WARNS OFFICE SEEKERS TO LEAVE HIM ALONE.

Applications Until After His Inaugura tion-No Reason or Decency in His Being Overwhelmed, He Says.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.-Mr. Cleveland has departed from this city. Since election day the president-elect has been absolutely overwhelmed by visitors. Before he left for the country he issued this pronunceaior the country he issued this pronunciaries.

Many of the callers whom I have been obliged to receive would not. I think, have neroached upon my time if they had given the matter a moment's reflection. Those who have called have been a little inconsiderate and certainly unnecessarily premature. I desire to give as much publicity as possible to the statement that I do not propose to consider applications for office prior to my inauguration, and I shall avoid all interviews on that subject.

Those who under any pretense gain an op-Those who under any pretense gain an anything which would so interfere with their values of success. Written applications will be so little regarded that I doubt if they ever see the files in Washington, for there is no reason or deconey in my being overwhelmed with such matters at this time.

by the Manhattan club President-elect Cleveland said:

The American people have become politically more thoughtful and more watchful than ten years ago. They are considering now year, they are sold that they have become the important thing in contradistinction to party spoils.

The distribution of party rewards for party action is no longer the mainspring of a political campaign. The situation must be gravely and intelligently met by those in charge of our political organizations.

No party, I care not whether Democratic or Republican, can get the support of the mass of the voters by merely promising party rewards for party supremacy. The people will be satisfied with nothing less than the redemption of the sacred piedges made to them collectively—the administration of wise policies and the carrying on of an honest government. [Great I would not have this otherwise. I am willing that the Democratic party should see that they may only hope successfully to retain the confidence of the people in meeting the situation by being absolutely and particularly true to itself and its professions. I had a suffrage plank incorporated in the Populists' platform and I forced the Republican party to do the same thing. If the politicians see fit to attack me because of my sex I shall flight this thing to a finish as a matter of principle."

No Pledges Asked For.
NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Richard Croke
enies the statement that Tammany aske denies the statement that Tammany asked and obtained any pledges from Grover Cleveland at the Victoria hotel banquet. Thomas G. Shearman, speaking at the singlet tax banquet Wednesday night, declared on "sure authority," backed up by the Brooklyn Eagle, that pledges had been demanded from Mr. Cleveland by his Tammany guests, but that he had indignantly refused to bind himself in any way whatsoever, and had stamped his refusal with an unparliamentary d——, which cast a gloom over the subsequent proceedings.

Mr. Croker says, "There were no pledges made and for a very simple reason—because no pledges were asked for."
