TERMS OF THE COUNCIL.

WHAT THE BOROUGH ASKS FOR GRANTING THE RIGHT OF WAY.

Copy of the Ordinance That Was Drawn Up to Govern the Electric Railway Company—A Matter of Importance to the Citizens of the Town.

Below will be found a copy of the ordinance drawn up by the members of the Freeland council, and which has been sent out for the inspection of the Hazleton and North Side Company and the Union Passenger Company. If the terms and provisions of it are acceptable to both companies it is expected that the right of way will be granted to one of the applicants at the next regular monthly meeting, which will be held on March 6.

Inasmuch as the ordinance has been given out to the companies the TRIBUNE deemed it but just to the people of town to acquaint them with its conditions, and we publish it complete, in order that all may understand it well before it is passed by council.

It is a matter that every citizen should consider, and if there are any who believe the council has been too lenient or too strict in drawing the ordinance we would be pleased to give them space to make known their objections.

The councilmen, we believe, are unanimously in favor of an electric road, but at the same time the granting of the right of way is a valuable franchise that should not be given without procuring something in return. Neither did they believe in rushing the matter through with unnecessary haste until they could cover every point that has caused trouble in other boroughs and cities, nor did they wish to cause trouble between the companies by giving the right of way over the same ground to both, as was done in Foster.

If the company that is successful in obtaining the use of the streets will live up to the ordinance Freeland will have a road extending direct to Highland, Drifton, Upper Lehigh and Eckley within a year or so. This, with the other restrictions contained in the ordinance, will be of great advantage to the town as well as a guarantee that the road will be built.

Taking it all the way through we believe it will satisfy the majority of the people as well as both companies. The following is a complete copy of the ordinance:

An ordinance to authorize the ——— to lay tracks and operate its road upon certain streets within the borough of Freeland.

Be it ordained and enacted by the burgess and town council of the borough of Freeland, Luzerne County, Pa., that it is hereby enacted by authority of the same.

Section 1. That the ——— be and is hereby authorized to lay and construct its tracks with the necessary switches, turnouts and crossovers, and operate the same over and upon the following named streets of this borough: On Centre street from south end of the borough line to Walnut street, along Walnut street eastwardly to the borough line. The tracks shall be laid in the centre of the streets excepting so much of the streets named as shall by the borough authorities be deemed necessary for turnouts. The kind of rail to be a standard rail, not less than sixty (60) pounds to the yard, the top of said rail to be laid even with the grade of said streets, as given by the borough authorities.

Sec. 2. The said ——— Railway Company shall keep their tracks in good condition, so that the same can be crossed with safety to persons and vehicles, and shall macadamize the inside of tracks, and not less than twelve inches in width on the outside of each track, until such time as the said borough council may by ordinance direct any of the said streets to be paved, when the said company shall forthwith conform to the kind of paving so authorized.

Sec. 3. The said ——— Railway Company may erect poles and wires to operate the said railway with electricity, but the borough shall be entitled free of charge to use such poles for fire and police alarm wires, provided that such use in no wise interferes with the operation of said railway.

Sec. 4. Any material excavated by said railway company in the construction of its railway and not needed by said company shall be delivered by said railway company at such points as may be directed by the borough authorities. Provided that if no place be designated it shall be removed by said railway company and deposited at some suitable place selected and provided by said company outside of the borough limits.

Sec. 5. The said railway company shall run its cars at a rate not exceeding eight (8) miles an hour within the borough limits.

Sec. 6. All poles erected for the purpose of conveying power shall be placed at proper and suitable points along the line under the supervision of the borough authorities.

Sec. 7. The borough of Freeland by its property connected officers shall at all times have the right to make repairs and improvements to culverts and sewers under the surface occupied by said railway, and to open and remove the said tracks and turnouts whenever it shall become necessary for such purposes, but if possible without obstructing the running of cars of the said railway. And the said railway company shall at all times keep clear of all obstruction all water courses crossed by said railway.

Sec. 8. In the event of fire, or the alarm of fire, that right of way must be yielded readily and at once to the fire apparatus of the said borough, and the said railway company shall not by the running of its cars interfere with the proper use of said apparatus during the time of any fire.

Sec. 9. Said railway company shall in good faith commence the construction of its road within three (3) months from the time this ordinance takes effect, and build and operate the whole length thereof within six (6) months thereafter; otherwise all rights hereby granted shall cease and become void.

