

GREAT ENTERTAINMENT.

HOME TALENT HAS SCORED ANOTHER FINE SUCCESS.

The World's Fair Minstrels and P. O. S. of A. Band Attract a Large Audience and Give a Good Show—Prof. Mayberry Receives a Gold-Plated Cornet.

Notwithstanding the blinding snow storm which prevailed on Saturday evening the opera house was filled from the stage to the door with an audience who witnessed and enjoyed the show given by the World's Fair Minstrels and the P. O. S. of A. band. The minstrels, who were in charge of Messrs. Faas and Woodring, were very good, and the band, which was conducted by Prof. Mayberry, rendered their music to perfection, as was shown by the opening chorus, "Den Were Gone" by the whole company, which caught the audience at once.

An overture, "La Mayberry De Grande," by the World's Fair Orchestra was the next feature and was followed by John Jones in a ballad, "Only to See Her Face Again," which received great applause.

Ed. Faas, in "Don't You Think I'm Right," a comic song, was loudly applauded, as was Victor Oswald in a ballad, "You Better Stay At Home Lad."

A comic song, "Widow Nolan," by Faas and Woodring, was well received and the Anthracite Quartette, which consisted of Messrs. Faas, Keck, Jones and Mayberry, did splendidly and responded to an encore. Messrs. Faas, Woodring, Jones and Cunniss, in "The Hen Pecked Husband," were having a heated controversy on domestic affairs when the good woman whom the discussion concerned made her appearance at the street door and ran up the aisle and on the stage and led the poor down-trodden husband off the stage by the ear amid great applause.

Miss Annie Cunniss, the lady cornetist, gave a good rendition of the cornet solo "American Medley," which showed she had control of her instrument and her efforts were appreciated by the audience. Messrs. Faas and Woodring, in their witticisms and comic songs, made some clever hits while they held the boards and were frequently applauded for their originality.

The band played a selection, "Freeland By Electric Light," at the close of which Chas. Orion Stroh, Esq., made his appearance on the stage and after a few well chosen remarks presented Prof. Mayberry with a handsome gold-plated cornet valued at $175, on behalf of the members of the band. The professor thanked the band and performed on the new cornet, "For She Is," a difficult tripping polka, which greatly pleased the audience.

A descriptive selection "Jolly Blacksmith," was well rendered by the band and was followed by John Troell in a baritone solo, "Auld Lang Syne," (varie) which showed that Mr. Troell is a complete master of his instrument and the rendition was one of the best of the evening. An Eb cornet solo, "Washington Guards," was performed in a creditable manner and brought forth rounds of applause.

"Little Dot's" (varie), a cornet solo by Master Morgan DeFoy, was the next feature and was given in a masterly style by the young performer, who was encored repeatedly. "A Night Off" was performed in good style by the band and was followed by the farce comedy "One Night in a Hotel," in which Messrs. Faas, Woodring and Cunniss retained their popularity with the audience until the curtain dropped and those who were in attendance seemed to be well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

An Adventure With a Burglar. Colonel John Sobieski, the Prohibition candidate for governor of Missouri, who was a delegate to the national Prohibition convention, had a most thrilling adventure with burglars on his way to this city.

He had stopped to deliver several lectures at Magnolia, a little village in Illinois. He retired at his hotel, the Magnolia House, shortly before midnight. He was aroused about 2:30 o'clock in the morning by hearing the sound of voices in the hall. He listened for a moment and concluded that it was the landlord calling some of the other guests to catch a train. With that he turned over and fell asleep again. Shortly after that he was startled from his slumber by a bang at his door, which fell in with a crash. He leaped out of bed, but was confronted by a masked man pointing a revolver at him. He held a lantern in his hand and commanded the colonel to get back into bed and put his head under the bedsheet.

Altogether the gang got about $750 and five gold watches, and then made his escape, threatening the victims with death in case of pursuit.

Colonel Sobieski says that when he had his head under the sheet he asked the burglar to kindly point the pistol out of the window. The burglar laughed, and the colonel thought it might be well to temporize with him and said: "Now that you have got my watch and money, perhaps you will oblige me by telling me your politics. Are you a Prohibitionist?" "No, and if I thought you were I'd fill you with bullets," replied the guard.

"Oh, no," said the colonel. "I'm no Prohibitionist. I'll have a drink with you if you will get a bottle somewhere." "Not now," said the burglar. "Some other time when we are not busy." And with that the conversation ceased.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Nickel has long been known to exist in the Black Hills region. Many claims have lately been staked out, and specimens brought in from several large deposits show a large percentage of nickel and from $5 to $10 gold to the ton.

A few days ago at Quebec 12 brothers and five sisters had their pictures taken in a group. They are the children of a couple, both living, named Colman, are all grown and have families.

