

Mexican Domestic Animals.
The ancient Mexican knew nothing of the use of beasts of burden. The llama was wild and seemingly undesirable for domestic purposes. From the bison, sheep and goat they derive little or no benefit. The dog has always been a favored animal with the Mexicans, and has been used as a beast of burden to carry their tents and draw their baggage, as among the savage Comanches of North America. In the days before Cortes and his conquering hosts invaded the Aztec Kingdom the natives kept only the small, dumb dog, which they fattened for the table. The Spaniards introduced horned cattle and horses, which subsequently roamed wild, and to this day vast herds and droves occupy the plains of Jalisco, Durango, Zacatecas and Chihuahua.—St. Louis Republic.

Not a Failure.
Johnny Gibbs is a youthful philosopher. He believes that life would be simplified if people would be content to do one thing at a time. The other day Johnny was hard at work with paper and pencil. His mother looked over his shoulder. "Why, Johnny," she exclaimed, "your spelling is perfectly dreadful! Look at that—'siting' in a chair. I'm ashamed of you!" "But, mamma," said the little boy, reassuringly, "this isn't a spelling lesson. It's a composition."

WHAT BECOMES OF THE MONEY WON AT POT? Somebody always wins around a table. It must be loaned to the fellows who lose, and is never paid back.

THE MERRY SIDE OF LIFE.

STORIES THAT ARE TOLD BY THE FUNNY MEN OF THE PRESS.

She Smiled Again—Ambiguous—Visible Evidence—Saying It—What He Wanted—An Apology, Etc.
"The biscuits my mother made weren't like these."
The young wife burst into tears—
"For these are as light as the froth of the sea."
And the best I have taste for years."
—New York Press.

VISIBLE EVIDENCE.
She (looking at the statuette)—"And here is little Cupid; how cold he looks!"
He—"Yes; get on to his quiver."
—Truth.

WHAT HE WANTED.
"You must have perseverance," said the young physician's friend.
"No," was the reply, "what I want is patients."
—Washington Star.

AMBIGUOUS.
She—"How was your speech at the club received the other night?"
He—"When I sat down they said it was the best thing I ever did."
—Life.

THE PROPER EXPRESSION.
Traveler—"Now, what ought little boys to say when a gentleman gives them a penny for carrying his bag?"
Small Boy—"Taint 'nough."
—Yankee Blade.

OUTSIDE ASSISTANCE.
Cholly—"One thing, my friends say I am never conscious of myself."
Maud—"No-o; I should imagine you might require outside assistance."
—New York Times.

AN APOLOGY.
She—"Your direct compliments, Mr. Squares, are in very bad taste."
He (scared out of trying to be gallant)—"Er—I didn't mean a word of them, truly I didn't."
—Chicago News Record.

THEY PAY NO BOARD.
"Mrs. Hashem set a mighty fine table yesterday," said one of the boarders.
"Yes," replied Billy Bilven, "she has to do it once in a while. She must realize that dead men pay no board."
—Washington Star.

SAYING IT.
Nemo—"Bah, that woman can't talk a little bit."
Noone—"Why, I thought she talked incessantly."
Nemo—"Well, isn't that what I said?"
—Godey's Magazine.

NO USE FOR PIANISTS.
Customer (in barber's chair)—"So you haven't heard Van Thumper, the world-famous pianist?"
Barber—"Naw. Dose biansists neffer batronize me, un' z I neffer batronize dem."
—New York News.

SHE WONDERED WHAT HE MEANT.
Miss Eros—"Here are two poems, and my friends think they are all just lovely."
Editor—"They do, eh? I'm glad your friends have such good opinions of themselves."
—New York Herald.

ALL THE NATIONAL COLORS.
"I'm a very patriotic individual just now," observed Miss Van Braam.
"Ah," replied Mr. Manchester. "How is that?"
"I'm a white girl, with red hair, and I feel blue."
—Pittsburg Chronicle.

HARD UP.
Treetop—"The hotel I put up to was on the European plan and the man who ran it was mighty hard up."
Hayrick—"Did he tell you so?"
Treetop—"He didn't need to; he put in a bill after each meal."
—New York Times.

PROVING IT.
"Henry," she said, "I think a man should reach a position where his wife can live up to him."
"So do I!" replied Henry heartily.
"Well, I do so wish you would get the step ladder and hang a few pictures for me."
—Washington Star.

SENT HIS VALET.
"That suit of yours doesn't fit you very well, Jimpson."
"No, confound it! That's what comes of sending your man to do things for you instead of doing 'em for yourself. The idiot measured for himself, and not for me as I told him to."
—Judge.

