THE POLITICAL BOOM.

YORK REPUBLICANS HOLD A GENUINE LOVE FEAST.

Miller and Depew All Inside the Breastworks Together—New York Dem-peratic Clubs Re-elect Mr. John Boyd Thacher as President of the League.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The first big Re-publican meeting of the campaign was held last night at Cooper Union. The news that publican meeting of the campaign was held last night at Cooper Union. The news that x-Senator Warner Miller, ex-Senator Platt, Chauncey M. Depew and Whitelaw Reid were to speak attracted a large crowd. Mr. Platt after the applause had subsided which his appearance had evoked, thanked the audience for its kind reception and said he must protest against being stigmatized as a prodigal son. He was a Republican, and never expected to be anything else. He then referred to the lively contest which took place at the last convention between the friends of the different aspirants for the presidential nomination, and continuing said:

Only two conventions have occurred since aspirants for the presidential nomination, and continuing said:

Only two conventions have eccurred since the representation of the conventions have becaused the conventions which nominated for the second time the Father of his Country, George Washington, and the savior of his country, Ulysses S. Grant. [Applause.] The Republicans who supported the different candidates at Minneapolis have nothing for which to apologize. Any one of them is qualified to rule this nation Any one of them is qualified to rule this nation of the presperity. [Applause.] In his last letter of acceptance Mr. Cleveland has been forced to wrestle with a condition, not atheory, viz., he has been forced to spit upon the platform and to expect to rate as a consistent Democrat. Again, he overlooked that embarrassing condition which was embodied in Democrat. Again, he overlooked that embarrassing condition which was embodied in Glical known as the commissioner of statistics of labor. He should have definitely settled the question whether Peck should be crucified to appease the wrath of the free trade mugwamps, and thus be put on the list of martyrs to the holy cause of protection. He has been driven to embrace the tariff it dass of his arch enemy, and to humiliatingly adopt the imaginary issue and thus be rate and the put of the list of martyrs to the holy cause of protection. He has been driven to embrace the tariff it dass of his arch enemy, and to humiliatingly adopt the imaginary issue itized him as "a stuffed prophet." In the expressive language of that same Democratic oracle, "The tariff part of Mr. Cleveland's letter is full of carefully considered maxims and appliause.]

is as elastic as caoutchouc." [Laughter and applause.]
Democratic newspapers have persistently for months past spread through their columns all sorts of incendiary appeals and bogus information in regard to this alleged force bill. There never has been a force bill which was indered by the Republican party, and the information furnished on that subject is of the same character as the cable dispatches of interviews with Bismarck and imaginary discoveries in the geography of Mars. The issue is forced, flettious and fraudulent. The Republican party, however, believes in a free ballot and a fair count, and that we will have. [Applause.]

In introducing ex-Senator Warner Miller Mr. Platt spoke as follows:
There is harmony everywhere, not only in New York, but all over the state. (Applause.) This is a veritable love feast. [Laughter and applause.] There is nobody tonight outside the breastworks. [Laughter and applause.] I vale there myself and speak feelingly. [Laughter and cheers.] The next oractor of the evening is stere myself and speak feelingly. [Laughter and cheers.] The next oractor of the evening is a considered to the state of New York, whatever differences may be state of New York, whatever differences may be state of New York, whatever differences may publican party has ally one way, and to fight, in the state of New York, whatever differences may publican party has only one way, and the feath of New York, whatever differences may publican party has only one way.

Mr. Platt then introduced Dr. Channeey M. Depew, who received his usual ovation. In part he said.

Mr. Platt then introduced Dr. Chauncey M. Depew, who received his usual ovation. In part he said:

I came here for the purpose of convincing the skeptical Democratic newspapers that there is harmony in the Republican party. [Applause and laughter]. Brother Miller and Brother Plats and I [haughter] got on the opposite side friskiest lambs in the same bot. [Applause]. The Democratic literary directors are indebted to me. I have furnished a document of which they are printing 10,000 copies where they print 100 of Cleveland's letter of acceptance. Chauncey F. Black Re-elected President of the National Organization.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The second quadrennial convention of the National Association of Democratic Clubs met in the Academy of Music. The business of the convention was transacted with great expellition amid a whirlwind of enthusiasm. At the front and center of the stage was the desk of the presiding officer. There sat General Patrick Collins, of Massachusetts, chairman of the convention. Behind Chairman Collins was a semicircle of chairs, on which sat the visiting leaders and invited guests. Ex-President Cleveland entered escorted by Chauncey Black, president of the league, and William D. H. Washington, chairman of the local committee. The whole audience rose en masse to receive him, and a pandemonium of cheers and college yells was raised to which both bands contributed. Mr. Cleveland stood for some minutes until the enthusiasm subsided, and as he took the chair "Three cheers for the typical American, Grover Cleveland," were called for and given with a will. As Mr. Cleveland took his seat amid wild cheering and excitement President Chauncey F. Black stepped to the front of the stage and opened the convention with a speech eulogistic of the association and of trade and denounced the protective tariff. He then introduced Mr. Cleveland to the convention. The ex-president said in substance:

1 Your meeting is the council of war which

Your meeting is the council of war which precedes a decisive battle, and your deliberations should be the preparation for stern conflict. All your weapons and all your equipments are soon to be tested. You have organized and labored, and you have watched and planned to insure your readiness for the final engagement now near at hand.

