DRIFTON ITEMS.

The sad news reached here on Satur-day that Mrs. John Carr, who resided for many years at No. 2, had died at Wilkes.Barre. Mrs. Carr during her residence here was a lady whom every-body that knew her had the highest respect for and her death is very much regretted by the residents of this place. Mrs. Carr was born in Dongal, Ire-land, and came to this country about twenty years ago and resided in Drifton until about two years ago, when the

The mother, driven almost frantic with grief, at times made wild efforts to force her way into the blazing house, but was restrained by the neighbors who kindly cared for her and the two children she saved until the husband who had been sent for returned. He, too, was stricken with grief at the hor-rible fate of his child. It is supposed the fire started in the kitchen by a hot coal falling from the stove.

Hines at Work in Washington

Hines at Work in Washington. From the Philadelphia Press. Representative Hines, of Wilkes-Barre, arrived in Washington Thursday night and made a bee line next morning for the postoflice department, where he had a request to make. This request was the removal of the Republican post-master at Hazleton, Mr. Wilde, Mr. Hines represented to the postmaster general that Mr. Wilde's now engaged in other business and is not giving proper attention to the postoflice. At the same time he filed the papers of four Demo-crats who are anxious to succeed Mr. Wilde. They are Messrs. James Gor-man, Howard McClure, Christian Martin and Charles Krapf. In addition to these there is another candidate in the person