THE VOTE OF AUTHORITY.
"Well, Aunt Rachel," said the young lady in the traveling suit, "I shall have to bid you a long farewell."
"If you're going in this train, ma'am," said the conductor, signaling to the engineer to go ahead, "you'll have to make it pretty short."
—Chicago Tribune.

IT LOOKS BIG.
Closely—"Well, Miss Maud, I beat Jim shooting to-day. We shot at a nickel and I hit it."
Maud (to Jim)—"How did Mr. Closely happen to beat you shooting?"
Jim—"You see, a nickel appears much larger to Closely than it does to me."
—Life.

THE WILL WAS READ.
"Young Waitley seems low spirited. I wonder what troubles him."
"His uncle is dead."
"But his uncle has been dead several days, and he has seemed cheerful enough until now."
"Yes, but the will was read last night."
—Elmira Echoes.

AN EARLY PARADISE.
"I hear," said Mrs. Cleanfover to her husband, "that Mrs. Staynice never does any housecleaning."

"Does she keep boarders?" asked Mr. Cleanfover anxiously.
"No, indeed! Why do you ask?"
"Because if she did I would break up housekeeping to-morrow and take board there," answered the unhappy man.—Detroit Free Press.

THE SUPPOSITION.
Dusty Rhodes—"This paper says surgeons cut open an elephant's stomach and took out a cable chain weighing ninety pounds."
Fitz William—"How do they account for its being there?"
Dusty Rhodes—"The supposition is that he swallowed it while eating in the dark, when the chain was young and very small."
—New York Times.

SIGN OF BRAVERY.
After a long and delightful conversation he mustered up courage to ask her and she said she would be his. She was the daughter of a rugged old millionaire, who never consented to anything but a cash payment.
"But," she added, "of course you must ask papa."
"I will right now," said he.
"Oh, how brave of you."
"What's his telephone number?"
—Kansas City Journal.

FOR KEEPS.
Susie's mother sent her to Warren's the other day for some shoestrings. The little girl tipped the door-latch and slowly walked up to the proprietor.
"Mamma sent me down for a pair of shoestrings," and Susie fingered her pennies nervously as she looked into the dealer's face. Warren turned to a bunch of strings upon the wall and began to pull a couple out. Then he stopped.
"How long does she want them?"
Susie looked flustered. "I don't know, but I think mamma wants them to keep."
—Boston Transcript.

PROPER WIFELY PRIDE.
Neighbor (making a call)—"I often wish my husband took as much interest in what's going on as you does. When I want to find out anything I have to hunt up the papers and read it myself."
Mrs. Nextdoor—"Yes, Alfred's always well posted. I do believe he knows the politics of every man in this ward, and how much he's worth, and where he came from, and all about him. You'll excuse me for about five minutes, Mrs. Walkabout, won't you? I've got to go out and split some kindling and bring in a few buckets of coal."
—Chicago Tribune.

A USELESS QUEST.
"If there is any party in the audience," said the medium, "who would like to talk with any party they knew before he was dead let them come forward."
A tall man, who toed in slightly as he walked, came to the front.
"I should like to have a little talk with Billy Sleuth," said the tall man.
"He used to be a detective, you know."
"How long since he was called away?" asked the medium.
"Three months."
"I doubt you won't get him. I notice that it generally takes a detective anywhere two years to find the way back."
—Indianapolis Journal.

POET VERSUS EDITOR.
A tall, lank young man came into a New York editor's sanctum, and handing him a poem several feet long to read, said, in a condescending sort of way: "You can publish this poem for $10."
"All right. Just hand over the $10. That's below our usual rates, but times are hard."
"You misunderstand me. I mean you can have the poem by paying $10."
"Can't take it. It's too cheap. It would be robbing you, for I know where you can get more than $10 for it."
"Where?"
"Take it to a justice of the peace and read it to him and you will get $20 and I thirty days in the county jail if you don't pay your fine."
He looked sadly at the editor, shook his head and wafled himself out the door.—Texas Sittings.

HOW HE ESCAPED TROUBLE.
"Maria," he said, as he entered the house, speaking before his wife had time to say a word, "this house is in an awful condition."
"Why, Henry?" she began.
"Don't try to excuse yourself," he interrupted. "Look at this room! I was going to bring a friend home with me, but I refrained for fear the house would be just in the condition that I find it in."
"If you had sent word, Henry—"
"Sent word, Maria! Why should I have to send word? Why should any one who claims to be a housekeeper have to be notified so that she can scurry about and make things look respectable? And that gown, Maria! It's outrageous to be dressed in that fashion at this time of day."
"I could have changed it—"
"Oh, of course. You could have done lots of things, but you didn't. You should be ready to entertain your husband's friends at any time. I suppose the dinner is cold, too."
"It's not so good as it was. You're late, you know."
"Of course; and if I had brought my friend with me he'd have had to sit down to a cold dinner, or one that was burned to a cinder, and we would have both felt humiliated, and should have had to apologize. It isn't right, Maria! It isn't right at all."
And after he had settled himself in his armchair after dinner, he chuckled to himself and muttered:
"George! but I should have got a roasting for being late if I hadn't started in first. It is a great scheme."
—Boston Globe.

