OUR BOARD OF HEALTH. APPOINTED BY THE COUNCIL ON TUESDAY EVENING.

Citizens-Health Officer Also Appointed Report of the Regular Meeting of the

The members of the borough council met in regular session on Tuesday evening, Messrs. Dooris, Rutter, Smith, Williamson and DePierro being present. The minutes of the last semi-monthly meeting were read and approved, and the following bills ordered paid: Patrick McLaughlin, serving notices... $ 7 00 Daniel Daubert, feeding prisoners and labor.

Wm. Williamson, supplies.
Daniel Daubert, salary as janitor.
Penn'a G. G. L. Co.

The report of the committee that waited on property owners in reference to donation of ground for sidewalks and gutters was presented. They had prepared deeds and had them signed by several, but others were not seen yet. The committee was continued, with instructions to have all sign whose sidewalks are donated as above.

Councilman Rutter spoke of the expense of sending out notices to parties to abate nuisances, and as the time allowed in such notices had expired and nothing done he asked what action, if any, the council intended to take in enforcing the notices.

done he asked what action, if any, the council intended to take in enforcing the notices.

While the above matter was being discussed D. J. McCarthy, Dr. F. Schilcher and Dr. A. S. McKnight came into the council room and asked leave to speak on the question. They presented the proclamation of the governor, calling upon all cities, boroughs and municipalities to take promptaction in preventing contageous disease, and requested that the members of council appoint a board of health, with power to act. A motion was passed that the president of council appoint a board of health, consisting of three physicians, two laymen and the burgess, with power to act for the best sanitory interest of the borough. On motion the sum of fifty dollars was appropriated for the use of the committee to purchase and ne disinfectants where the same becomes necessare mittee to purchase and Dr. F. Schilcher, Dr. A. S. McKnight, Dr. E. W. Rutter, D. J. McCarthy and B. F. Davis as members of the board of health, and J. B. Quigley as special health officer, Griffith G. Fritchard and Wm. Gower were exonerated from dog tax upon taking the necessary affidavit.

The street commissioner was instructed to finish the laying of the gutters already laid out, and place crossings where needed, provided sidewalks are put down.

Health Proclamation.

Notice is hereby given to all persons resident in the borough of Freeland that all nuisances be abated at once, alleys and premises cleaned up, disinfected and put in good sanitary condition, and that you hold yourself in readiness for a house-to-house inspection, from graret to cellar, from front gate to back gate, as the board shall direct, in conformity with the proclamation of Governor Pattison and the rules and regulations of the state board of health of Pennsylvania. By order of the Freeland board of health.

PROPERTY:OWNERS PROTEST. Kick Against an Increase in the Borough Valuations.

About forty-five of the property owners of the borough responded to a call for a meeting to be held at the opera house on Tuesday evening. An organization was perfected by electing Hugh Malloy chairman and John M. Powell, 1st, secretary, It was stated by some of the gentlemen present that the meeting had been called in order to devise the best plan to have the land valuations reduced. When Assessor Washburn made his assessment the rate per foot frontage was the same as for the past few years and was satisfactory to the property-owners, and there was no change in the transcripts sent out by the commissioners.

When appeal day for this borough came there was no objections raised, and in looking over the assessment the commissioners concluded that the rate in Freeland was not enough, and the valuations were doubled on every street in town. The ex-assessor, who had been sent for and arrived at the meeting, stated he would not at first agree to the canage decided upon by the commissioners for an arrived at the meeting, stated he would not at first agree to the canage decided upon by the commissioners with them at Wilkes-Barre, he was induced to sign an agreement authorizing them to make the increased valuations, the declared, however, that he made along the streets of the Points, in Foster, as it would be unfair to have one part of the town higher than the other, when both are equally as valuable.

The change in township figures, it was stated, has not been made, because Assessor Farrar would not give his consent, and told the commissioners the first was done properly and if they wanted to increase it to do so upon their own responsibility. The borough property owners did not seem to care what rate was paid on the township streets. They were positive the rate was too high here and what made matters worse was the fact that none, if any, knew the valuation has been increased until they went to pay their taxes last week.

After discussing the matter for a long time it was decided to send the exassessor to the commissio

Fire Company Meeting.

