

Canon Carr may now be said to be the wealthiest clergyman in England, he having inherited the vast estates of Sir William Evans, the Derbyshire Baronet who died some weeks since. The Canon was connected with the late Baronet by marriage only.

HIS TERRIBLE REVENGE.
"So!" exclaimed Harold Vere de Vere, folding his arms and regarding the young woman with a stern, pitiless gaze, "you have cast me aside, Mabel Featherbone, in order to get a rich widower, have you?"
"If you choose to speak of it in that coarse manner, Mr. Vere de Vere," she replied, raising her head and meeting his gaze haughtily, "I have, sir! I have promised to marry Mr. Wagonsellers."

Harold Vere de Vere crushed his hat down over his eyes and started for the door.
"Mabel Featherbone," he said, pausing with his hand on the door knob, "you have thrown me over for a man with a bar! You will find he is not the only man with a bar! I have one at home filled with your love letters! I shall sell them to the ragman. Good evening!"—Chicago Tribune.

A SOCIETY IDYL.
"Why is it that women are always so jealous and suspicious of each other?" asked the Professor in a plaintive voice of the lady with whom he had been dancing.
"Oh, because they know each other so well. Now, there's that Kate Lawson. Do you know what she told young Lawson to-night?"
"No. Please enlighten me."
"She said she had one of the most eligible young fellows in town at her feet. Such a whooper, when everybody knows she never had a single offer."
"I can prove the truth of Miss Lawson's assertion," said the Professor in his cold, calm voice, that sounded like a brook gurgling over broken glass.
"Oh, were you the man?" spitefully.
"No"—not in the least disconcerted—she was buying her wedding shoes, and the man at her feet was the clerk who was fitting her."
"Her wedding shoes! You don't mean to say that that girl has at last caught a husband?"
"So they say."
"Who is the unhappy man?"
"Myself."—Detroit Free Press.

RABBITS OF MANY KINDS.
In America no game law limits the sport of hunting rabbits. The ordinary gray rabbit of the fields is shot, trapped, or snared, from the beginning of the year to its end, except that there is an unwritten law known to schoolboys and sportsmen, that rabbits are not good eating in the summer season. In the northern latitude, the hares turn brown in summer, and change to light gray in winter. This is supposed to be a protective providence that helps them to amalgamate with their surroundings, and so escape slaughter.
Rabbits appear to be native to nearly all climes. The rabbit fancier has a list which includes Dutch rabbits, Himalayan, Africans, the little Polish rabbit, the Belgian, the Angoras, the silver-grays, silver-browns, black rabbits, white rabbits and an endless lot of names and nationalities. Besides these there are the rabbits with personal cognomens, such as the dew-lap, the lop-eared and the dwarf rabbit. These are all fancy rabbits, not half as good for eating purposes as the wild ones with their distinct nutty flavor. But these prizes rabbits cost all sorts of fancy prices, a single one selling as high as $100.—Detroit Free Press.

FIRST PUBLIC BUILDING AT WASHINGTON.
The White House was the first public building in Washington. The premium of $500 for the best design was given to James Hoban, a young Irishman, then living in Charleston, S. C. The first funds, $120,000 and $72,000, were furnished by Virginia and Maryland respectively, and Congress was finally induced to appropriate the sum necessary to finish it. Up to the present time its total cost has amounted to $2,332,000. Of this sum $930,000 has been spent in finishing, furnishing and caring for the building since 1797; $762,000 in repairing it since 1807; $373,000 in improving the grounds since 1818, and $75,000 in the erection and care of the green-houses and conservatories. The construction was laid October 13, 1792, in the presence of General Washington and the District Commissioners.—Public Opinion.

The Power of Water.

"A Southern Engineer" contributes a valuable article on "Geology and the Mississippi Problem. To the Engineering Magazine. In it he says:

We find in water the only free agent that works in the modification of continents; and instead of being the great renovator of the land, as it is popularly conceived, it is the great destroyer. The destruction of ancient Rome has been attributed to time. But it was due simply to the moisture of the atmosphere working through chemical agencies. It was water, invisible but penetrating even the very stones of the wonderful city, that caused her to crumble to ruins, and gave to modern Rome a grade greatly elevated above her ancient grade. But it works not alone in the cities and towns. There is not a hill on earth that has not been shorn of some of its altitude by this subtle force, and there is not a mountain on earth, if not fitfully renewed by volcanic action, that has not been compelled to lower its peak before this universal leveler of the exalted. It may be a dreadful thought, indeed, but we do not know absolutely that we are not dependent on the earthquake and the volcano for keeping our continental habit above the level of the ocean; for water not only destroys, but it has the persistency and force to carry off to its burial place in the sea all that it has caused to perish. It may take a long time at its task; but working either in its gaseous, its liquid, or its solid form, it seems to be the most persistent thing on earth, never perishing, and, however divided and invisible at times, always ready to unite its forces for a supreme effort at the degradation of a continent.

