THE ANNEXATION MESSAGE BEFORE

Sherman Act Is Not Repealed—The Prospentive Secretary Has No Fear of a Gold Crisis—The Government Is Prepared.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.-The Nicaragua washington, reb. 10.—The Micaragua canal bill, though having the advantage of being the unfinished business, had to give way in the senate to the sundry civil ap-propriation bill. All the amendments to way in the senate to the suntry early exprending bill. All the amendments to that bill reported by the committee on appropriations (including the World's fair items) were disposed of, with the exception of the series relating to river and harbor improvements, and these were in the full tide of debate when the president's Hawaiian message was delivered. Then, without the delay of a minute, the senate on Mr. Sherman's motion went into executive session.

Mr. Sherman's motion went into executive session.

The President's Message on Hawaii.
The president sent a message to the senate recommending the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States. It is accompanied by a treaty of annexation, concluded between the secretary of state and the Hawaiian commissioners, and a mass of correspondence relating to the question at issue. The treaty is brief, providing merely for the annexation of the islands under the present provisional government, and leaving the details of the permanent form of government, etc., to the action of congress. The correspondence is very voluminous, going back many years, and gives a complete history of the islands under the present of the concerned. Contary to general expectation, the senate in executive session declined to make the treaty public immediately, but decided to first have the message and documents printed for the confidential information of senators.

$20,000 Annually to the Queen.
The laws of the United States which are in force in Alaska are extended to Hawaii. The deposed queen is to receive from the United States $20,000 a year, and the royal family, and especially the heiress apparent to the throne, are to be fully cared for. The Chinese problem is disposed of by making it impossible for any of the Chinese now on the islands to come into the United States.

The Chinese problem is disposed of by making it impossible for any of the Chinese now on the islands to come into the United States.

As far as the debts of Hawaii are consended, the treaty proposes that the United States shall assume them, but shall receive in return the various incomes of the islands, amounting, it is said, to about $10,000,000 a year.

Foster and Carlisle Confer.

Mr. Carlisle has been in conference with Secretary Foster. It is understood that Mr. Carlisle has received instructions for a bond issue and is now getting pointers from Secretary Foster. Mr. Carlisle said that he could not see any occasion for apprehension in financial circles, as the government would not allow gold to go to a premium.

"My course as secretary is perfectly plain," he said to a friend. "One of my first official steps will be to issue bonds, and this will be followed by a special session of congress. The Sherman act will then be repealed."

It would surprise no one familiar with Mr. Foster's plana to see a bond issue made as soon as the Sherman enabling act will probably be passed as an amendment to the sundry civil bill in the senate.

Movement by Eminent Catholics to Provide a Residence For Mgr. Satolli.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Austin E. Ford, editor of the New York Freeman's Journal, received an important dispatch, from a Roman Catholic standpoint, from the Very Rev. Patrick Cronin, editor of The Catholic Union, Buffalo. The message informed Mr. Ford that Bishop Ryan of Buffalo has consented to act as tressurer of the apostolic delegation building fund, the object of which is to defray the expense of crecting headquarters for Mgr. Satolli. Mr. Ford said the last intelligence from Rome has virtually ended all controversy as to the status of Mgr. Satolli, and to question his authority now is simply to give afront his authority now is simply to give affront to Leo XIII in person, who ratified all the acts and opinions publicly announced by his representative.

PERESKILL, N. Y., Feb. 17.—The Rev.
Dr. J. Wiblur Chapman, John Wanamaker's former pastor, closed his two weeks' revival at the Depew Opera House last night amid a grand burst of gospel hymns and a tremendous chorus of amens. Not even the gaudiest barn storming ballet troop ever drew such an audience. Converted sinners stood shoulder to shoulder with

A Father's Death Discloses a Son's Acts.
HAYDENVILLE, Mass., Feb. 18.—The recent death of B. S. Johnson has brought to light the fact that his son, Horace S., who died in October, 1891, was a defaulter to the amount of $11,562 from the Haydenville
Savings bank, in which he was a clerk.
The death of the father, who was organizer and treasurer of the bank, revealed the fact that he left no property and that it was all deeded to cover up the defaications of his son.

Court Records Stolen

Court Records Stolen.

A sensation was created at Mauch Chunk on Tuesday by the discovery that one of the quarter session court dockets had been stolen from the prothonotary's office since Saturday last. On that morning an article appeared in the Democrat, calling attention to certain costs that had been paid into the county treasury by the present prothonotary, which he had collected at different times in criminal cases, and that no such costs had ever been paid over or accounted for by his predecessor. The publication amounted to an accusation of embezzlement. The docket containing the accounts of such costs collected is the one said to be stolen.

Yesterday morning five colored men passed over the Highland branch bound for Ebervale, where they will be employed in the Jeddo tunnel. In conversation with a representative of the TRINEN they stated that they came from Niagara Falls, and were employed at the Great Falls tunnel, which is now completed. SO SAYS WARNER OF THE HORRORS OF THE SWEATING SYSTEM.

Result of the Investigation of the Con mittee of Congress—A Breeder of Con-taglous Diseases—A Solution Must Soon Be Found.