BRIEF ITEMS.

Hazleton hospital has twenty-seven patients at present. The fair at St. Ann's church will close on Wednesday evening. Costiveness can be permanently cured by the use of Baxter's Mankrake Bitters. Sold by Dr. Schilcher. It is expected the judges will announce their decision in the license cases tomorrow or on Wednesday.

By falling down the stairs of his restaurant at Mauch Chunk, Leopold Reis received fatal injuries. B. F. Davis sells the renowned Washburne brand of flour. It excels everything in the market. Try it. Cyrus Winters was injured by a runaway car at No. 7 Milnesville on Saturday, and he died to death in a few hours.

The employes have been paid off and work discontinued at this end of the Hazleton and North Side Company's railway. Cold Spring township, Berks county, polled six votes on Tuesday. Every man in the township was elected to some office. Recorder Michael Russell's father died on Friday morning at his home in Larksville of general debility. He had been sick for some time.

FOUND—This morning, a box of pudding; owner can have it by calling on Wm. Wehrmann, Centre street, and paying for this notice. Every mother should have Arnica & Oil Liniment always in the house in case of accident from burns, scalds or bruises. Sold by Dr. Schilcher.

Editor John McCarthy, of the Sentinel, and Matthew Long, of Hazleton, are among the daily visitors here and evince considerable interest in the town. Of the press in the fourth district, the FREELAND TRIBUNE is the only one that has the courage to oppose the Hazleton land schemers.—White Haven Journal.

Miss Gerda Olsbo, graduate of the Richmond, Va., Musical Conservatory, will give instructions on piano or organ. Terms, popular. Apply 79 Centre street. James Brennan, the well-known hotel man of Wilkes-Barre, has leased a saloon at Ninth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, and will take possession in April.

The Wilkes-Barre board of trade has passed resolutions against the proposed division of Luzerne county, and will send a committee to Harrisburg to fight the bill. Conductor Haines' train was stuck in a snow drift between Jeddo and Ebervale for more than three hours on Friday afternoon. Three engines were necessary to pull it out.

Patrick Givens, tax collector of Foster township, was at Wilkes-Barre on Friday and settled up with the county commissioners for his duplicate of state, bridge, sinking fund and county taxes. John C. Stroh and Walter Richards, of Drifton, represented by A. T. McClintock, entered appeals in court on Saturday against the report made by the Foster auditors for the year ending last March.

The comedian, Edwin C. Hayes, and a carefully selected dramatic company will present Robt. J. Donnelly's successful comedy-drama, "The Cannon Ball Express," at the opera house on Tuesday evening, March 7.

Thomas McGraw, of Beach Haven, and Edward Burke, of Pittston, are said to be slated as the Democratic candidates for county commissioners next fall. Tom Dullard, one of the present incumbents, will also be a candidate.

Fox hunting around the Honeyhole and other parts of Butler township is very good this winter. George Dinkelacker, of Drums, killed a very large one on Thursday. He brought it here the next day to secure the bounty.

Carbon county commissioners have accepted the plans for a new courthouse at Mauch Chunk. Lehigh town citizens want the county seat changed to their town, and a bill will probably be introduced in the legislature to have it done. Conductor Wm. Lavall, who had charge of one of the Wilkes-Barre trains that passes through here, resigned on Saturday and accepted a position in Markle's bank at Hazleton. His place today is filled by Baggage-master Chas. Dickinson.

"Tales from Town Topics, No. 7," the March number, has made its appearance, containing, in addition to its usual collection of stories, sketches, poems, etc., a very interesting prize novelette, 80 pages in length, entitled "The Cousin of the King."

Two more warrants were served upon Banker Rockafellow, charging him with having accepted deposits when he was insolvent. The plaintiffs were Sol. Hirsch and Max Levi. Bail was entered in the sum of $1500. The defense will probably be insanity.

D. O. Pritchard, at one time inside foreman at No. 2 Highland for G. B. Markle & Co., and lately employed by the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company near Wilkes-Barre, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the Midlothian colliery in Virginia.

How often we hear middle-aged people say regarding that reliable old cough remedy, N. H. Downs' Elixir: "Why, my mother gave it to me when I was a child, and I use it in my family; it always cures." It is always guaranteed to cure or money refunded. Sold by Dr. Schilcher.

Fred Dilley, who rendered himself notorious in Wilkes-Barre by mysteriously disappearing three years ago with $1200, and was found a year afterward in New Orleans, was sentenced Thursday at Chautauque, N. Y., to five years in the penitentiary, pleading guilty of embezzling $2000 from the Gresham Publishing Company.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

FROM SUBURBAN POINTS.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE OF NEIGHBORING TOWNS.