England has revived an old law against swearing.

How to Guess a Woman's Age.

A volume of memoirs has just been published giving the experiences of a French President of Assizes. It bears curious testimony to the inaccuracy of women on the subject of their own ages. As the writer's information is from the calendar, he speaks only of the criminal classes. The only instances in which he finds correct dates given by women are when they are under twenty-five or over eighty-five. At these periods of life, he says, they are to be trusted.

At all other periods the sure controlling tendency is to underestimate. The magistrate has been able to give a rule for guidance. He finds that female prisoners invariably state their ages as twenty-nine, thirty-nine, forty-nine or fifty-nine and from this remarkable circumstance he deduces his rule. If their ages are in the forties, they bodily set them down in the thirties, but conscience asserting itself, they keep as near the truth as they can and fix them at thirty-nine. Whether male criminals do the same the magistrate does not state.—London News.

English ignorance of America did not begin with this generation. Goldsmith's description of Niagara Falls includes the statement that "some Indians in their canoe, as it is said, have ventured down it in safety."

The Sultan of Turkey has ordered a competitive trial of Krupp and Oerlikon cannons. The latter are used by the French army; and the Ottoman army has been using the former.

The New Bread.

ROYAL unfermented bread, made without yeast, avoiding the decomposition produced in the flour by yeast or other baking powder; peptic, palatable and most healthful; may be eaten warm and fresh without discomfort, which is not true of bread made in any other way.

Can be made only with Royal Baking Powder.

Receipt for Making One Loaf.

ONE quart flour, 1 teaspoonful salt, half a teaspoonful sugar, 2 heaping teaspoonfuls Royal Baking Powder, half medium-sized cold boiled potato, and water. Sift together thoroughly flour, salt, sugar, and baking powder; rub in the potato; add sufficient water to mix smoothly and rapidly into a stiff batter, about as soft as for pound-cake; about a pint of water to a quart of flour will be required—more or less according to the brand and quality of the flour used. Do not make a stiff dough, like yeast bread. Pour the batter into a greased pan, 4 1/2 x 3 inches, and 4 inches deep, filling about half full. The loaf will rise to fill the pan when baked. Bake in very hot oven first 15 minutes baking, to prevent crusting too soon on top. Bake at once. Don't mix with milk.

Cannot Take the Bit.

The chief of the Kansas City (Mo.) Fire Department has invented a new bit for horses, the use of which makes it impossible for the horse to take the bit between his teeth. It has no bit to take. It is arranged with a strap over the horse's nose, and a steel curb under his jaw in such a way that a hard pull on the reins make the animal very uncomfortable indeed. The new bit works to perfection, it is said, on a practical test, keeping the horse perfectly under control, while giving him the minimum of discomfort. One great advantage of the contrivance is that it enables the animal to eat and drink in comfort without displacing the bit.—New York News.

PISO'S CURE FOR CONSUMPTION

Wef-fer you a ready made medicine for Coughs, Bronchitis and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Like other so-called Patent Medicines, it is well advertised, and having merit it has attained a wide sale under the name of Piso's Cure for Consumption.

It is now a "Nostrum," though at first it was compounded after a prescription by a regular physician, with no idea that it would ever go on the market as a proprietary medicine. But after compounding that prescription over a thousand times in one year, we named it "Piso's Cure for Consumption," and began advertising it in a small way. A medicine known all over the world is the result.

Why is it not just as good as though costing fifty cents to a dollar for a prescription and an equal sum to have it put-up at a drug store?

"A SUCCESS."

F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., Gentlemen— I have suffered from catarrh for about five years and have tried several remedies without relief until I commenced to use Hall's Catarrh Cure last February. I must say that it is a SUCCESS, the dropping in my throat disappeared entirely after the first bottle. It increased my appetite, so that I now weigh eight pounds more than my customary weight. I have recommended it to others and all who used it have been greatly relieved and speak highly of it. One of them was in my store yesterday and expressed his wish to peddle it this winter. Will you please let me know the lowest terms you could furnish it for, as I would like to keep it in stock. Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain, Yours respectfully,