Your designs and purposes, as declared by your association, are: The preservation of the your association, are: The preservation of of elections, opposition to the imposition of taxes beyond the necessities of the government, economically administered, and the promotion of economy in all branches of the public service. These professions embody the purest patriotism and the lottiest aspirations of American citizenship. Though at all times they should suggest to us the strongest obligation to political effort, their motive force, as incentives to political activity and watchuluous, should be irresistible at a time when the constitution is held in light esteem as against the accompilalment of selfish purposes, when state boundaries are hardly appropriate the self-government and freedom of elections are the scoff of partisauship. Those who subscribe to the creed of this association and make any claim to sincerity can hardly excuse themselves of the government, economically administered, have but little relation to the taxation of the have but little relation to the taxation of the properties as the properties and the second of the second control of the second control strains on methods, and in so far as it inspires that zeal and enthusiasm which will make more effective your work at home.

These temporary officers were chosen: General Collins, chairman, and Hon. Martin A. McGinniss, of Montana, vice chairman. A resolution conveying the sympathy of the convention to President Harrison on account of Mrs. Harrison's illness and expressing hope of her speedy recovery was unanimously adopted. Letters of regret from Adlai E. Stevenson, Hon. William M. Springer and Governor Flower were read.

The committee on credentials reported that there were 5,200 clubs on the rolls. The temporary officers were them made the permanent officers of the convention. The resolutions adopted warn the American people of the danger which menaces their common liberties in the manifest purpose of the managers of the monopoly party to debauch the suffrage, and to purchase another lease of the presidency and another majority in congress, and ultimately to take permanent possession of the federal government through the provisions of an unconstitutional and partisan force bill designed by corrupt and unscruptions conspirators, and Indorsed by Benjamin Harrison and a Republican convention of office holders and monopolists.

rison and a Republican convention of office holders and monopolists.

They also denounced as un-American and unconstitutional the pillage of the people for the benefit of the few by unjust tax laws; the squandering of the people's money in profligate expenditures, in subsidies and in jobs, and demand a return to lower and more equal taxation, more frugal expenditures and purer government, which can be accomplished only by the election of Cleveland and Stevenson.

Mr. Chauncey F. Black and Lawrence Gardine were elected president and secretary for the ensuing year, and Governor Roswell P. Flower was appointed treasurer. Then the convention permitted a motion to adjourn to be declared carried, and the delegates passed out to the tune of "Four Years More for Grover" vigorously played by the band.

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS.

John Boyd Thacher Elected President of the League of Clubs.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The convention of the State League of Democratic Clubs at Chickering hall had a much smaller attendance than was anticipated, but the body made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. Hon, William Sulzer, of New York, was made permanent chairman.

The platform indorses the principles of the Democratic parts and commends the tariff plank in the national platform in a few words, saying: "We deem it unnecessary to add anything further regarding the paramount issue, since no exposition of it can be so masterful as the admirable letter of acceptance of Grover Cleveland
and the great Brooklyn speech of David
B. Hill."

Considerable space is devoted to the fed-

and the great Brooklyn speech of David
B. Hill."
Considerable space is devoted to the federal elections bill, which is denounced in unmeasured terms.
The action of the national Republican committee in bringing David Martin from Philadelphia to this city is vigorously denounced and Martin described as a disreputable rascal, a ruffian at the polls, a manipulator of ballot boxes and a dispenser of corruption funds.
The platform then denounces the extravagant administration of Benjamin Harrison, indorses the administrations of Grover Cleveland, David B. Hill and Roswell P.
Flower, charges the loss of the World's fair to New York to Republican tricks, and concludes thus:

and we piedge the earnest support of this league to Grover Cieveland and Adia Stevenson.

The convention then proceeded to the election of officers for the ensuing year. Bartow S. Weeks placed the name of John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, in nomination as president, and his election was made by acclamation, John H. V. Arnold was elected by acclamation, John H. V. Arnold was elected by acclamation, Hernald J. Degnan, of Kings county, was elected. Herman Ammend, William E. Gross and Hon. Ferdinand Levy were elected third, fourth and fifth vice presidents of the league, respectively. The other officers elected were; Secretary, Edmund C. Stanton; assistant secretary, Frank E. Johnson, of Brooklyn; treasurer, Hon. Perry Belmont.
