

THE PROTECTORATE.

HAWAII UNDER THE CARE OF AMERICAN SOLDIERS.

The Queen's Envoy is Here and Will Proceed to Washington—Minister Stevens' Act Thought to Be Unnecessary—A Newspaper's Denunciation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 10.—The steamship Australia has arrived from Honolulu, bringing advices to Feb. 1 from the scene of the revolution. On the morning of that day at 9 o'clock the flag of the United States of America was raised over Alioli Hall. The provisional government, after mature deliberation on the situation for some days, reached the conclusion that the step which has now been taken was rendered necessary by the circumstances.

The increased agitation on the part of certain whites of a class who have always been the curse of this country, coupled with the efforts of one English and one or two native newspapers to discredit the government, to block its efforts toward the establishment of order and in general to disrespect and contempt the chief agency in spreading through the town a feeling of uneasiness and disquietude.

The Stars and Stripes Sailed. Just before 9 o'clock Lieutenant Rush read in a loud voice the proclamation, and amid the breathless expectancy of all present the flag, saluted by the troops and by the cannon of the Boston, was raised above the town of Alioli Hall.

The following proclamation was issued by the representative of the United States to the Hawaiian people at the request of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands: I hereby, in the name of the United States of America, assume protection of the Hawaiian Islands for the protection of the life and property and occupation of public buildings and Hawaiian soil, so far as may be necessary for the purposes specified, but not interfering with the administration of public affairs by the provisional government. This action is taken pending and subject to negotiations at Washington.

Neuman Denies the Statement. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Paul Neuman denied the statement published in a San Francisco paper that ex-Queen Liliuokalani will relinquish all claim on the abrogated monarchy of Hawaii for a valuable consideration from the United States. NORVIN GREEN DEAD.

PRESIDENT OF THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

A Man in Whom Jay Gould Had Confidence—On a Military Faculty With Blaine—Physician and Politician—From a Small Beginning to Alliance.

LOUISVILLE, Feb. 13.—Dr. Norvin Green, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, died in this city Sunday. Dr. Norvin Green and his wife three years ago celebrated their golden wedding at their handsome home in this city. He married in 1840, his wife being Miss Martha English, a daughter of Captain James W. English, who fought in the battle of Tippecanoe and through the war of 1812 under General William Henry Harrison. The English family then lived in Carroll county, and after the marriage Dr. Green, who had raised sufficient money to educate himself by contracting to cut cord wood in Hunter's bottom, moved on the Kentucky side of the river, opposite Madison, Ind. He had been forced to do labor because of the bankruptcy of his father, who lost his all by becoming surety on a guardian's bond.

For the past 30 years the greatest part of his time has been spent in New York, but he has retained his citizenship in this city. In 1878 he removed his family to New York, bringing them back in 1885. Dr. Norvin Green was born in New Albany, April 17, 1818. While a child his family removed to the city of New York, where he was identified with and fashioned by his residence in Kentucky. His education was thorough rather than broad—studies which he had mapped out. His preferences were in the direction of solid knowledge rather than a classic culture. With such tendencies, and after a thorough course of study under the able faculty of the medical department of the University of Louisville, he graduated in 1840 with honor. He soon entered upon a successful practice. Not long afterward he became physician of the Western Military academy at Drennen's Springs, Ky., of which the late James G. Blaine was at that time one of the junior instructors.

A Kentucky Politician. Like almost all young men of spirit in Kentucky, Dr. Green early connected himself with the politics of the state. He was elected for several terms to the Kentucky legislature and in 1853 was appointed commissioner of the United States in charge of the construction of the national building in Louisville. While in the discharge of his appointment he became one of the lessees of the United Morse and People's Telegraph line between Louisville and New Orleans, and becoming president of these interests, united in the name of the Southern Telegraph company, he became identified with the history of the telegraph.

The lower part of the town is now almost deserted, and the occupants of the houses are moving their furniture, fearing the houses may be swept away. In Fair street the water came upon the people so suddenly that they had to be taken from the second story windows in boats.

GRESHAM AS SECRETARY.

A Mugwump Will Be Chief of the Cabinet Officers.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—President-elect Cleveland decided some time ago to select for the position of secretary of state the man he considered best fitted for the place, even if he had to ignore party lines to do it. If he had to choose a Republican as the chief member of his cabinet, however, he did not want a man who had recently been an active and aggressive partisan. These considerations led him to decide upon Judge Gresham, who, as is well known, was the postmaster general in the cabinet of President Arthur, by whom he was appointed to his present position of United States circuit judge.

The story of Judge Gresham's nomination received its strongest confirmation in the fact that an afternoon newspaper, which is recognized as President-elect Cleveland's personal organ, made the following announcement in connection with the report: "It is learned that the office of secretary of state has been offered to Judge Gresham by Mr. Cleveland, and his acceptance is counted on."

DE LESSEPS SENTENCED TO PRISON. The Eminent French Engineer Adjudged Guilty. PARIS, Feb. 10.—Expectation that the sentences of the prisoners in the Panama trial would be delivered brought eager crowds to the court of appeals building. The approaches to the court were filled to the last niche by noon, and five minutes after the doors were thrown open the room was packed to suffocation. Presiding Judge Perrier read the judgments.

The decision after having dismissed the prisoners' plea that they should benefit by the statute of limitations. Although the basis of the judgments was given in exceptionally minute detail, the audience listened from first to last with oppressive intensity of interest. The charge of fraudulent proceedings against Ferdinand de Lesseps, Charles de Lesseps, Henry Cottu and Marius Fontane was held to be proved. On this point the judgment referred to the company's methods in issuing loans, the mendacious official bulletins and the persistent puffing done by the press at the instance of the directors.

THE FLOOD AT TRENTON. TRENTON, Feb. 11.—The ice began working its way down the river in a solid mass and holding the great body of water behind it.
