull and the work is of the disagreeable sort, but the soldiers are attending to their tasks in a fashion that is surprising. When the large number of men and their unfamiliarity with the work in hand is considered, the fact that there is not more trouble by reason of the annoyance and taunts to which they are subjected is worthy of remark.

Rumors as to the retention and withdrawal of the troops are more than numerous, and in a talk with General Porter the United Press was authorized to say that he proposes to retain the present force here until it is fully evident that the civil authorities can protect lives and property in the proper poses to retain the present force here until it is fully evident that the civil authorities can protect lives and property in the proper manner. This conclusion has been reached after a most thorough inspection of the situations and the stations of the troops in detail. General Porter, who reports to Governor Flower every day as to the outlook, is now firmly convinced that there will be no material change in affairs for some days. To use his exact words: "You may make the statement (as to the retention of the troops) just as emphatic as you please."

The Conference of the Chiefs.

It may be assumed that the men will all be here until the close of the week at least, unless the strike is sooner declared off. On this phase of the question the expected meeting this afternoon between Messrs. Sweeney, Sargent, Clark and Wilkinson, of the switchmen, firemen, conductors and trainmen, is expected to have an important bearing, and there is no ground to change the belief of twenty four hours ago that the three last named orders will find no reasonable ground for joining in a general strike. Reports that the local firemen have decided to strike and have made their wishes known to Grand Master Sargent requesting him to take their view of the case at the conference are not yet traced to any reliable source.
