We denounce protection as a fraud, robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few.—
Democratic Platform.

Until September 1, 1822, subscriptions will be received by the Tribuys at the rate of $1.00 per year, strictly in advance. Present subscribers, by paying any existing arrearnages and $1.00, can avail themselves of the advantages to be derived from this offer. After September 1 the Tribuys will be $1.50 per year, strictly in advance.

Tue news that the protected monopolists are backward about coming forward with contributions to the Republican campaign fund this year indicates that said protected monopolists are, in their way, good business men. Having bought the McKinley schedule of prohibitory the McKinley schedule of problem to be and the refore beg to be excused from pouring any more good dollars into the McKinley rat hole.

It is observed that the presidental canvass is dull this year compared with the activity that was usual at this period in former campaigns. There has been but little movement on either the Democratic or the Republican bis she has been conditioned in former campaigns. There has been but little movement on either the Democratic or the Republican bis she has been but little movement on either the Democratics. The interest which the people have taken in the moment and going to such many the many be retarded by the difficulty has had, in a large measure, the effect of drawing attention from the political field. from the political field. That episode has also demoralized the Republicans, who at the very threshold of the campaign which they intend to make on the tariff issue, find themselves confronted by such an object lesson on the benefits of the McKinley system of protection. It isn't any wonder that they are considerably rattled.

THE New York World, with the co operation of other prominent Demo-cratic newspapers throughout the country, is making an energetic fight for the capture of several Western states. Over $20,000 have been subscribed in less than two weeks, and this money is to be spent for strictly legitimate campaign purposes. It is not a fund of fried fat such as the other side gathers together every four years. It will not be spent in buying votes in blocks-of-five, or in any other corrupt or illegal manner. Over 3000 people have contributed to the fund, and every Democrat is asked to send his mite, even if it be only a dime. in order that the light may be spread among the people of the West. Contributions may be sent either direct to the World or through the TRIBUNE, and will be promptly acknowledged.

THE high protective tariff now in force is the fosterer of another trust just formed in New York. The manufacturers of wall paper, a commodity subject to a tariff tax of twenty-five per cent., have combined with the avowed purpose of cheapening the cost of manufacture but ariff tax of twenty-five per cent, have combined with the avowed purpose of cheapening the cost of manufacture but with the evident purpose of foreing up the price to the consumer. It does not take much thought to understand if the product was open to foreign competition that such a combine would be useless. As it is the consumer is compelled to pay the tariff tax not, because he imports the article, but in the inflation of the price of the home product. The house owner pays the tax when he ornaments his room; his poorer neighbor in the payment of rent.

In the two days that have elapsed since the Democrats held their legislative of the Democrats held their legislative.

since the Democrats held their legislative convention a decided change has come over many of the veteran workers in the Their enthusiasm died a sharp and sudden death since the fact onstrated that they do not amount sything so long as they reside outside the limits of Hazleton.

NO BIG ANIMALS.

WHAT VAST AREAS OF LAND IN TORRID COUNTRIES LACK.

Some Districts in Which There Are No Wild Animals of Considerable Size Islands of the West Indian Archipel ago Called a "Gameless Country."

Islands of the West Indian Archipelago Called a "Gameless Country."

A Russian naturalist, Professor Maclay, who passed several years in the interior of Papua, describes the highland district of the great island as a region as remarkable for its sechery and productiveness as for its salubrious crimate—a perpetual May in the terrace lands, with March and April plateaus here and there in the highest mountains. The area of the whole island exceeds that of Texas, but its population hardly aggregates a million, nine-tenths of the aborigines being lowland settlers, black idlers gorged with the yam roots and wild hog steaks of the coast plain. The uplands, too, abound with game and fish, and the only conceivable reason why the natives should limit their hunting grounds to the sweltering coast jungles is their preference for a climate that enables them to dispense with dry goods the year round.

In the Torres range there are summits towering to the height of 11,000 feet, but the close proximity of the equator has covered the highlands with a luxuriant regotation. Snow is hardly ever seen, but chill nights—light frost even—occur vegetation. Snow is hardly ever seen but chill nights—light frost even—occur now and then, and the frizzle haired coast dwellers avoid the mountains as the Indios Mansos of the Mexican low lands avoid the tierra fria. Papua is paradise of birds, but the kingdom of mammals is represented only by a few marsupials (ground kangaroos, tree kangaroos and opossums), besides the wild hogs of the river jungles.

reis, which the Cubans fattened for cullnary purposes without knowing any-thing about a classic precedent—the gliraria (rat kennels) of the ancient Romans, who preferred dormouse on toast to the best Syrian pheasant pies.

Romans, who preferred dormouse on toast to the best Syrian pheasant pies.

Dogs and cats were unknown, and that lack of household pets seems to have driven the aborigines to strange expedients, for in "Ogilvy's Voyages" there is an account of a San Domingo cacique who kept a tame manatee that made its headquarters in an artificial pond and was so well tamed that "when called by its name, Matoom, it would come out of the water and go directly to the cacique's house, where, being fed, it returned to the pond, accompanied by men and boys, who seemed to charm the manatee by their singing, and it often carried two children at a time on its back. Being once, however, struck by a pike in the hands of a Spaniard it would never after come out of the water if a clothed man were near.

Manatees have become rather scarce on the coast of San Domingo, but are often seen near the Island of Pinos, northwest of Cuba, where shoals of the strange creatures may be seen sporting about the reef like the sea lions below the Cliff House. Of all aquatic mammals the manatee, however, can claim the championship in the art of dodging a sudden attack; a leveled harpoon is enough to make them plunge under with a "ino you don't" snort, and then pop up again at unexpected times and places, waving their flippers in derision, and ready to disappear for good at the first suspicious motion.