The members of the Citizens' Hose Company met in their rooms last evening. The treasurer reported that the proceeds of the excursion held on the 20th of August amounted to $173.01. The directors reported that they had ordered new locks and keys for the hose house. P. J. Boyle was proposed for membership. The committee on parade were instructed to hire a band to accompany the firemen to Hazleton. It was decided to hold a picnic at the park on Saturday next. There will be a special meeting held next Wednesday evening.

Fourth District Republicans.

The Republican delegates elected to the legislative convention met at Hazleton on Monday. On account of there being no contest some of the districts were not represented. The convention organized by electing Reese Lloyd, of Drifton, as chairman, and Parker Price, of Sandy Run, as secretary. Mr. Lloyd vacated the chair later on to nominate Hon. William R. Jeffrey, of Freeland, for representative. He was chosen by acclamation, and after several short addresses by prominent Republicans of the district the delegates adjourned.

Decision Against Coal Washing.
Judge Pershing, of Schuylkill county, has rendered a decision restraning Tyler, McTurk & Co., and the Mill Creek Coal Company and others from operating coal washeries near New Boston. The defendants claim to have an investment of $150,000 and that washing coal by water flowing through their breakers into the creek is a universal custom. If sustained, his decision will crush out the washeries.

The red-headed young man who distinguished himself on the diamond in Freeland and other coal region towns is still receiving the plaudits of the press throughout the country for the good work he is doing. For congress the names of C. D. Foster, Morgan B. Williams and Charles A. Miner were presented. One ballot gave Foster a majority of the votes, as follows:

After the Liquor Men.

Constable Denis Gallagher, of Wilkes-Barre, arrived in town on Tuesday and added two more, Peter Yansinski and John Gaido, to the already large number of liquor men arrested for iolating the law. He had a decoy with him on this visit in the shape of a Polander, and several attempts were made by the decoy in this vicinity yesterday to catch his unsuspecting countrymen in the meshes of the law, but as the liquor men have an eye to business the past few months he was unsuccessful. It has been hinted that Gallagher's eagerness to have the law obeyed was not that he loved the law alone, but that the word "settle" would be an important factor in every case.

The liquor men are determined to fight the matter to a finish in the court, and will make no compromise one way or another. They have some of the best legal talent at the county seat employed to see that justice is given them. Gailagher states, however, that the revenue collector is behind the whole affair, and the collector has been receiving so many letters from this section requesting him to take these steps that he was compelled to do it in the interest of law and order.

Yesterday a large number of witnesses, chiefly saloon keepers from the Points, were summoned to appear before the grand jury to-day in the cases of the liquor men who were arrested a few weeks rgo. Gallagher is confident that true bills will be found against them in every case.

To Run a Foot Race.

Patrick McGuire, Jr., of Upper Lehigh, and Thomas-Laughran, of Hazleton, tied a match on Tuesday for a foot race for $200 a side. The match was the result of a race they had run that day for $30 which Loughran won. $50 was placed in the hands of Johnny Williams, of Hazleton as a forfeit, and another meeting will be held shortly to arrange a date and place for the race.

Saturday Evening Frence.

The Citizens' Hose Company will hold a picnic at the park on Saturday evening. DePierro's orchestra, refreshments of all kinds and everything that may be required to give the sports a pleasant evening will be in abundance. Picnic will begin promptly at 6 o'clock.

MARRIED YESTERDAY.
Two More Young Couples Are United in the Bonds of Matrimony.
A very pretty wedding was celebrated in St. James' Episcopal church, Drifton, last evening, when Miss Ada Rowlands and John B. Canningham, both of Drifton being joined in matrimony by Rev. P. Waiting for the Returns.

It bore a striking resemblance to election nights around the Lehigh Valley station last night. Freeland had about thirty people who could not rest content until they had heard from New Orleans, and it was an anxious little throng that crowded around the operator as the rounds came in. The reports were a little disjointed at times, but enough came in to cause a flutter among Sulli-van's admirers, and when the result of the fight was announced very few could believe it. Several different cities were called up, and as each one corrobated the report it was finally accepted by nearly all. Some, however, insisted that the morning would bring a different version.

that the morning would bring a different version.

The betting through the town last night was brisker than at any time since the match was made. There was a good deal of trouble in finding Corbett money, as the mrjority of his friends did not have sufficient faith to risk money. A few of the sporting people went in for the Califoraian, and a conservative estimate of the amount that changed hands would be about $250, nearly all of which was in $10 or smaller bets.