Sec. 10. Said railway company shall be liable for all accidents that may happen through the negligence of said railway company in the construction or operating of the same, and save harmless the borough of Freeland from all suits at law that may arise therefrom.

Sec. 11. That the said railway company shall within thirty days after the passage of this ordinance, file with the borough clerk acceptance of the provisions of this ordinance, under its corporate seal, otherwise this ordinance shall be void and of no effect.

Sec. 12. Whenever said railway company shall cross any street across which water now runs, they shall if necessary construct culverts across the entire street, so as to preserve a regular grade, and shall at all times see that such culverts are kept clear and open and are of sufficient dimensions to allow all surface water to pass through.

Sec. 13. Said railway company shall within one year from the time of beginning work within the borough of Freeland construct its road or branches thereof so as to connect with the villages of Upper Lehigh, Highland, Eckley and Drifton and operate said road or branches in connection with the road through the borough of Freeland.

Sec. 14. Said railway company shall run its cars at intervals of not more than one hour apart at all times between six o'clock a. m. and ten o'clock p. m.

Sec. 15. The said railway company shall have the right to enjoy all the privileges hereon given on strict compliance with the terms of this ordinance, provided, however, that time is in every instance material and a failure to comply with the requirements of this ordinance as to time will work a forfeiture of the rights herein granted, and provided further that said company shall not in any manner assign to any other company any privilege herein given, and any attempt to do so shall work a forfeiture of all rights herein granted.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

The Famous Shepp-Coxe Land Ejectment Suit Is Ended At Last.

The famous Shepp-Coxe land ejectment suit, which has been in the courts for the past seventeen years, has at last ended, and reverted to its rightful owners. Controversy about this land, which is located in the northern part of Schuylkill county, began in 1875, when Daniel Bitler and Nelson Brandon took possession of land owned by Eckley B. Coxe.

Mr. Coxe immediately brought suit to recover possession and in 1882, after a lapse of seven years, recovered a verdict from a jury in his favor. The sheriff dispossessed the intruders and delivered possession of the land to Mr. Coxe. As it takes two final judgements in ejectment cases to establish a title to land, Messrs. Dull and Shepp, who had acquired title of Brandon and Bitler, brought the second action of ejectment against Mr. Coxe in May, 1885.

The case was tried at Pottsville in 1890, after a lapse of five years. The trial continued ninety-one days and a verdict was rendered on April 30, 1891, in favor of Mr. Coxe and his company owners. The case was then appealed to the supreme court. Messrs. Dull and Shepp, who lost the case before the jury, being unwilling to contest longer for the land, signed and filed an agreement in the supreme court that the verdict in favor of Eckley B. Coxe and his company owners should be affirmed. Mr. Coxe, having obtained two final judgements, title to the land in controversy is settled forever.

Drank the Evidence.

Cases against Albert Buttner and Frank Czorga, of South Bethlehem, charged with violation of the license law, had to go over a term in the Northampton county courts by reason of the destruction of evidence. Parties had bought liquor at their places in larger quantities than their license permitted them to sell and were going with it, as witnesses, to court at Easton. On their way they drank it all and thus the prosecution had no evidence.

ELECTION EVE GOSSIP.

CANDIDATES LOOKING UP VOTERS FOR TOMORROW'S BATTLE.

Freeland Will Have Its Usual Quiet Time, But None Can Predict the Result in This Independent Town—Politics in the Townships.

For the past few days the local statesmen have been doing some hard campaigning, as such a thing is positively necessary in this borough, where, judging from past elections, party lines disappear like a mist on the morning of every February election. The Democratic majority on state and national issues was only about 2000 votes, but the voters have no respect for majorities on local questions, and while a few of the nominees of each party may get the regular vote the fate of the greater portion of the ticket is decided by the personality of the candidates.

The ticket named at the Democratic caucus seemed to have given the members of the party entire satisfaction, and no open opposition has so far been manifested toward any of the nominees. Our Republican friends, however, do not appear to be so fortunate in satisfying the members of the party in making the ticket, and threats to "cut" have been very numerous on that side for the past week. The Democratic nominees stand a very good chance of all being elected, but the independent voters are so thick here that no one would risk his reputation as a prophet in predicting the result of tomorrow's battle.

In Hazle the outlook for the Democrats is very favorable, although a hard fight is being made upon school director and tax collector. Owing to the large majority of the party there the few dissatisfied kickers will hardly be able to overturn the choice of the convention, and no serious danger is apprehended by the township committee.