Is It "Coal Oil"?
The "average man" (and you will find him everywhere in the proportion of about ninety-nine to one) speaks of petroleum—refined—as "coal oil." This is done primarily because of the general impression that the oil comes from coal, and that coal is of vegetable origin. Geologists and scientists in general, however, take a different view of the matter. To them the oil is a relic of past geological ages, as well as of animals that lived when the earth was young. In referring to the genesis of "coal oil" they never think of it except as an animal oil. They argue that the great upheavals and downfalls of the earth's crust, which resulted in burying billions of tons of vegetable matter, which subsequently turned to coal, also covered millions of gigantic animals with hundreds and thousands of feet of sediment. This sedimentary deposit, in the ages which have elapsed since old nature was racked with those rock-rendering convulsions which geologists are so fond of telling us about, have turned into great strata of sandstone, limestone, etc., the oil compressed from the great aggregation of animal remains settling in basins, to be tapped by the ingenious well-sinkers of the last half of the Nineteenth Century. Thus even past ages are made to contribute to the welfare and comfort of present generations.—St. Louis Republic.

The Argument Used

By the makers of the second-class baking powders to induce the dealer to push them off on Royal consumers is that they cost less than Royal and afford the dealer much more profit.

But you, madam, are charged the same price for them as for the absolutely pure Royal, which is perfectly combined from the most highly refined and expensive materials. The lower cost of the others is caused by the cheap, impure materials used in them, and the haphazard way in which they are thrown together.

Do you wish to pay the price of the Royal for an inferior baking powder, made from impure goods, of 27 per cent. less strength? If you buy the other powders, insist upon having a corresponding reduction in price.

THE KIND THAT CURES

PHILIPS S. WELLS,
Scrofula and Salt Rheum
Of 25 Years Standing,
A BLOOD PURIFIER THAT CURES.
DANA SARPAPARILLA CO.
GENTLEMEN—I hereby certify that I have been a sufferer for over 25 years with Scrofula and Salt Rheum. I have employed many Physicians and expended many dollars for proprietary medicines, blood purifiers, alteratives, etc., etc., such as have been on the market for the last 25 years, all of no avail or benefit, and had little hope that there was any help for me. With very little faith I purchased a bottle of your SARPAPARILLA of my Druggist, which I made him guarantee if I was not benefited he should refund the money. I left the store thinking I should call and get my money later. No hope of any benefit as no medicine or treatment seemed to reach my case. I had not taken more than one-half of one bottle when to my surprise I found it was helping me. Have taken two bottles and am CURED. The Scrofula Sores are all healed and I feel like a new man. I recommend DANA'S SARPAPARILLA
as the best Blood Purifier that Cures. Yours very truly,

AN APRIL COLD!
Needs a Spring Remedy to Cleanse the Whole System.
A cold is the starting point of more than half of the fatal illnesses from November to May. A cold is the first chapter in the history of every case of consumption. A cold is the first stage of chronic catarrh, the most loathsome and stubborn of diseases. A cold is the legitimate parent of a large family of diseases, such as bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia and quinsy. To neglect a cold is almost suicide. To fail to provide against this well-nigh inevitable evil is dangerous negligence. Pe-ru-na is a safeguard as a preventive, a specific as a cure for all cases of catarrh, acute and chronic, colds, coughs, consumption, etc.
Every family should be provided with a copy of The Family Physician No. 2, a complete guide to prevent and cure catarrh and all other winter diseases; and also the latest edition of The Family Physician No. 3, which is devoted to spring medicines and the bodily disorders peculiar to the spring of the year—a book that no one can afford to be without at this time of the year. Either sent free by The Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing Company of Columbus, Ohio.

PISO'S CURE FOR Woof
CONSUMPTION fer you a ready made medicine for Coughs,
Bronchitis and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs. Like other so-called Patent Medicines, it is well advertised, and having merit it has attained a wide sale under the name of PISO'S Cure for Consumption.

It is now a "Nostrum," though at first it was compounded after a prescription by a regular physician, with no idea that it would ever go on the market as a proprietary medicine. But after compounding that prescription over a thousand times in one year, we named it "Piso's Cure for Consumption," and began advertising it in a small way. A medicine known all over the world is the result.

Why is it not just as good as though costing fifty cents to a dollar for a prescription and an equal sum to have it put up at a drug store?