Death of a Prominent Member of the Masons and Legion of Honor at Drifton—How the Snow Affected the People of the Suburbs—Other Newsy Items. Special and regular correspondence from the surrounding towns is solicited by the TRIBUNE. All writers will please send their names to this office with communications intended for publication, in order that the editor may know from whom the correspondence comes.

DRIFTON ITEMS. The collieries were idle two days and half last week. The political hatchet is buried in this vicinity for a time at least. Michael Lennon commenced work last week after a severe illness. Condy Kennedy has accepted a position as hostler at the D. S. & S. roundhouse. Patrick McNamee, of Throop, Lackawanna county, was here this week visiting friends.

John E. Boyle, of Freeland, is one of the latest men to be put on the D. S. & S. brakes. Miss Annie O'Donnell, we are pleased to announce, is slowly recovering from her severe illness. Hugh Kennedy, formerly a resident of this place but now of Mauch Chunk, was in town yesterday. John Brislin resigned here, and it is said, he will take charge of the Mt. Scenery hotel in the near future.

James F. Sweeney returned home on Wednesday after spending a few days with friends at Mt. Carmel. Daniel Boyle had his hands badly frost-bitten one evening last week while on his way home from Freeland. Harry Blakeslee and Ed Tuttle, of Drifton, spent Sunday with their parents at White Haven.—Journal.

Patrick McGee changed his residence from No. 2 to the house lately occupied by James McGinley at No. 1. The passenger train on the D. S. & S. was delayed on Friday evening below the water tank. The snow was the cause. Great difficulty was experienced in moving trains on the D. S. & S. last week owing to the snow blockade which prevailed.

The toughest looking specimen of humanity seen here this season blew into town on Friday evening. He called at the residence of one of our citizens and asked for a "hand out." The boss of the house offered him water and soap to wash himself, and at the same time told him he would give him his supper. The tramp declined, saying it would spoil his complexion, and then left. When last seen he was climbing over a six-foot snow bank two blocks farther on.

On Thursday at 11 o'clock a. m. George Cameron died at his residence here. He was foreman of the plumbing department of Cox's Bros. & Co. and was a man who was universally liked and respected by the whole community. The disease which caused his death was contracted several months ago, but was not considered serious until a few days before he died. He was a member of the Free Masons of White Haven and of Union Council No. 300, American Legion of Honor, of Freeland. The remains were taken to White Haven yesterday by special train, where the interment was made with Masonic ceremonies. Mr. Cameron leaves a wife and three children. From the Legion of Honor they will receive $200, and also a good sum from the Masons.

UPPER LEHIGH NOTES. Michael Rodgers made a business trip to Hazleton on Friday. Some of the local sports are preparing to have another "go" in the pit in the near future. It is rumored that James F. Sheidy has accepted a position under the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company at Audenried. Misses Lottie Walk, Ellen Krommes and Mattie Johnson, of South Heberton, will leave tomorrow on a visit to Scranton.

The heaviest snow storm which has been in this section for years struck here last week. Some places it is piled ten feet high. Miss Mamie Reilly is rapidly recovering from a very severe attack of measles, and we hope to see her about again in a few days. Two men passed through here on Friday morning with a large catamount, which they captured near the steam mill in the Honeyhole. The snow blockade was so great on Thursday that No. 5 slope was obliged to be idle on account of the loche being unable to reach there.

Arrangements have been made whereby the subscribers of the TRIBUNE will receive their papers hereafter on the afternoon of each day they are issued. Although we are only a week from Freeland it requires from twelve to twenty-four hours for mail matter to go from one town to the other. The TRIBUNE will be carried from Freeland by the Lehigh Valley 12.16 train to Pond Creek Junction and then back to Upper Lehigh via the Central train.

ECKLEY CLIPPINGS. John Shellhammer, of Ashley, is in town. Today will be pay day here and will be welcomed by all. Miss Annie Quinn, of Freeland, is visiting friends in town. B. J. Carr made a business trip to Wilkes-Barre last week. Miss Mary Dolan, of Hazle Brook, has accepted a position in town. St. Mary's T. A. B. Society will hold a ball here on St. Patrick's night. Miss Annie McGroarty, of Freeland, spent a few days in town last week. Miss Mamie Maloney won a handsome lamp at the fair Saturday evening. Miss Annie Maloney, of Freeland, spent yesterday at the home of her parents. The fair at St. Mary's church will be opened on Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings of this week. Misses Annie Johnson, Bella Brennan and Mabel Edmunds, of Freeland, took in the fair Saturday evening. Great preparations are being made by the different Catholic societies of town for the celebration of St. Patrick's Day. Lehigh Valley engine No. 400, which runs the passenger train in here, was derailed in the rear of the company store on Saturday at 2 p. m., and it was after 8 that night when they got it out.