Since the withdrawal of Foster's independent candidate for tax collector, Patrick J. Gallagher, the success of the entire ticket is assured. The Democrats of course are making a strong fight, but when it comes down to political skill they are no match for the Democratic committee, which is composed of some of the shrewdest politicians in the county. Although Mr. Gallagher's name appears on the official ballot it is understood he is out of the field, and good Democrats will give their support to Mr. Brehm, the regular nominee.

The Democratic committee has had 700 specimen ballots printed, showing how to mark a straight Democratic ticket. These have been distributed throughout the nine districts of the township in order that the members of the party will know how to vote without making any mistakes.

Maltese Beer.

Maltese beer is the name of a beverage manufactured by a firm in Philadelphia, where it has a large sale among temperance people and others who do not use intoxicants. It is said to be one of the purest and safest drinks made, and though it has a taste much similar to lager beer, there is no danger of its taking the same effect, no matter how much of it is drunk.

About a year ago a test case was made by parties charging the manufacturers of Maltese with selling fermented liquor, and the internal revenue officials were called upon to compel the manufacturers to obtain a brewers' license and pay the tax upon the product. The revenue officers procured samples of Maltese, and after making a thorough analysis of it decided that it was an unfermented, non-alcoholic and non-intoxicating beverage.

It is put up in kegs or bottles, and can be drawn like beer. Foams like beer, looks like beer, tastes like beer, and is not beer. It is an excellent drink to be kept for private use in the family or to be sold by societies at picnics where intoxicants are not allowed. It will also be on sale at the different saloons in a few weeks. John Dusheck, of Freeland, has been given the agency for Freeland, White Haven, Hazleton, and all other towns in lower Luzerne.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Whereas, God in his infinite wisdom has called from the mortal parts of life our brother and friend, Daniel Comerford, therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death the St. Mary's T. A. B. Cadet Society of Eckley has lost a brother member whose zeal in the holy cause was ever worthy of the highest emulation, and whose kindness of heart and sterling earnestness stood as a bright example to others, and could not but have been a great influence in aid of the principles of Father Mathew.

Resolved, That the community in which he resided is bereft of a bright, industrious and trustworthy young man, whose uniform kindness to all has left behind him a memory that will not be soon forgotten. And be it further

Resolved, That our heartfelt sympathy be extended to the bereaved family of our deceased brother, and we pray that God may comfort them in their heavy afflictions. Be it also

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the FREELAND TRIBUNE, and that a copy be presented to the family of our deceased brother.

JOHN E. SHEARON, Pres.
JOHN F. O'DONNELL, Secty.

Cocking Males.

A cocking main between Lansford and Allentown sports was fought at Hazleton on Friday night for $300 a side. Lansford won four battles straight, lost two, then won another, thereby winning the main. Several hundred dollars changed hands during the evening, and the sporting fraternity of the coal region was well represented.

On Saturday evening two birds from Highland and Upper Lehigh were pitted against one another in one of the sporting houses of town. The Highland bird won in a short while. The battle was for $10 a side.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Preparations Being Made to Have a Large Demonstration at Freeland.

St. Patrick's Day, March 17, will bring to Freeland the largest crowd of people that has ever assembled here to celebrate the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, if the plans and preparations that are now under way will be successful. A movement was started a few weeks ago by Division 19, A. O. H., to have a general parade of the Catholic societies of the Lehigh region at this place next month, and the idea was unanimously approved yesterday by the general committee of the societies of St. Ann's parish.

The committees from the societies met at the church and organized by electing John J. McNelis as chairman and D. S. Buckley as secretary. It was decided to hold the parade in the afternoon, and all societies will be in line and ready to march at 2 o'clock. Invitations to parade here will be extended to every Catholic society in White Haven, Eckley, Hazleton, Audenried, Beaver Meadow, Harleigh, Jeanesville, Manch Chunk, Lansford and Summit Hill.

In Hazleton and other places the parades will be held in the forenoon, and arrangements will be made to procure special trains to Freeland from all surrounding towns.

One delegate from each society was appointed to act with the secretary as a committee on invitation, and the following were chosen: Young Men's, P. J. Brislin; Division 4, A. O. H., John B. Quigley; Division 19, A. O. H., Thomas J. Boyle; St. Ann's, D. J. Kennedy; Pioneer Corps, James P. McNelis; St. Patrick's, James Harkins.

The general committee will meet again on Sunday at 3 p. m.

Dangers of the Season.