The luxury of the Dominican cacique was therefore not apt to be shared by many of his subjects. Puppies and kittens were never seen in their cabins, and an overgrown rat, known as the hutia,

The Gladioli.

The splendid gladioli which now ornament all American gardens, from the finest to the humblest, when summer is at its height, are, as every one knows, natives of the Cape of Good Hope, greatly improved and infinitely diversified by cultivation. But perhaps it is not as generally known that the old fashloned hardy species. bearing a few small rose.

red or, rarely, white blossoms, whice our grandmothers loved long before its showier cousins became the fashion, is of European origin, and is indeed a familiar field flower throughout central and southern Europe.

In those parts of southern France where the festival called the Fete Dieu is still publicly observed, its varieties are more generally employed than any other flowers to decorate the canopies borne in the processions and the little shelters where they halt.—Garden and Forest.

The Baby Was New.

At the time when the coral honey-suckle was scarlet and bright around suckle was scarlet and bright around the porch Dora made the acquaintance of her new little sister. "What shall we call her?" asked mamma. "Daisy because she is sweet," said Rob quickly. "No," said Dora slowly; "we'd better call her honeysuckle, 'cause she's so red!" The baby was called Daisy until a name was decided upon. Shortly after a lady called. "Our baby's name is Gertrude," said Rob. "Indeed! Didn't you use to call her Daisy?" "Use to!" exclaimed Dora. "There isn't any 'use to' about our baby. She's too new."—Youth's Companion.

ETYMOLOGY MADE INTERESTING.

The Origin and Curious Evolution of Some English Surnames.

A magazine article by Sir Herbert Maxwell presents in a very readable form the derivation of a number of common names. It will be news, for example, to many of our readers that Snooks was once known as Sevenoakes. Some persons are not aware that Elizabeth is to be accounted an uncouth form of Isabel, which was formed from Isabeau on a false supposition that Isabeau was masculine. Eliza, it is stated, is not a shortened form of Elizabeth, but is the equivalent of Alice. Marion, we know, is in line with Marie, Mary and Maria.

Patronymics have been much multi-Patronymics have been much multiplied through pet names. The Saxons formed pet names by adding to the original name—often abbreviated—kin and cock, and the Normans introduced et and ot, en and on. From William we have the pet names Will, Wilcock, Wilkin, Willett, Willey, Willemot, Willen, Bill and Guili (Latin). From these we get, in order, Williams, MacWilliam, Williamson, Wills, Williams, Wilkinson, Wilkinson, Wilkinson, Wilkinson, Wilkinson, Gillott, Willetson, Wilmot, Willing, Bilson, Gill, Gilson, Gilkins, Gilkison, Gillott and Gillott. Robert—through Robin, Dobb, Hob, Rob and Hobkin—gives us Roberts, Robertson, Robinson, Robison, Probyn, Dobbs, Dobson, Hobbs. Probyn, Dobbs, Dobson, Hobbs. son, Robbs, Robson, Hopkins and Hopkins Hopkinson.

Philip gives us Phipps, Philpot and Philpots. Richard has been distorted by affection into the pet names Rich, Richie, Dick, Diccon, Hitchin and Hitchcock. From these in turn we have Richards, Richardson, Rickards, Pritchard, Rixon, Ritchie, Richison, Dick, Dixie, Dixon, Dickens, Dickenson, Hitchins, Hitchison, Hitchicox, David has given as Davidson, Dodson, Dodds, Davy, Davison, Daw, Dawson, Dawkins and O'Dowd. We have from Henry the derivations Hal, Hallet, Harry, Harriet and Hawkins.
From John we get Jack and Jenkins; from Simeon, Simkins. Thackeray's ancestor was a thatcher. Malthus got his name from malthouse and the common family name of Bacchus would be more correctly spelled bakehouse. Macpherson means parson's son. Vickers was the vicar's son. Wallace means a Welshman, and Bruce is a Norman name. Sinclair, Montgomery, Hay and Vance are, like Bruce, names derived from lands in Normany, Many English Philip gives us Phipps, Philpot and Philpots. Richard has been distorted Welshman, and Bruce is a Norman name. Sinclair, Montgomery, Hay and Vance are, like Bruce, names derived from lands in Normandy. Many English surnames end in ford, ham (house), lea, ton (farm) and by (dwelling), from the old practice of naming persons after their native place. Aylesford, Grimston, Habersham and Ormsby are examples.

Winslow is from words that mean Wine's hill. From Lea we get Lee, Leigh and Legh. The Welsh Ap, son, with Robert, has become Probert. Ap Rhys has become Price, Ap Owen has become Bowen, and Ap Hugh has become Pugh. A prosperous Dublin sunfidealer named Halfpenny has had his appellation shortened, it is narrated, to Halpen, and then enlarged to an imposing McAplin. It is interesting in this connection to know that Finn and Findlay are Celtic surnames equivalent to our White. Duff, Macduff and Dow are for Black. Glass is for Gray. Roy, Cockran and Cochrane all mean red. Our Mr. Brown is in Celtic Mr. Dunn or Mr. Donnan. Moore and Moran answer to our Bigg. On the other hand, Beggs is good Celtic for Little or Small. Oil. to our Bigg. On the other hand, Beggs is good Celtic for Little or Small. Oiiphant (elephant) is a name derived from a shop sign. The reader will perceive that many of our Christian names and surnames have had curious histories. Baltimore Sun.