St. Mary's T. A. B. Society and St. Mary's T. A. B. Cadets met together yesterday and decided to combine and form one society. Another meeting will be held next Sunday to arrange the details of the combination.

The heavy snow and wind storm that prevailed for the past week caused much trouble here. The snow drifted to the height of twelve feet in some places, and as it was impossible to get the mules from the company stable to the slopes work had to be suspended for four days last week. It seems as if our town can't get an office in Foster township any more, and the only reason for it is because our voters are too honest. They refuse to cut the ticket or trade any candidate, consequently they get left. But you may bet whoever lives to see the next local election will find that Eckley will not forget to pay some of the districts back with the same coin as we received on the 21st—and who can blame them? MARY ANN.

JEDDO NEWS. Paul Dunleavy made a business trip to the county seat on Wednesday. Peter Gallagher, of Ebervale, moved his family to this place last week. John McNeil has been off work for several days on account of a severe cold. John Carrigan, of East Mauch Chunk, spent yesterday among friends in town. The collieries only worked two days last week. The weather was the cause. Peter Gallagher and Phillip Ferry, of Beaver Meadow, drove through town last week. Robert Carter and Miss Maud Belles of this place, were married at Hazleton on Saturday evening.

The election passed off very quietly. The old times are gone. The Baker riot had killed everything in that line. The snow and wind played havoc in this vicinity last week. Drifts from ten to fifteen feet in height are to be seen in many places. It seems one more effort will be made to get up a sleighing party before the present snow is gone. Boys don't get chicken-hearted again. Many of our citizens are wondering in what manner we have offended the Freeland borough fathers, owing to the way they are trying to isolate our town in the electric road business.

Letter Box Novelties In London. The first "penny-in-the-slot" automatic letter box placed at Charing Cross was not sufficiently successful, and the machine is now removed to the front of the Royal Exchange, within a few yards, however, of Cornhill postoffice. It remains to be proved whether the public will patronize the invention. All that one has to do is to press a penny in the slot and pull out a drawer, in which is a yellow envelope containing a second envelope and a card for the message to be forwarded. A flap to the box forms a desk upon which the communication may be written. It is then inclosed in the smaller envelope, and with the cash or stamps for special delivery at the rate of 3 pence per mile, including train and bus fares, but not cab fares, which are extras, is put into the larger envelope.

Meanwhile a messenger has been automatically summoned by electric call, but should he not make a speedy appearance the envelope may be left for him in a message box. Parcels may be entrusted to the messenger, but it is necessary to await his arrival, for they cannot be posted in the ordinary way.—London Telegraph. A Great American. It has passed into a proverb that men can become too great to be president. In proof of it stand the names of Webster, Clay and Sevard, and to the magnificent list may properly be added the name of Blaine. To the honor of the Maine statesman it is said that whatever the disappointments of himself and friends, however unfairly treated he appeared to be by the party for which he had done so much, he never faltered in his loyalty to his party and his country, and where the hardest work was being done and the grandest achievements attained, there was Blaine surrounded by his unwavering friends. He gave his strength, his life to his country. They whom he opposed respected him. Admiration of the man was not circumscribed by party lines. For many years his magical name has been saluted as that of the greatest living American, and his death will be recognized as an unmeasurable national loss.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Human Remains In Texas. It is reported that near Carrizozo Springs, Tex., an oval topped mound, covered with petrified human skulls, has been discovered. The mound is circular in form and about 100 feet high and on one side is joined to a short range of hills of about the same height. On the summit and for some distance down the sloping side it is covered with what appear to be smooth, spherical bones, which upon close examination prove to be, it is said, petrified human skulls distorted into grotesque shapes. It is further stated that by removing the loose dirt and sand from the orifices of the face the unmistakable human countenance is revealed. Bones of other classes are also said to be found there, and from all appearances the whole mound is formed of human skulls.—Philadelphia Ledger. Delegate Caine's Joke. During the last campaign Delegate John T. Caine of Utah went over into Wyoming to preach Democracy to the people. There are a large number of emigrants from Utah in the latter state, and Mr. Caine thought it would be good politics to talk to them. While thus campaigning he met Senator Warren, who gently reproved him for trespassing. "If you come over here again, I will have to kill you," said Senator Warren laughingly. "That's all right," replied the delegate, "but you must remember that in the matter of killing the Caines have always had the best of it." And the senator could not answer a word.—Washington Post. The Cost of a Steamer's Anchor. The French line steamer La Gasconne left for Havre without the port anchor and cable which she lost off the quarantine boarding station. A wrecking boat chartered at $50 a day succeeded in locating the anchor, but the grappling chains parted and it was lost again. The Gasconne had to get a new anchor and cable at an expense of nearly $5,000.—New York Mail and Express.