The sudden changes in the weather in the latter part of the winter and early spring are a source of coughs and colds. This season is a particularly dangerous one for persons with weak lungs or of delicate constitution. A slight cold is likely to become a serious one, and the cough that follows is the one great cause of the many deaths from consumption in the early spring.

Never neglect a cold or cough. Keep a reliable remedy on hand and check the first cough, that may lead to consumption. As such a remedy the medicine called Kemp's Balsam is strongly recommended. For every form of throat and lung disorder, including the la-grippe cough, croup and consumption in their early stages, it probably has no equal anywhere. Get a bottle today.

"The Criminal Type."

An important result of the congress at Brussels on criminal anthropology has been the discrediting of the so called "criminal type," or habitual criminal. The person who was born a criminal, and must be one, "noens volens," was supposed to have a smaller capacity of skull than the average, a more retreating forehead, the back of the head large, the lower jaw very strong and pronounced, the ears often deformed, the hair coarse and thick, the beard scanty, etc.

Dr. Tarnowski, of St. Petersburg, and Dr. Naecke, from a very large collection of data, maintained that there was no special peculiarity in the physique of criminals, male or female, and the general tendency of the papers read and discussions on the subject was to regard crime as the result of social and psychological rather than physical peculiarities.—Manchester Times.

Sending Flowers.

Just a word or two about the packing of flowers, facts, if you want your gift to arrive almost as fresh as when you picked them. If you desire to send roses, insert the cut stems into a raw potato, and the moisture will keep them from wilting, while the flowers themselves should be wrapped in wax paper. For small blossoms, such as violets, sweet peas or orange flowers, pack them closely in damp moss, but never wet the flowers themselves. Cover always with waxed paper, and in case you can procure a tin or lightweight wooden box it will insure their safe arrival, as a paste-board box is apt to get broken.—St. Louis Republic.

Effect of the Interstate Law.

A granger riding in the cars struck his head out of the window. "Better put your head in," said the conductor. The granger obeyed, and then turned to the man behind him and said, "Why can't I put my head out?" "You might knock some of the telegraph poles down," was the answer. "Oh, that's it. Well, if they're so mighty afraid of a few old poles, I'll keep my head in. That's the way on the railroads since that new law went into effect."—New York World.

Excusable.

"How is my wagon getting along?" asked the butcher. "You've had it six weeks." "All ready but the wheels. They're not tired yet," returned the wagon maker. "Well, they ought to be; they've been waiting so long," said the butcher.

A genuine blizzard struck town last night, and the mercury was down to seven below zero this morning. The remarkable part of the storm was the thunder and lightning accompaniments.

Committees from the Young Men's, the Pioneer Corps and the Emmet Social Club met yesterday and discussed ways and means to build a hall. No definite action was taken on any of the plans presented.

Hugh Malloy, who was mentioned last week as having killed a large catamount, will receive $2 for his trouble from the county commissioners, that being the bounty paid by the state. He also shot four foxes, for which he will receive $1 each.

The appraisers of Rockefeller's broken bank at Wilkes-Barre have figured out that depositors will get about nine and one-half per cent. of their money. The feeling against the head of the firm is very strong, as the majority of the 857 depositors were hard-working people, miners, farmers and small business men.

Entering Portland Harbor.

This is the time of year when the storm-tossed mariner should never be overconfident that he is safely and certainly within Portland harbor. Again and again vessels almost ready to poke their noses past House island have been driven off the shore by a wintry northeaster, and with rigging iced, crew despairing, have been whirled off the coast for days, driven sometimes hundreds of miles away. Even a land lubber can realize how men would feel under these conditions after they had drawn almost near enough to the home fireside to feel its warmth. It was only a little while ago that a Portland captain, returning from a long voyage, had worked his vessel well up to the harbor's mouth.

Then in his profound relief he resigned the ship into the hands of his men, went below and proceeded to acquire unto himself a load that sagged that part of the ship mightily. So when that north-easter came down past old Seguin the captain didn't know a gale from a tune on a jewsharp. The nose of the plunging ship worked about slowly, but steadily, and in 15 minutes the vessel was flitting away to the south, squarely away from home and comfort. The captain never sobered off so quickly in all his life, but it was no use; he was in for it. For nine days they struggled with a raging sea, hundreds of miles off the coast, with ice rigging stiff as iron, and suffering everything but death. When the storm abated, and the captain finally toiled weakly into Portland harbor, he was sober—there's not the least doubt about that.—Lewiston Journal.