"It Don't Pay."

The person who conducts his business on the theory that it doesn't pay, and he can't afford to advertise, sets up his judgement in opposition to all the best business men in the world. With a few years' experience in conducting a small business on a few thousand dollars of capital, he assumes to know more than thousands of business men whose hourly transactions aggregate more than his do in a year, and who have made their millions by pursuing a course that he says does not pay.

Amssurry, Mass., Sept. 8.—Amesbury is a saddened town today. The news of the seath of John G. Whittier, poet, friend and ritizen, at his summer home at Hampton Falls, N. H., has brought grief to every heart. The last few days were full of anxiety, but the hope has ever held sway with the people here that they might once again see the beloved form on the streets of Amesbury; but that has passed and the tolling bells echo the grief in many a heart.

Whittier's last conscious utterance was one of recognition of his niece, Mrs. Samuel L. Pickard, who is one of the property of the Whittier's Career.

John Greenleaf Whittier, the gentle Quaker poet, was born Dec. 17, 1807, on the ancestral farm at Haverhill. He was brought up on the farm and had only a common school education, learning, while still a boy, the trade of a shoemaker. When only eighten years old he began to contribute verses to the Haverhill Gazette. In 1829 he became the editor of The American Manufacturer, and a year later he took editorial charge of The New England Weekly Review. After a few months he returned to the Haverhill farm, where he remained for several years. William Lloyd Garrison, who was editor of the Newburyport Free Press, has related the beginning of Whittier's work as a poet as follows:

"Going up stairs to my office I observed a letter lying near the door. I opened it and found it contained an original piece of poetry for The Free Press. The ink was very pale, the handwriting very small, and having at that time a horror of original newspaper poetry, my first impulse was to tear it without reading it, since the chance of rejection was as minety-nine to one. Summouing up my resolution, however, I perused it, and was so gratified with it that I gave it a place in my journal.
"As I was anxious to find out the writer, my post rider one day divulged the secret, saying that he had brought the letter and that it was written by a Quaker lad named Whittier, who was daily at work with hammer and lapstone on the shoemaker's bench at East Haverhill. I lost no time in driving to see the youthful bard, who came into the room with shrinking diffidence, blushing like a maiden and almost unable to speak. I gave him some words of encouragement, but addressed myself particularly to his parent, urging them to grant him every facility for the development of his wonderful genius. This was the beginning of a lifelong friendship, founded on familiarity of purpose and principles."

A Popular Poet.

In 1835 and 1836 he represented his neighbors in the lower branch of the legislature. During the latter part of 1836 he became secretary of the American Antislavery society at Philadelphia, and in 1835 and 1839 he was the editor of The Pennsylvania Freeman and Antislavery Journal. His office was sacked and burned by a mob, and finally he came to Amesbury and settled here in 1840. He was the corresponding editor of The National Era, of Washington, for several years, and contributed to that publication many of his best antislavery lyrics.

active of The National Era, of Washington, for several years, and contributed to that publication many of his best antislavery lyrics.

Mr. Whittier never married, but always lived in the manner of simple Quaker folk. About fifty years ago he sold the family residence and farm at Haverhill, and moved with his mother to Ameebury. The exterior of his house was as severely plain as any of his Quaker brethren could have desired, but his study is remembered by scores of his friends as one of the sunniest, coziest retreats in New England.

No American poet, with the exception, perhaps, of Longfellow, has been more popular than Whittier. This is ascribed to the noble simplicity of his character, which was reflected in all his writings have appeared almost every year. The last edition of his potical and prose works was published in 1831, and since that time collections of his writings have appeared almost every year. The last edition of his 1839; "Ghore Poems," published in 1831, and Poems of Nature," all pace for its competitors, and is 1890; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1890; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The rot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1850; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The rot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1850; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The rot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1850; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The rot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1850; "Snow Bound," 1892; "In War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The rot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1893; "The Tot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1850; "Snow Bound," 1892; "The War Time and Other Poems," 1893; "The Tot on the Bach," 1867; "Among the Hills," 1865; "Hazel Blossoms," 1893; "Home Blossoms," 1893; "Home Blossoms," 1893; "T