Representative Warner, of New York, the chairman of the subcommittee of the house committee on manufactures, which was directed to inquire into the sweating system, was interviewed in Washington recently. The investigation has been prosecuted in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago and Cinjuncti, It is exteat that in the cities of cinnati. It is stated that in the cities of Cincinnati and Philadelphia the sweating system is more prevalent and the conditions surrounding it more unfavorable than in the other cities. Mr. War-conditions surrounding it more uninvorable than in the other cities. Mr. Warner was asked how the conditions in New York compared with those in Boston and Chicago. He said:

"They are so similar as to be scarcely distinguishable, except as modified by the different conditions of the several cities. In Chicago, for example, this sweating business is carried on in quarters where the streets are practically disgusting, as well as imadequate a motion and for human occupants. These buildings are generally frame and two stories in height, with basements, generally below the sidewalk.
Hence there is nothing like that possibility of crowding that there would be were those quarters more closely and substantially built up.
The conditions of the sweating industry there, however, are as disgusting and the liability to contagious and epidemic diseases as great as in New York. In Boston the industry seems to old but fairly substantial buildings in the most crowded quarters, so that while the municipal conditions are better the result is an even greater liability to contagion in the more limited area covered.
"In New York the streets are, as a whole,

the general result varies only by essential local conditions."

"As to dangerous contagion there is equally little distinction. In Chicago we saw the scarlet ever signs posted up where the sweating little distinction in Chicago we saw the scarlet ever signs posted up where the sweating hood where it was still being prosecuted. In Boston we stumbled into proximity with the disease in a room where the household manufacturing of clothing was going on. It was not occupied by the same family, but it opened upon the same corridor. In New York one of the most typical instances was where we found poor wretches working under the most filthy the next block to them typius had broken out only last summer.

TRIALS OF A BORROWER.

Improvidence Rebuked at a Loan Office, Where Cash Is "Lent the Same Day."

A gentleman suffering from financial disability went to a loan office to negotiate a borrow on his furniture. In the advertisement it stated that the money would be lent the same day by a Choctaw lady, without removal and upon the note of hand of the borrower. All this looked very fine in print.

"I've got $10,000 worth of personal property," said the would be borrower, "and I have to meet a wash bill of $3.50 coming due tomorrow noon. Can I get fitted out here so as to be in a position to meet the collector without a blush?"

The manager of the loan office was strangely silent. The would be borrower became nervous and thought he hadn't said the speech right, and so he began over again in this style:

"I am a person of poor but honest parentage, temporarily embarrassed. Ineed the sum of $3.50 to meet an unjust liability."

Still there was no answer. Then the

"We charge one dollar more for bookage," said the manager.

"What's bookage?"

"That's none of your business. One dollar, please."

The borrower gave him the money.

off. Inere are some reflows that won twait."

The manager smiled a superior smile, "Oh, no there aren't," he said. "You'll know a little more about waiting when you get through with us."

The borrower left the office reluctantly and returned the following year at 2 o'clock. Then the manager told him somewhat sternly that he couldn't lend money on that furniture because it had got too old. In vain the borrower represented that it was new when his claim was filed. The manager ended the interview by charging him $1.25 storage on the "papers in the case," and then had the janitor throw him out. This ended the whole transaction.—New York Herald.

Eating Several Meals a Day.

When, as rarely happens, English farm laborers come to this country, they find it extremely difficult to accommodate themselves to the current American custom of eating but three meals a day. An English maidservant and nurse, who lived to be more than 100 years old, averred that she had always been accustomed to "a dew bit and breakfast, a stray bit and dinner, a nommet, a crummet, and a bit after supper." Extra meals are common enough during the harvest season in this country. The hasty breakfast at 3:30 in the morning is followed by a "stray bit" at 9 o'clock and by a luncheon between the noonday dinner and the after sunset supper. In parts of southern Pennsylvania the dinner hour is 11 o'clock in the morning, and it would not be difficult to show that Americans living on the same meridian are dining all the way from that hour until 7 in the evening. The great mass of country folk still dine at noon.—New York Sun. Eating Several Meals a Day

A Very Ancient Cance.

In 1881 a cance hollowed out of the trunk of a tree was found at Bovey-Tracey, in Devonshire. It lay in a deposit of brick earth more than twenty-nine feet below the highest level reached by the waters of the Bovey. It was more than thirty-five inches wide, and its length could not be exactly determined, the workmen having broken it in getting it out. An eminent archæologist is of opinion that this boat dates from the glacial epoch—perhaps even from a more remote time. If this hypothesis, the responsibility of which we leave to him, be correct, this is the most ancient witness in existence of prehistoric navigation.—"Manners and Monuments of Prehistoric Peoples."

The public is not so much interested now as it was a few months ago in the sweating system. Inmigration is the fad of the press for the moment. It is probable, however, that when Mr. Warner's committee presents its report to congress the sweater and the sweated will again command attention. It remains to be seen whether anything in the way of relief or attempted relief will be undertaken by the powers that be.

In an editorial commenting upon the statements made by Mr. Warner the Pittsburg Dispatch makes use of the following language:

That human beings should be worked to death on starvation wages and surrouseling the conditions of sleases in any civilized countraction of the inheritation of the responsibility therefor. Nothing short of conscientiousness on the part of consumers can eliminate the demand for productions at prices dependent upon the sweating system.
